BEST FROM "JUDGE"

LOCATED.

A Chicago man tells of calling on a young lady very early one spring morning. He came up in his big automobile and he wanted to give the young lady a morning spin through the country. A little girl, the young lady's niece, answered the bell. "Is your auntie in?" asked the man. "Yes, sir." "That's good. Where is she?" "She's up-stairs," said the little girl, "in her nightie, looking over the banisters."

ZONES AND GARDENS.

While inspecting examination papers recently a teacher found various humorous answers to questions. A class of boys, averaging 12 years of age had been examined in geography. The previous day had been devoted to grammar. Among the geographical questions was the following: "Name the Zones." One promising youth, who had mixed the subjects wrote: "There are two zones, masculine and feminine. The masculine is either temperate or interperate; the feminine is either torrid or frigid!"

NOT HER MONEY.

The woman slipped a dime into the glove of her left hand. She would be at the subway in a moment and the dime so placed would facilitate matters. As she passed the foot of the bridge extension by the city hall the ring of a coin as it struck the pavement reached her ears. She saw a dime rolling at her feet.

A fat man, subway bound, also heard and saw it. Both stooped to pick it up. She was first. His hand only fanned the dust from the side-walk.

"I beg your pardon," he said, as he straightened up, rather red in the face.

"Not at all," she said. "I thank you for your courtesy." Then she hurried down stairs.

Seated in the train her gloved hand involuntarily went to her hair. A dime dropped into her lap. Then she understood.

THE SEA-GOING JITNEY.

The following street-car story has been recently circulated: In Los Angeles an electric car met a jitney bus with disastrous results, and among the passengers who were called upon to give testimony was a "jackie" from the monitor Cheyenne. His letter to the claim agent follows: "I was standing on the starboard fore-castle of the car when the gasoline cutter hove in sight off our port bow. We were making 15 knots, and the cutter was coming about the same along another channel. It was clear weather and not much ground swell.

"Our chief engineer blew his siren and reversed his propellers, but he couldn't leave her in time to keep from ramming her. There wasn't even time to get out the life-preservers or sound the emergency call. We smashed a couple of the little craft's compartments. Her captain stuck to his post. The jitney went down like a submarine.

"I think the cause of the wreck was that the jitney's binnacle light was out."

DIVULGED THE SECRET.

There is a prominent man of affairs who is very absent-minded. He was about to leave the office of a bank president when the banker called to him.

"You're losing your petticoat, aren't you, Henry?"

The prominent man, not understanding, gazed at the banker, who continued: "What's that white thing hanging below your trousers leg?"

The man looked down. His face colored and he stepped back into the director's room. When he came out he walked briskly past the bank president, who called: "Here, why don't you explain?"

Coming close, the other whispered: "Simply forgot to take off my pajamas when I got out of bed this morning."

THE WHOLE.

Uncle Ernest—(improving the shining hour): And what do we do with the flesh of the whale?

Bobby—Eat it.

Uncle Ernest (sarcastically)—Oh, do we? And what do we do with bones?

Bobby—Put 'em on the edge of the plate.

At a fancy-dress ball for children a policeman stationed at the door was instructed not to admit any adult.

An excited woman came running to the door and demanded admission. "I'm sorry mum," replied the policeman, "but I can't let any one in but children."

"But my child is dressed as a butterfly," exclaimed the woman, "and has forgotten her wings."

"Can't help it," replied the policeman, "orders is orders; you'll have to let her go as a caterpillar."

BITTEN BY MAD DOG

Mrs. Fred Lee of Big Stone Flat was bitten by a mad dog last week and went to Portland Monday to take the Pasteur treatment. Mrs. Lee was attacked by the family pet dog in the yard at the ranch. The animal tried to get to her face, but Mrs. Lee protected her head with her arms and the right arm was badly lacerated.

There is apparently no doubt of the dog being mad. It ran amuck after biting Mrs. Lee, and killed a number of chickens and a cat, and bit another dog. Both dogs were killed as soon as possible. It is thought that the dog was infected with rabies by a pet coyote which was kept on the ranch some time ago. The coyote became rather vicious and was killed. —Echo News.
