FEEDING THE BIRDS SQUARES OUR ACCOUNT

Corvallis, Ore., Feb. 8.—“Feeding the birds in snowy weather is only squaring our accounts with the birds,” says Professor G. F. Sykes, zoologist of the Oregon Agricultural College. “The few handfuls of grain thrown out for the birds during the recent snow storm will bring the best returns of the year. Many a little bird-guardian, robin, blue-bird, siskin, gold finch or Junco, who came months ago to clean up the weed seeds of last season or to catch the cutworm and leather jackets lurking in the turnip or grass fields, was going about hungry and with cold feet. Many of them also have perished with the cold.”

“An examination of the stomach contents of birds during an open winter shows them to be at such a time entirely beneficial. In one robin's stomach were found 210 March fly larvae, and a China Pheasant had eaten 673 larvae at a single meal. These grubs resemble cutworms and are a serious pest on root crops, grass and alfalfa. Moreover, five Juncos were found to have destroyed in a single morning 275 May weed seed, 101 wild grass seeds, and 301 pigweed seeds. Thus the Juncos, together with the siskins and green-backed finches, make away with millions of noxious weed seeds in the course of an ordinary season.”

“With the snow deep on the ground the birds were having a hard time. They have no deep seated hostility towards us even though we have chided some of them for helping themselves to cherries or wheat during the summer. So they may be encouraged to take food put out on the window ledge.”

In his bird-feeding Professor Sykes has found that the covers of baking-powder boxes, lard pails, etc., make admirable food trays for putting out bird food. Small grain, cracked corn wheat or barley, even rolled cereals, put out in such receptacles or in wooden troughs, may be placed on the window ledge, the roof or porch of out buildings or on top of fence posts. Crumbs from the table, too, were appreciated by the birds, but these may also attract cats.

Dr. Winnard has taken special course in treatment of eye, ear, nose and throat.

and Willie Orr his wife, and Walter Orr in the sum of $18,500.00 with interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent per annum from the 12th day of November, 1914, until paid, and for the further sum of $1000.00 dollars attorney's fee, and for his costs and disbursements in this suit; Also for a judgment and decree foreclosing that certain mortgage executed by the defendants James M. Orr and Willie Orr, his wife, and Walter Orr, to the plaintiff to secure payment of the sums for which judgment is demanded, and for the sale, for the satisfaction of such judgment, of the real property in said mortgage described, viz. S 1/4 of Sec. 10; SW 1/4 of Sec. 11; NW 1/4 of Sec. 15; W 1/2 of the NW 1/4 and the SE 1/4 of the NW 1/4 of Sec. 14; SW 1/4 of the NE 1/4 of Sec. 14; E 1/2 of Sec. 24; all in Tp. 3 S. R. 24, E. W. M. containing 1120 acres more or less; that you as well as all of the other defendants in said suit be barred and foreclosed of all right title and interest in and to said real property, save the statutory right of redemption, and for such other relief as to the court may seem equitable.
This summons is published by order of the Hon. G. W. Phelps, judge of the Circuit Court of Morrow County, State of Oregon, made and entered on the 22nd day of January, 1916, and the date of first publication of this summons is the 27th day of January, 1916.
