HEPPNER LOSES GAME TO IONE

Midst Wind and Dust Egg City Puts Over Four Runs To Visitors One-Condor Will Play Here Next Sunday.

In one of the worst dust storms of the year, Heppner and Ione met in the second game of the season on the Egg city diamond last Sunday afternoon. A large number of fans accompanied the local team on their voyage of conquest and revenge, but after the dust had settled just as Neal was called out at first, in the first chapter of the ninth inning, the hopes of fan and team alike were routed. The score stood Ione 4, Heppner 1.

One of the features of the game was the fact that in spite of the scoring there was not an earned run. Christensen, playing third was the only man completing the circuit for Heppner.

Sperry, pitching for Ione, struck out 7 men while Fulwider retired only one by this method. There were few hits on either side and both twirlers were given good support.

Gambill in left field for Heppner, spooled home run for Ione by pulling down a high one in the first inning. The catch was a spectacular one in that it seemed an impossible one to get.

The batting honors were pretty evenly divided among the heavy hitting Ionites. W. Reitmunn Braker and A. Cochran tied for first place in this respect. For Heppner, Neal and Lewis did about the only slaming that was recorded by the score keeper.

Ralph Hymer, former manager of Mun's Tigers, officiated as umpire and his decisions met with approval from both sides in spite of the fact that it was almost impossible to see the ball at times, so thick was the dust.

Next Sunday, Condor will meet the Heppner team in this city. Manager Pearce announces that practically the same line up will be used in this game that met Ione last Sunday. A good crowd is expected and considerable interest is being taken in the coming event.

Frank Turner and Ed Wilcox completed the shearing season in this section this week. Mr. Wilcox completed the season at the Joe Hayes ranch on Butter creek and Mr. Turner finished up at the Frank Winnard ranch Wednesday. These men have leased one of their plants to a party who will do some shearing near Fossil. They had a very successful season.

MIDDLE OREGON ASS'N IN SESSION AT 8 MILE

The middle Oregon association of Baptists is in session this week at Eight Mile. They have set up their tabernacle at the Robert Allstott farm and up to Wednesday evening about sixty delegates from outside points had arrived for the session.

The association opened its meeting Wednesday morning and will continue until Sunday evening. They have issued a general invitation to the people of Morrow county to attend their meetings. Among the visiting preachers are G. W. Reynolds of Silver Lake, Oregon, R. Y. Blalock of Tillamook, T. J. Simmons of Eugene, Rev. Cook of Gateway, Oregon, Rev. Brown and Rev. Wright from California and several others. Most of the delegates came to the convention by auto. It has not yet been decided where the association will meet next year. Last year Fossil entertained the delegates.

Roy Hunt received severe bruises about the head and neck last Saturday when he was run over by the heavy delivery wagon of the Heppner Milling Company. Mr. Hunt had stepped out on the dash board, preparing to jump to the ground, when the horses suddenly backed up. He was thrown to the ground under the wagon tongue. This frightened the horses and they started to run. The wagon, which fortunately was not loaded at the time, passed over his neck. That Mr. Hunt escaped without more serious injuries is remarkable.

Personal Happenings.

T. G. Denissiee spent Sunday in Ione.

Jos. Eskelson, Clark's caynon farmer was in the city Monday.

Fred Esteb and wife of Goosberry were Saturday visitors in Heppner.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Hughes were in the city Monday from their Lena home.

Rev. Clarence Reynolds and wife, of Ione, spent Wednesday evening in this city on business.

Gus Wilcox and Ernest Lundell, of Ione were in Heppner for a few hours last Monday.

Emil and Hary Groshen were passengers to Portland Tuesday to attend the rose show.

Mrs. Mary A. Bartholomew is a visitor from the Portland Rose Festival show this week.

Fish on Friday and dressed chicken Saturday for the Sunday dinner at the Peoples' Cash Market.

Theodore Anderson well known Eight Mile farmer, was a business visitor in the city Saturday.

A large number of local people went to Ione Sunday to see the ball game between that city and Heppner.

R. J. Carsner and family were in the city the first of the week from their Wheeler county home near Spray.

Mrs. Hanson Hughes returned last night from The Dalles, where she has been visiting with relatives and friends.

Ben Griffiths of Carlton has arrived in the city to spend the summer with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. John Martson.

Mrs. Mattson Reid and daughter Lois visited with Mrs. Reid's mother, Mrs. Pickett at the Lexington hotel Monday afternoon.

Rev. Geo. B. Van Waters of Portland will hold services at the Episcopal church in this city next Sunday, both morning and evening.

The Endeavor societies of Heppner will hold a union service Sunday evening, June 11, 1916, at 7:00 p. m., in the Federated church. Everybody cordially invited to attend.

The Christian Woman's Board of Missions auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Akers Tuesday afternoon. About 30 were present and the program, conducted by Mrs. Waters, was an interesting and instructive one.

Jeff Jones has purchased the Baptist church property at the corner of Gale and Baltimore streets. He will dispose of the church building and will soon begin preparations for building a modern residence on the lot.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Stevens and niece, Mrs. Esther Turner, motored to Heppner last Friday to attend the commencement exercises of the Heppner high school. Mrs. Turner's sister, Cornelia Johnson, graduated while she is yet sixteen with the honors of her class—Condor Globe.

Miss Opal Whitely, well known in nature study circles throughout the state, will arrive this week to conduct summer classes in nature work in our community. This will be a rare opportunity for our young people to learn a source of joy and pleasure in life that can never be taken away from them.

The G. A. R. members surprised Turner B. MacDonald with a gift in appreciation of his services on Memorial Sunday. The gold piece was presented by Comrade Simpson with a beautiful expression of their appreciation, which is treasured even more highly by the one who received it than the gift itself.

A very pleasant birthday dinner was given last Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Neill, in honor of Mrs. Mary Wattenburger, Mrs. Neill's mother. This occasion was the 79th birthday of Mrs. Wattenburger. Those present were Will Wattenburger and family, of Echo; A. E. Wattenburger of Pine City; Walter Ely and family of Portland, and E. Ely and family of Boise, Idaho.—Pine City correspondent in Echo News.

George Hendry, head chef at the Palace hotel for the past year, has purchased the Heppner Bakery from Frank Fuchs and will take possession the 1st of July. Mr. Hendry has had much previous experience in the bakery business and is prepared to give the Heppner public complete satisfaction. Mr. Fuchs is retiring from business, but will continue to make this city their home. Mr. and Mrs. Fuchs and two boys, Will and George, are planning a trip to the Valley some time this summer.

Church of Christ.
Subject of morning sermon Sunday: "Joy in Tribulation."
Evening: "All These Things."

THIRD ANNUAL FARMERS' PICNIC IN HEPPNER SATURDAY JUNE SEVENTEENTH

The third annual picnic of the Morrow County Farmers' Union will be held at the fair grounds in this city on Saturday, the seventeenth day of June. This was the decision arrived at by the members of the local union at their meeting last Saturday afternoon. It had been known ever since the last picnic that Heppner was to entertain this year but the definite date had never been announced. Members of the local union have charge of the program and are now busy working out the details. Prominent speakers will be present, among them will be J. D. Brown state president and A. R. Shumway.

A line of attractions for the entertainment of all visitors will also be presented, such as foot racing and other sports.

The feature of the day will be the big basket dinner to be held at noon in the fair grounds. Every body is asked to bring a well filled basket and take part in the big spread at that time.

Watch this paper for the official program next week.

WATERGLASS EGGS NOT FIT FOR MARKET

Method of Preserving Eggs Is for Home Consumption Only.

By Hyman H. Cohen, in Oregon Journal.

While eggs in waterglass are considered good, there is no demand at all for them in the markets.

Many farmers who have put up eggs in waterglass during recent years and have afterwards shipped them to the wholesale markets, have discovered to their dismay that there is practically no sale for them except at extreme low prices. Even then there is little call for them.

Many country interests have tried to ship eggs to market that have been put up in waterglass and have said nothing regarding this to the wholesaler. Seemingly, the country shipper wanted to see whether he could market this stock as freshly laid eggs, but every wholesaler knew instantly that the stock was not fresh.

In all of the city wholesale houses they employ one or more men whose duty is to "candle" eggs carefully, to grade them according to quality. An expert candler will instantly discover just what the supplies are. In fact so many cases of eggs are handled in a single day along the street that even the express men know by lifting the cases whether the stock is of extra quality.

If the weight is light, they know a once that either the case has not been fully packed, the eggs of small size, or simply not fresh. Eggs lose weight in keeping, therefore it is idle for anyone to try to "put one over" on the wholesaler.

Last fall there was much complaint from some country shippers because they did not secure top prices for their eggs. The wholesalers were forced to explain to each of them that the eggs did not come up to standard or had gone through a process for keeping them. I personally know of the shipment of 10 cases of eggs from one country shipper during the winter when eggs were scarce, who does not ship more than two or three cases at a time when supplies are plentiful. This one fact was alone sufficient to cause the city receiver to believe that something was wrong with the shipment. He quickly discovered that the stock was water-glassed, although the shipper had notified him that he was sending him 10 cases of fresh stuff.

THOMAS QAUID.

Thomas Quaid, Morrow county pioneer who died in Portland on May 23, was born in Ireland on the 8th day of November, 1842. He left home at the age of 16, coming to the United States and first went to Marysville, California, where he worked on a farm. Later he went to Boise City, Idaho, and took charge of a pack train which he soon acquired and ran as his own. Later Mr. Quaid came to Oregon and started in the cattle business near La Grande. It was here that he met J. L. Morrow, for whom this county was named, and in company with "Uncle Jack" as he was familiarly known. Mr. Quaid came to this section and took up a homestead. This was in 1868, or thereabouts. He soon purchased the George Stansbury farm and with the aid of Mr. Morrow, T. W. Ayers, Henry Heppner and others, platted the town of Heppner. For many years following he was a leading factor in the unbuilding of Heppner and Morrow county. Mr. Quaid was one of the promoters who started and completed the Palace hotel. He served on the city council and took an active part in the management of city affairs. Mr. Quaid went in strong for the sheep business, and is credited as a successful sheepraider in as being the man who introduced that industry into this county. He was a successful sheep man and up to the time of his death still owned considerable land in this county.

Mr. Quaid was a charter member of Heppner Masonic Lodge, having been a Mason for more than fifty years. He was also a member of the Knights of Pythias. Thirteen years ago, Mr. Quaid and his family moved to Portland, having retired from active business.

He was buried in Lone Fir cemetery in Portland last Thursday. He leaves his wife, Pauline Quaid, and a daughter, Mrs. Katherine Hofen of San Francisco. Dr. Luther Dyott conducted the service and Imperial Lodge of Masons No. 159 gave the Masonic rites.

J. L. Yeager has been called to his home in Kansas by the death of his father. He will remain in the middle west until the estate is settled up.

Miss Blanche Minor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Minor, has returned to her home in this city after spending the winter in Portland, where she attended school.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. LeTrace spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Wilcox at Jordan Siding.

er, Ralph Sperry. The boy, aged about ten years, was playing with others in an elevator and falling some distance to the floor struck on his head with sufficient force to crush his skull. The accident occurred on Sunday and the lad was immediately rushed to The Dalles for surgical treatment but his life could not be saved and he died on Monday. The many friends of Mr. Sperry here will greatly sympathize with him in his sorrow.

Many of the fields to the north of Ione are badly infested with Jim Hill mustard, so-called. It has only been in the past two or three years that this weed pest has shown up in this section, but it has spread very fast and our farmers now have a time in getting rid of it. The vacant lands and the lanes along the county roads are so badly infested at present that there seems to be small hope of the wheat raisers doing anything to rid their fields of the weed as they will be seeded from the roads and vacant lands.

French Burroughs is making good use of his jitney as an adjunct to his farm appliances. He has purchased a trailer and in this he can place his crates of eggs and cans as usual, with other produce for the market and brings them to town in good order. The trailer does not cost a great deal and we look for more of our farmers now that they are using autos so generally, to adopt this convenience as it would add much to the serviceableness of their machines.

J. S. Williams departed Tuesday with a bunch of cattle for the Willamette Valley. Mr. Williams recently traded his Morrow county farm for property near Brownsville and he was taking his stock down there. He expects to return here at harvest time to care for the crop on his place as in the trade he retained this year's crop and will be here to see that it is harvested.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Howard visited for a day at the home of their son, Isaac, of this place, departing for their Portland home on Monday. They had been called to Morrow county on account of the death of Mrs. Clyde Boston, who was as dear to Mr. and Mrs. Howard as one of their own children. They were very sad over her departure.

Mrs. J. H. Bryson and son, Huston, were passengers to Portland Sunday to spend the week enjoying the festivities of the Rose Festival. They were accompanied by Miss Dalles Perkins who had been visiting for a week at the Bryson home, and who was returning to her home in Portland.

The ball game between Ione and Heppner teams on Sunday last was interesting and well played, notwithstanding the bad weather. There was so much dust and sand flying most of the time during the game that it was next to impossible to get up the usual amount of enthusiasm. The score stood one to four in Ione's favor.

W. H. Cronk and wife and S. E. Moore and wife left by auto Sunday morning. Their destination was Albany where Mr. Moore and Mr. Cronk will attend the Masonic grand lodge in session there this week. They also expect to visit Portland on their return home, getting there in time to take in part of the Rose show.

Miss Doris Wilt departed for Portland Sunday to attend the grand lodge of Eastern Star as a delegate from Locust Chapter of this place.

Frank Engelman went down to Portland Tuesday to see what was happening in that burg during the days of the Rose show.

W. F. Honey, accompanied by his son, John K. Honey, of Gresham, have been in Ione during the past week looking after the interests of the Oregon-Dakota Land Company. The senior Mr. Honey is one of the members of this company. They have just recently had a new well sunk on one of their properties here, the farm now occupied by Ed Buschke. The work was done by Fred Nicholson, who secured a fine flow of water at a depth of 120 feet, and Mr. Honey is arranging to have another well bored. The Oregon-Dakota people are beginning to grasp the idea of progress and will make considerable improvements on their holdings here, for all of which the people of this end of the county should be very thankful. We would not criticize these people beyond what others deserve also, but it is a fact that cannot be disputed, that this part of Morrow county suffers much from the land owner who simply buys up lands here for speculative purposes, and who is not willing to spend some of his money in keeping the lands cultivated and improved. Thousands of acres of splendid wheat lands are now grown up to weeds and have become a menace to those farms adjoining and are causing their owners no end of annoyance and work in keeping their fields clean. When the time arrives that these idle acres are again put under cultivation a great source of revenue will have been opened up and what is now a serious

TABOO IS PLACED ON BOARD WALKS

City Council Will Amend Ordinance And Prohibit Building Board And Prohibit Board And Inter-vening Streets.

There will be no more board walks on Gale street and intervening streets after the present city ordinance pertaining to building permits for sidewalks has been amended. The council decided to amend the present ordinance, which at this time includes only Main street and after the amendment has been made, it will be unlawful to replace any board walks on Gale street or any streets crossing Gale, with board walks, or to construct new board walks where there are none at the present time. The amendment was suggested by councilman McCarty. In taking this course, the council is striving to follow out their program of civic improvement and they are of the opinion that concrete walks fill an important place in this program.

The council decided to appropriate $35 to the fund which will be used in turning the waters of Ditch creek into the Willow creek channel. The matter was fully explained by C. A. Minor, who is acting as chairman of a committee from the Heppner Commercial Club in raising the money and putting the ditch through. It means much to the city of Heppner if this water is diverted into the Willow creek channel for it assures us of running water the whole year through. It will also be a great boon to creek farmers who depend upon irrigation for crop insurance. Nearly enough money has now been subscribed to put the ditch through in proper form.

A railing will be constructed along the banks of Willow creek where the old Gale street bridge formerly stood. The old street has never been closed at this point and was considered of some menace to travelers who might not be acquainted with our streets.

The following bills against the city were audited and ordered paid:

J. P. Williams, salary	$ 35.00
Freeman Frye, salary	75.00

CURRIN AND SON BUY BIRCH CREEK RANCH

George J. Currin and son Hugh of this city purchased the Douglass Belts sheep ranch, consisting of 2240 acres on Birch creek in Umatilla county, for a cash consideration of between $30,000 and $35,000. The deal includes 2000 head of sheep and equipment. The ranch is considered one of the best in this section. At one time the Currins were the largest sheep operators in Morrow county, owning about 20,000 acres between Hinton and Little Butter creeks. They sold out about two years ago to John Kilkenny. Mr. Curin will take charge of the ranch and his father will continue to make his home in this city.

Tom Sheridan of Lena was a business visitor in Heppner Wednesday.

Roy Whitels returned Wednesday from an extensive business trip into Grant county.
