THE PORTLAND MARKET

Portland, Ore.—Wool buying on the sheep's back continues slow in the eastern counties. A few clips were taken this week in central Oregon at about 20 to 21 cents for fine. The prices paid for the Stanfield clip at Pendleton recently are confirmed at 22 cents for fine and 26 cents for coarse. The demand continues good in spite of the slump at London, but growers are not in selling mood.

Wheat traders complain that it is impossible to buy in the interior at correct rates. The large buyers are out of the market temporarily, but a lot of wheat, it is believed, will have to be bought this month to fill sales already made for eastern shipment, and if the farmers hold out they may realize their asked prices.

At the exchange today bids for March delivery were: Bluestem, 93 cents; club and fortyfold, 93 cents; red, 92 cents. Oats and barley are nominal. Flour and millfeed prices are being steadily maintained.

Another advance of 2 cents in the butter market occurred today as a consequence of strength in California. Eggs are holding steady with receipts cut down by cold weather. Poultry and dressed meat supplies are fair.

Several large hop sales have been closed this week on the basis of 12 cents for prime grade. The buying is chiefly for export.

The Wrong System.

"The secret of saving money is economy, don't you think?" I asked the sad-faced little man on crutches, adjacent to whose home I had just moved. We had been making our acquaintance through a common subject of interest.

The little man sighed. "Perhaps," he said, rather sadly, "but one must always be careful in selecting those things on which it is best to economize."

I waited attentively, knowing that he had something on his mind which he would feel better for telling.

"My wife," he resumed, "wouldn't let me sprinkle ashes on the path and steps at our home, for fear I would track some of it into the house and injure the carpets."

"I slipped on the top step, broke my leg, and it cost me $346 for doctor's bills, beside $425 thus far in loss of salary. This would have paid for new carpets in every room in the house and left enough for an extended vacation for my wife."

And I thought from his tone of voice that the last idea appealed to him rather strongly.

None Missing.

"Such a vicious temper! Where did the child ever get it from—not from me, I'm sure," grumbled Mrs. Perkins.

"No, my dear," replied Mr. Perkins sadly, "you certainly haven't lost any of yours."

Playing a Sure Thing.

Cynicus—Those two men are both in love with her, and I'll wager the wrong fellow will get her.

Sillicus—Which one?
Cynicus—It doesn't matter which.

Landing on a Lord.

The Marquis of Aberdeen, now with his wife, Lady Aberdeen, in this country on a sociologic visit, was some twenty years ago Governor General of Canada and during his term of office one of his particular delights was to travel about the Dominion and the United States inognito to the limit. The Marquis loves to tell a joke on himself no less than on some other victim and he tells this one with much glee:

During one of his trips he was on a Pullman somewhere in our Northwest when a raw westerner went at him for talk.

"Stranger in these parts?" asked the native for an opening.

"Yes, rather."

"Fine country this is, don't you think?"

"Yes, rather."

"Looking for anything?"

"Well, perhaps."

"Land, maybe?"

"Perhaps."

"How much money have you got to spend?"

"Oh, I can't say exactly, don't you know, but about fifty thousand dollars a year." (This is the salary of the Governor General.)

The westerner threw up his hands in astonishment.

"Good Lord man," he exclaimed, "if I had as much money as you've got and snored like you do, I'd hire a private car."

The Way With Some.

"What do you think of de new evangelist, sah?"

"Uh-well, sah," replied square-headed Brother Ratatree, "he's plumb elerquint, and all dat, but 'stidder preachin' de Gospel he's tryin' to sell lots in de New Jerusalem and collect de money in advance."

Questions and Answers.

A Cherryvale historian has gone back through the files and produced this story:

A woman with a rapid-fire interrogatory apparatus approached a news butcher on a Frisco train out of Cherryvale during the high water a few days ago and asked excitedly:

"Say, when is the train due at the next stop? How is it running? How deep is the water on the track? How do you sell your bananas?"

The vender of fruit and literature who was something of a poet, answered:

"Nine o'clock. On time. Knee deep. Three for a dime."—Kansas City Star.

A Bargain

"How much was dose collars?"

"Two for a quarter."

"How much for vun?"

"Fifteen cents."

"Giff me de odder vun."—Yale Record.

Prohibited.

"Did you have quantum sufficit at your dinner?"

"Dear me, no! We've got local option here."—Baltimore American.

When you need two-vision lenses—be sure to get KRYPTOK LENSES

(Worn by over 250,000 people)

For in all other two-vision lenses there is a line or seam between the near and far vision portions that makes the wearer look less than his best, and unmistakably brands him or her with a sign of age.

Kryptoks are double-vision lenses that look exactly like regular one-vision lenses because there are no lines or seams in them.

Dr. Winnard can supply these lenses
