Carl Yount, lone wheat buyer for M. H. Houser, was in Heppner Monday.

R. F. Wigglesworth of Butter creek spent a few days in the city this week.

Frank McCabe, McDonald canyon stockman, was in the city on business Tuesday.

Ira Morgan returned the last of the week from a business trip to Wenatchee.

Mrs. C. S. VanDyke is visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Eliza Ayers in this city.

Ellis R. Minor, prominent young stockman of Corvallis, was transacting business in Heppner Tuesday.

C. W. Sharpe spent the week end with his family in this city. He returned to Arlington Sunday.

Oscar R. Otto, local piano dealer, returned Wednesday from a visit of several days to outside points.

Ernest Edwards of Sand Hollow returned home the first of the week from a short visit in Portland.

Matt Helversen, pioneer farmer of the lone ranch was in Heppner last Saturday transacting business.

Jack Hynd, local stockman was in Heppner the last of the week attending to matters of business.

John Bush and family have arrived from Portland and they will once more make their home in this city.

R. F. Hynd of Portland, president of the Heppner Milling Company is spending a few days in the city on business.

E. S. Duran of Lexington attended the annual meeting of the Heppner Mining Company in this city Tuesday afternoon.

O. B. Gates, vice president of the Heppner Light & Water Company, is in the city this week on a business visit to the company.

Eph Eskelson was up from his Meadow Brook home on Willow creek last Friday. He reports everything running smoothly on the farm.

Clarence Bisbee, former Heppner man, arrived in the city Tuesday from Spray, where he has been making his home the past several years.

Frank Glader, meat cutter at the Peoples Cash Market, went to Prosser, Wash., Sunday to spend a few days visiting with relatives and friends.

Neal Crawford returned to the Stanfield ranch near Echo last Sunday after spending several days in Heppner receiving treatment for rheumatism. His condition is much improved.

Frank Elliott, Butter creek farmer was in the city Monday. Mr. Elliott recently returned from Arizona, where he went some time ago with Mrs. Elliott. Mrs. Elliott is still in the south.

Ben O. Anderson returned to Heppner last Monday after spending several days visiting with his sister, Mrs. Martin Johnson at Cottage Grove. He also attended Farmer's Week at Corvallis while away.

At the Washington-Lincoln Memorial service to be held next Sunday morning at the Federated church, Mrs. Berwick will read "Music on the Rappahannock." This number has a musical setting. Members of the Grand Army of the Republic are especially invited to hear this reading.

John W. Johnson, manager of the Pioneer Engineering and Elevator Co., of Seattle, arrived in the city on Monday to spend several days in this vicinity meeting with the farmers and learning their wishes regarding the grain elevator proposition. Mr. Johnson has built many grain elevators and warehouses in the middle west and on this coast.

John A. Adams, Hardman farmer, was in Heppner on business Tuesday. Mr. Adams was unfortunate last fall in not being able to thresh all his grain. Although the Bates brothers machine is now on his place, the unsettled weather makes it very slow progress and it may be weeks yet before all his grain is threshed out. Mr. Adams will have, when threshed, in the neighborhood of 1200 sacks of wheat.

A special Patriotic Program will be given at the Federated church Sunday Feb. 18. Exercises by Primary Department. Readings by Mrs. Berwick, and Miss Cason. Vocal duet by the Misses Cason. Recitations by others. Address by Rev. Noyes. Sunday School begins at 9:45. Program 10:30. Every one invited to attend either or both, as this will be a combination of the School and Church services, all morning services combined.
