NEWS NOTES FROM OUR NEIGHBORING COUNTIES

After a recent boxing contest in Pendleton, Mayor Best has placed a taboo on any more fistie encounters in that city.

Tillamook county, according to the Bay City Examiner, is determined to have permanent roads, and citizens there are bringing the bonding method to an issue by putting the question on the primary ballot. A $420,000 bond issue will be voted on and if carried the county will have a hard surface road from the Clatsop county line to the south border of Tillamook county.

Among other things, Condon has added a nine-hole golf course, which is laid out on the east side of town. The first game of golf ever played in the city was between A. B. Robertson and John Jackson, who are of the opinion that the course is a very good one. "There are very few towns the size of Condon in the State of Oregon that can boast of a golf course," says the Condon Globe in a modest manner.

The first carload of wool shorn in Eastern Oregon this spring was shipped from Echo last week to the Boston market. The shipment was made by Thomas Ross to his Boston house, and consisted of the high grade clip shorn at Cunha's place.

The advertised wrestling match between Ted Thye and Young Muldoon failed to materialize last Monday a week ago at Echo according to the Echo News. Ted Thye did not put in an appearance, and after various changes had been made in the lineup, the small crowd present were given the choice of money back or an exhibition match between Ajax and Jack Root, pugilistic heavyweight. For an hour Root tried to put Ajax down, but the smaller man was too fast. A preliminary match between Al Sanders and Chas. Wattenburger, of Heppner, amused the crowd for a time while Promoter Harlan and his wrestlers argued over guarantees. Sanders has aspirations to try out "Shine" Fred Markham, and a match may be arranged in the near future.

E. C. Maddock, the Arlington hotel man, is offering the pupils of the Gilliam county schools prizes on the best essay or composition, of not more than 1200 words, on the subject of "Why Gilliam County Should Bond for Good Roads."

Automobiles are becoming thicker around Hermiston than jack rabbits ever were, says the Hermiston Herald. That is going some.

O. A. C. Station Hen Has Laid One Thousand Eggs.

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Ore., March 27.—Oregon, a White Leghorn O. A. C. Station hen has laid her thousandth egg. This result of sixty five consecutive months of laying is the greatest long distance trap-nest record known to the world. The eggs were all laid in the trap-nest from which they were taken and official record made.

The thousandth egg was laid in her fifth year of laying. In the first four years the hen laid 987 eggs. She had but thirteen more to lay in order to get into the 1000-egg rank, which she has now laid.

Oregon is the ancestor of the pen of fowls that won the laying competition at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Only a few years ago it was believed that the domestic hen could lay no more than 600 eggs in a lifetime.

Klamath Falls considers a bond issue of $20,000 to build a road to connect Skippington with that city.

THE BEST FROM JUDGE

Aunt Lucy—Good mo'nin', Pahson Pewter! Mout Ah ask you what kind er music yo' all gwine ter hab inter de new church?

The parson—Organic.

Ichabod—What makes you so infernally thin?

Jacques—Worry, old chap, worry. Ichabod—What on earth are you worrying about?

Jacques—Getting thin.

Blanketed.

She—You'd think he'd cut more ice! He's a son of the Revolution, and—

He—I know—but he married a daughter of the resolution.

Not Very.

Betty Goldust—Did you have a satisfactory interview with papa?

Jack Brokeleigh—Not very; he said all he could give us was his consent.—Tiger.

Out of Order.

Proverbial Absent-Minded Professor—Goodness! That clock needs fixing. It just struck one, four times.—Lampoon.

Not Worrying.

Snappy young wife—To be frank with you, if you were to die I should certainly marry again.

Harassed husband—I've no objection. I'm not going to worry about the troubles of a fellow I shall never know.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Looked Forward Too.

She—If I'd known you'd be such a brute to poor Fido I'd never have married you.

He—The anticipated pleasure of kicking that miserable little pest was one of my chief reasons for proposing.—Stray Stories.

How Could She?

Mistress—Did you see if the butcher had pig's feet?

Maid—No, ma'am, I couldn't—he had his boots on!—Chicago Herald.

Thankful.

Mother (looking through magazine)—Darling, I see from statistics given here that every third baby born in the world is a Chinese.

Father (fondling his first born)—Then thank goodness this is our first.—New York Globe.

Mistaken in the Locality.

"In heaven," said the sentimental maiden, "a man is never separated from his wife."

"I beg your pardon," interrupted the misogynist, "but I think you are getting mixed in your geography."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Violent.

"Was her father violent when you asked him for her hand?"

"Was he? Great guns! I thought he'd shake my hand off."—Town Topics.

Reports say that Oregon Electric will build from Eugene to Springfield.

Marshfield—Krusse and Banks ship yard rushing work on several ships.

Oregon, Washington, Idaho and California plan to send a shipload of apples to England this summer.

Portland—Duncan lumber mill gets rush order for 4,500,000 feet of Douglas fir to be delivered on Atlantic seaboard within 90 days.

The Sutherland Sun has just published a most interesting special edition for Douglas county, showing the development of that section from an industrial and agricultural standpoint.
