FEDERAL BIRD RESERVATION THREATENED

Washington, Sept. 29.—The destruction of one of the largest, if not the largest, federal bird reservation in the United States is threatened, according to an announcement made here today, by T. Gilbert Pearson, of New York City, secretary of the National Association of Audubon Societies. The reservation threatened is at Lake Malheur in southeastern Oregon, and is a breeding place for hundreds of thousands of wild ducks, wild geese and other water fowl.

Application has been made to the federal authorities for permission to drain the lake in order to secure the land it covers. The lake is six miles wide, by fifteen miles long, and is about six feet deep. It supplies an ideal breeding place for wild water fowl, Mr. Pearson says, and, therefore it attracts wild geese and ducks from Canada in large numbers. Its destruction, he declares, will leave thousands of young water fowl without home.

Secretary Pearson has taken the matter up with the officials of the General Land office who have promised to investigate. It is understood that those who plan the destruction of the bird reservation have already secured the cooperation of the state land board of Oregon. For that reason Mr. Pearson regards the situation as imminent and believes it will require quick and earnest appeals to the Secretary of the Interior from those who believe in the protection of wild birds to prevent the destruction of the colony.

"There are about five million guns in the United States," said Mr. Pearson, "and the only way to preserve our migratory game birds is to have these sanctuaries, areas in which they can never be killed, under any circumstances."

HEPPNER 25 YEARS AGO

From the Gazette of Sept. 24, 1891. Eagle: Hon. Henry Blackman of Heppner has been favorably mentioned by the democratic forces as suitable material for congressman from Oregon's second district.

W. W. Smead says the Evans Bros. will have 12,000 bushels on the average of 25 bushels per acre. Like many others, they missed their calculations and had to buy more sacks.

Geo. Rader and Walter Canaday, accompanied by Miss Bertha Anderson, who arrived from Portland Tuesday evening departed today for the Long Creek section.

Ransom Lieuallen, wife and daughter-in-law, of Lexington called last Thursday and had the pleasure of seeing our steam press in operation. Call again.

S. E. Jones, who is threshing in the neighborhood of Jordan Fork, reports an average of over 30 bushels per acre. Some went as high as 40 bushels.

J. H. Piper, a rustling farmer of the lower section, raised such fine crops that he feels like living another year.

Notice to Farmers.

Creek farmers are asked to fix their dams during low water. Equip them with fish ladders in the best possible manner in order that fish will encounter no difficulty in getting over the dams.

NEWS NOTES FROM NEIGHBORING CITIES

Earl Wigelsworth and family and Rev. J. C. Pershall and family went to the mountains a week ago for a camping trip. While making the trip, Earl Wigelsworth, Walter Wigelsworth and Mrs. Pershall were taken ill and it was feared for a while that they would not recover. Friends from Pine City were sent for and Dr. McMurdo was brought from Heppner. After a few hours they recovered and were able to continue their journey. The doctor pronounced the attack a case of ptomaine poisoning caused by something eaten for dinner.—Echo News.

Would Improve Mail Service.

Echo's Commercial Club will assist the residents along the line of the Lena star route in their efforts to have the mail service extended. At present there are two trips a week between Thompson schoolhouse and Lena. The proposed service will give three trips a week and the carrier will come clear through to Echo each trip. A delegation of Lena citizens attended the Club meeting Monday and requested that the organization cooperate with them in their efforts to get better service. To that end a petition has already been started out on the route for signatures, and the matter will be taken up with the post-office department.

More than 250 people are served by this star route, and if the extension is allowed the carrier will have a 70 mile trip to make. Postmaster Longwell has been working on this change for some time, and is confident that the showing made will result in the new service being allowed.—Echo News.
