NEWS NOTES FROM NEIGHBORING CITIES

$3000 To Be Expended On Graveling Echo District Roads.

As soon as the weather warms up enough to allow the ground to be worked, the construction of a gravel road between Echo and Butter creek will start. This is the announcement made by Road Supervisor Wattenburger in a conference with representatives of the Commercial Club yesterday evening.

Work will start at the top of the hill just west of town and will continue until the available money is expended. Mr. Wattenburger expects to use about fifteen teams to start with. Gravel will be hauled from a loading trap at the river, and will be spread about five yards to the rod. This will make a gravel coating six inches thick. The gravel will be screened before loading.

There is now available in the Echo road district fund about $3000. The supervisor estimates that gravel road under the conditions west of town will cost a little more than $1800 to the mile. He intends to complete the graveling of a small strip on the Meadows road between Cunha's corner and Fred Andrew's place, but the cost of this will be small, and the balance will be expended in improving the Butter creek road as far as possible.

This is unquestionably the worst piece of road over which there is heavy traffic in this district, and the improvement is very much needed.—Echo News.

A letter received by local friends from Sloan P. Shutt is to the effect that having visited his old home place in Pennsylvania and viewed the beauties of Virginia and its hillbillydom he is about to embark for Arizona where he plans to enter the cattle business.—Joseph Herald.

Phil Fairbanks has purchased the property known as the Balance ranch, one mile east of town from Mrs. Geo. Rader for a consideration of $4,000.—Long Creek Ranger.
