300 INLAND EMPIRE FARMERS VOTE BULK SYSTEM IN HANDLING CROP

AMBITION IS TO MAKE NEW PLAN OPERATIVE THIS YEAR BY DISCARDING SACKS.

Spokane, Wn., May 7, 1916.—About 300 farmers of the Inland Empire assembled in the Spokane Chamber of Commerce Assembly rooms yesterday, and with only five opposing votes decided to handle their grain in bulk instead of sacks.

Committee Recommendations On Wheat Handling.

We believe that a successful system of handling grain in bulk depends upon the farmer providing his own storage on the farm, either by bins, granaries, or by farm elevators, where grain may be held until sold.

It has been fully demonstrated that the present dat warehouses can be successfully adapted, at comparatively small expense, to handling grain in bulk.

Full assurance has been given by the railway officials and terminal warehouses that they will meet farmers and interior warehousemen in arranging for the full handling of grain in bulk.

In answer to the argument that grain must be sacked for exportation from the Pacific coast, authentic reports show that less than 25 per cent of the grain from the Northwest is exported annually, and the Panama Canal has removed the necessity of sacking the greater part of the small percentage of the crop that is exported.

The grain prices in the world's market are quoted on a bulk basis, therefore there will be no difference in the price of bulk grain or sacked grain when the bulk system prevails throughout this territory.

Since it is practically the unanimous opinion of the 300 grain growers at this convention that a change be made in the inland Empire from sacked grain to bulk grain, we therefore urge the necessity of immediate action by the individual farmer and the interior warehouse companies to provide the necessary equipment for handling the 1916 crop in bulk. United action on the part of the farmers is essential to the success of bulk handling of grain.

Low Price Loses out Against Low Cost

PRICE may sell some things to farmers, but price alone is a poor argument compared with the records for low cost of operation made by Mogul kerosene engines.

Because they run on kerosene, Mogul engines produce farm power at the lowest possible cost.

You know what gasoline costs. You know, too, what kerosene costs. Take the difference—multiply it by the number of gallons of fuel an engine will consume in five years, figuring one pint of fuel per horse power per hour.

At what price must you buy a gasoline engine to make it cost you as little as a Mogul does? Could you afford to accept a gasoline engine as a gift? See the dealer about this. He has the figures all worked out for you on all sizes of Mogul engines from 1 to 50 H. P.
