

When you need two-vision lenses—be sure to get KRYPTOK LENSES

(Worn by over 250,000 people)

For all other two-vision lenses there is a line or seam between the near and far vision portions that makes the wearer look less than his best, and unmistakably shows him or her with a sign of age.

Kryptok are double-vision lenses that look exactly like regular ones—no line or seam—there are no lines or seams in them.

Experiments at the Forest Products Laboratory at Madison, Wisconsin, have resulted in the discovery of a method whereby the yields of alcohol and acetate of lime from the destructive distillation of hardwoods have been increased fifteen per cent.

Figures just compiled in the office of the District Forester, George H. Cecil, Portland, Oregon, show that 157,689 cattle and horses, and 99,771 sheep and goats, belonging to 3,454 permittees, were admitted to the National Forest ranges of Oregon Washington during the period July 1, 1915 to June 30, 1916.

These figures give an increase of 20,524 cattle and horses and a decrease of 11,669 sheep and goats, compared with the number submitted during the preceding fiscal year. The decrease in sheep is accounted for by the fact that many sheepmen have gone into the cattle business. The figures as a whole show a big increase in the number of stock on the forests of the district. Since four sheep are considered equal to one cow on a range basis, after deducting the 11,669 decrease in sheep, the figures show an increase equivalent to 71,667 sheep.

The returns also show that during the 1915 season the stock grazed belonged to 2,962 owners, but this year 3,454 owners are represented, indicating clearly that the forest service is steadily carrying out its policy of making the widest distribution among the small ranchers adjoining the forest. Six years ago there were 1,683 grading permittees using the National Forest ranges of the the two states.

District Forester, George H. Cecil, Portland, Oregon, has this week sent to the Forest Supervisors of Oregon, Washington, and Alaska a supply of the National Forest Travelers' Registers, which were recently issued by the Forest Service.

These registers will be placed for use at ranger stations and other points frequented by tourists, campers, sportsmen and other forest users, to make a permanent record of travelers on the National Forests. Each page of the register bears the Forest Service shield, and contains the following printed notice:

"The National Forests are the property of the people and are administered and protected for their benefit. Care with matches, burning tobacco and camp fires is essential to their protection. Your help is solicited in case of real need, the telephone system of the Forest is at your service. If the Forest rangers know where you are going, they may be of assistance to you. Criticisms or suggestions will be appreciated if addressed to the District Forester, U. S. Forest Service, Portland, Oregon."

HEPPNER 25 YEARS AGO

From the Gazette of Sept. 3, 1891.
J. G. Maddock of Goldendale Wash. is now pushing to the front a weight motor. A man named Henderson is associated with him, and will shortly make a proposition to Goldendale's people to put up a foundry to manufacture these motors, and to do general custom work. It is claimed the machine is a success.

Fossil Journal: Charley Shurte is an inmate of the Good Samaritan hospital with typhoid fever, having been stricken while taking a vacation for his health. His brother Clarence visited him Sunday and found him very sick, but the doctor assured him that he was in satisfactory condition considering the circumstances.

T. W. Ayers is making considerable improvements on his Heppner property. The May street furniture store is to take the place long held by Whetstone's blacksmith shop and the McBride wagon shop. The latter establishments are being moved to the lot just below the Record office while the office building adjoining this property and just next to Whetstone's boarding house has been moved to the vacant lot formerly occupied by or adjoining the Heppner Furniture store.

Forest Notes.

The annual value of the farm woodlot products of the United States is over $195,000,000.

More people are spending their vacations on National Forests this summer than have ever done so before. Many persons traveling long distances are traveling by automobile in order to camp in these public playgrounds.

At a recent meeting of the Concomly Stock Association, at which there were twenty members present, it was decided not to allow any bulls on the range after 1916 except those of beef grade and having registered papers.

Tourists registers are in use in many of the National Forests. By registering their names and destination, persons going into the mountains can arrange to have telegrams and other important messages forwarded by the forest rangers.

WOMEN ARE BEHIND INITIATIVE MEASURE

Pendleton, Ore., Aug. 30.—Women's clubs over the state are joining the ranks of the supporters of the initiative measure providing for the establishment of a normal school at Pendleton. Parent-Teacher organizations are also existing for the campaign.

One of the first public endorsements received for the measure was from Mrs. Charles H. Castner, president of the Oregon Federation of Women's Club. "Believing that the time has arrived when it is necessary to make additional provision for the normal training of our public school teachers," she states, "and that the great distances in our state make it advisable that a school be located in the Eastern section, I therefore most heartily endorse the location of said normal school at Pendleton."

There are 1000 vacancies in Oregon schools each year, according to the state superintendent, and the normal school at Monmouth turns out only about 150, leaving school authorities to select the balance as best they can. The rural schools are shown to be the chief sufferers because in such schools the percentage of normal trained teachers is the lowest. At the same time the need for highly trained teachers is greatest in rural districts because of the absence of supervision.

Hunters Return.

A hunting party consisting of H. H. Hoffman, Loy M. Turner, Oscar Borg and Willard Herren, returned the last of the week from the mountains. They spent a few days on Ditch creek in quest of deer. It was here that Mr. Herren killed a buck. The party then journeyed over on to Little Potamus but met with no luck. They report fishing excellent and bird shooting only fair.

Don't Rubber On the 'Phone.

(By Lincoln Rappleye.)

In thinking of this present age,
My heart with gladness sings,
For all the great discoveries,
With science to us brings,
And we should gladly use them, too,
Yes, all things which are known;
But there's one thing we should not do—
That's rubber on the 'phone.
It is the most disgraceful act,
Which anyone can do.
And you will think the same as I,
When this you rightly view,
For others, this act would be wrong,
To this you'll quickly own;
If wrong for them, it is for you,
To rubber on the 'phone.
There was a man long years ago,
And very rich he grew,
Because affairs of other men
This wealthy man ne'er knew.
He never felt inquisitive
Of business not his own;
This happy rich and good old man
Ne'er rubbered on the 'phone.
But there are many living now,
Who never heard of him,
They see to other men's affairs,
They're always "buttin' in."
And there's a truth which I must tell,
Although it makes me groan,
The male is not the only one
Who rubbers on the 'phone.
I'd have you use your telephone,
It is a wonderful gift,
And if you use it as you should,
'Twill many a burden lift.
But I'm afraid that from your heart
All decency has flown,
If you persist, day after day,
In rubbering on the 'phone.

Hardup—Yes, your honor; I expect to be treated like a regular customer.

Former Heppner Man Loses Home By Fire.

W. E. Hiatt, for many years a resident of Heppner and Morrow County, lost his home at Carrolton, Wash., by fire last week, according to a letter received by his son, Emory Hiatt of this city. The house was a substantial structure of three stories. Practically nothing of any value was saved. A neighbor rushed into the house several times to carry things out of the fire and in doing this received burns which later caused his death. Mr. Hiatt was not at home at the time of the fire.
