NEWS NOTES FROM NEIGHBORING CITIES

Start Tour of Oregon.
R. B. Stanfield and Jack Stanfield left yesterday morning for a vacation tour of Oregon. They will be joined at Heppner by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Perry and daughter, and the party will go by easy stages by way of the Deschutes country to southern Oregon. Mr. Stanfield expects to be gone about three weeks.—Echo News.

P. F. Ward, who came here from Heppner, has purchased the M. Duty place and has moved there with his family. Mr. Ward says this is his fourth trip here and believes now he is here to stay. He was here first eight years ago. Mr. Duty has moved into the Fine house, just across the road from the place he sold.—Hermiston Herald.

Hen Tries Bird's Style.
Mrs. Martha Heisler of Dufur has a hen which is not contented with the regulation nests which "Grandma" provides for the layers of her flock, but built a nest about ten feet from the ground in a large tree growing in the chicken yard. The nest had 14 eggs in it when found. Mrs. Heisler had noticed this hen was missing from the flock most of the time for several weeks past and had watched to see what became of her and finally saw her fly out of the tree where she had built a perfect nest among the branches. Otherwise the hen is normal and of ordinary breed.—The Dalles Optimist.

Buy's Flour Mill.
O. G. Trester was here this week and reports the completion of a deal in which he will take over the Prairie City flour mill. The purchase is made from Dr. V. C. Belknap and R. C. Reece. This is one of the oldest flour mills in Eastern Oregon. Several years ago it was burned and then new, modern and up-to-date machinery was installed so that it is a first class mill today. Mr. Trester has had much experience with milling and nothing but a first class product will be put on the market. There will be some few changes made and probably by September the fall run will start. He expects to use wheat from all over the county.—Canyon City Eagle.

Testimony Taken.
The divorce trial, Amy Wisby plaintiff, vs. Oliver Wisby, defendant, was heard on Thursday of last week, before Ida Niven, the referee, in Canyon City. Besides the plaintiff two witnesses were heard in favor of the plaintiff. The charge was cruel and inhuman treatment on the part of the defendant towards the plaintiff, the same commencing soon after the marriage of the parties and continuing till some time last year when the parties separated. Otis Patterson represented the plaintiff and the State of Oregon was represented by J. M. Blank. The defendant made no appearance.—Canyon City Eagle.

Arthur Reeve Has Narrow Escape.
When the steering gear of his automobile became deranged on Tygh grade near Dufur Saturday afternoon, the machine plunged over a 60 foot embankment carrying the driver with it. Arthur Reeve had a narrow escape from death. L. C. Pennell, who was accompanying Mr. Reeve, jumped to safety.
The car turned over in its descent. In the fall Mr. Reeve, who attributes his escape from more serious injuries to a convenient crevice between two huge boulders into which his body was dropped, sustained a dislocated shoulder.
Mr. A. McClure, of The Dalles, picked up the wounded man and hurried him to that city, where he caught the O. W. R. & N. westbound limited for home.—Hood River Glacier.

Upper Butter Creek Harvest.
Harvest is in full swing in the grain fields of upper Butter creek. Around Pine City nearly all of the wheat growers are about through heading. On the Bartholomew ranch a combine is being used. It is the only one in that neighborhood, most of the farmers are heading and stacking their grain. Henry Robinson completed heading the first of the week. It is reported he has one of the finest crops in the district.—Echo News.

Farewell Party.
Miss Beulah Barker gave a farewell party at her home, Saturday afternoon, for Kermit Robinette, who left Tuesday evening to join her father at Newport, Wash. The afternoon was spent in playing games and merry making. Cake and cider were served, and the young people report having the best time ever. Miss Daphne Gullford assisted the hostess.
Those present were: Ruth and Wilma Woods, Jaunita Whitworth, Hazel Sloan, Orpha Hogeland, Bessie Richards, Ivy Lee, Dorris Lee, Hilda Lee and Kermit Robinette.—Echo News.

Men Have Narrow Escape In Runaway.

Frank Turner and George Elder, his hired man had a narrow escape from death, or severe injuries at least, when they were victims in a runaway at the Turner ranch last Monday. They had gone up to a grain field, which is situated on a steep side hill, and were driving a four horse team to a hay wagon. All the horses got excited when one young animal on the wheel started them going. Mr. Turner was driving but when the horses started down the hill he was unable to hold them. By a piece of rare good fortune the wagon turned over up hill after the runaway horses had made a quick turn. The occupants were thrown from the wagon and the horses piled up in the ditch. The wagon was badly mutilated and one horse was injured.

More Fish Planted In Morrow County Streams

Game Warden, Robert H. Young returned from Condon Tuesday, where he had been supervising the planting of 125,000 young trout in Gilliam county streams. Of this number, not all were placed in streams of that county, but about 40,000 were taken to upper Rock creek, not far from Hardman in this county. Mr. Young reports that with the exception of a consignment taken to Fossil, all the fish were put in the streams in fine shape. However, at Fossil, a mistake was made in supplying the fish cans with air from a garage tank, and as a result about half of the fish taken there did not survive.

Field of Oats on Wightman Ranch Will Yield 100 bu.

A field of oats on the Wightman Bros. ranch three miles below Heppner will make a yield of 100 bushels per acre. This is the prediction made by many people who have viewed the field. The oats are growing on the bottom land and have received the proper amount of irrigation. Wightman Bros. intend to allow the crop to mature, at which time it will be threshed.

Loses Car, But He Is Really Money Ahead.

While Fords were still more expensive than talking machines, Johnny Welsh, one of Portland's most prominent car wash consumers, bought one.
By talking hard, Welsh was able to convince an insurance concern that it was insurable to the extent of $400.
Two days after Henry Ford put another premium on the jitney profession somebody stole Welsh's car. After an insurance adjuster had looked through all the nooks in the Welsh house to make sure the car was not misplaced, his company paid over the $400.
Welsh went out and bought a new Ford and put the rest of the money in the bank.—Portland Telegram.

ATHENA OPPOSED TO PENDLETON NORMAL

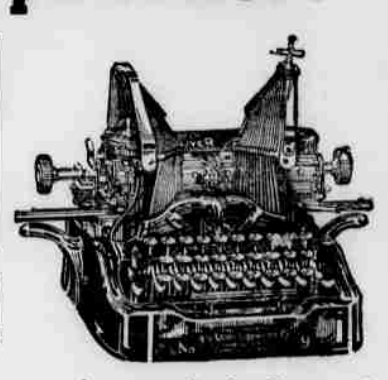

Citizens at Mass Meeting Go on Record in Favor of the Weston Plant.

Athena, Aug. 7.—At a meeting held in the office of B. B. Richards, city recorder, and presided at by Mayor Homer I. Watts, citizens adopted the following protest against the proposed bill for a normal school at Pendleton:
"We, the people of Athena, Umatilla county, Oregon, in a mass meeting assembled, do declare it to be our belief and opinion that the Pendleton Normal school bill should be defeated. When the voters and taxpayers of the state deem it advisable to re-establish a normal school in eastern Oregon, we believe that the state school now in existence at Weston—which was never abolished, but merely failed of support—should be restored to usefulness. We regard the abandonment of this school by the state senate in 1909 as a highhanded act of political reprisal.
"We deplore Pendleton's act in renewing the Normal school agitation at this time as precipitate and ill-advised. We fear that Pendleton's overweening ambition, which is well understood in the Athena community, has in this particular instance warped her judgment. In our opinion Umatilla county, itself, will cast a substantial majority against the Pendleton bill, and its defeat is practically certain. We fear a fiasco resultant from Pendleton's campaign that will react against the normal school prospects of this section of the state.
"The statement published by the Pendleton committee that the state school plant at Weston is 'worthless' and the administration building 'cracked from top to bottom,' is false and misleading. Athena is situated but three miles from Weston and we are familiar with conditions there. We consider the plant as ample for the requirements of an eastern Oregon normal school. It is in good condition for use, and is now in fact being used under lease by the Weston school district. Were it true, which it is not, that the principal building is 'cracked from top to bottom,' such unfitness should militate against investment by taxpayers of $125,000 in a new school plant at Pendleton. The state built at Weston. The Pendleton charge of failure implies its incompetence.
"We know of the good work done by the Weston Normal under serious handicaps and of the professional success of its graduates. If, as the Pendleton statement claims, this school has cost but $174,000 during an 13-year period, we consider that the money was unusually well spent. Had it been maintained until the present time we feel assured that it would have become a flourishing and successful institution—a 'standard normal school' in fact.
"The district of Weston is large enough to furnish an ample number of grade pupils for a model training school, wherein the seniors could pursue the study of methods by observation and practice. The assumption that Pendleton will turn over all of its grammar grades to a Normal school for practice work we regard as amusing. It would be easy for the Weston school seniors to acquire actual teaching experience in the rural schools of the neighborhood. In view of the fact that many of the graduates would be required for the rural schools of this section of the state, such experience would be invaluable.

"As to climatic conditions and attractive environment Weston is an admirable location for a Normal school. We are glad to say this in justice to our neighbor, although Weston and Athena are to a certain degree rival towns for the trade of adjacent territory.
"From the viewpoint of the tax-paying public outside of its immediate environs, Pendleton's claims would seem absurd. Speaking for themselves, Athena taxpayers object to paying their share toward a $125,000 school plant at Pendleton, when an adequate plant at Weston is already available. They further object to paying an annual tax of one-twenty-fifth of a mill for a Pendleton school, when one-fortieth of a mill would reopen the Weston school with an annual income of more than double its former maintenance.
"Whatever the indictment Pendleton may bring against the Weston Normal is also an indictment of the Monmouth Normal."

Heppner Merchant Tells Portland About Our Good Country.
"We will have the best crop in 25 years" is the way George Thomson, of Thomson Bros. store put it when he was telling the Portlanders about the excellent conditions existing in Morrow county. Mr. Thomson is attending Buyers' Week and incidentally doing a little boosting for the old home county on the side.
Dick Wells and wife will leave Sunday for a two weeks vacation on upper Butter creek. They will be accompanied by Horace, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wells.
Mrs. J. A. Dedmon of Weed, Cal., arrived in Heppner Saturday evening to visit three weeks at the home of her brother, Sam Hughes and family.
Sam Hughes, local merchant, went to Portland Sunday to attend Buyers' Week. Mr. Hughes is a regular attendant at this annual event.
W. P. McMillan, Lexington wheat buyer, was in the city last Saturday interviewing our farmers on the crop prospect.
Fred Rader is over from the Long Creek country this week.
M. and Mrs. John F. Vaugia and daughter Edna are spending their vacation at the Lehman Springs.
