NEWS NOTES FROM OUR NEIGHBORING CITIES

Shearing Plant Ready For Work.
 Shearing will probably start at the Echo sheep shearing plant next Monday morning. If the weather permits most of the mutton sheep in this neighborhood will be sheared now, so as to allow them to be on the range a little while before shipping. Work will start on the Cunha sheep. It is probable that only a small crew, eight or ten men, will be employed at present.
 Next month shearing of the range sheep starts and the full crew will be on hand. J. C. Wattenburger came over from Heppner Sunday to supervise the work of getting the plant in shape for the spring work. After the mutton shearing he will go to Touchett, and return to Echo in time for the regular spring work.—Echo News.

FARMERS UNION BUILDING BURNS

On Saturday night a fire started in the dry-goods store of Louis and Marcus Kopple, in the Farmer's Union Building on the corner of Summit and Main streets. The alarm came in about 12:30 o'clock and the fire department had the fire extinguished in a short time. The store was known as the Grand Leader and though the stock of dry-goods was almost entirely ruined by fire, smoke and water, the loss was fully covered by insurance. The building was also adequately insured.—Condon Times.

Judge D. R. Parker and C. W. Harris have purchased the site of the old W. L. Barker building on Main street and will build two modern residences there. Ground has already been broken, and the homes will be ready for occupancy in the late spring. When the lawns are started these residences will certainly be a pleasing addition to Condon.—Condon Times.

Big Ranch Crew.
 Twenty men are now employed at the Wiglesworth sheep ranch on Butter creek. There are more than 5000 ewes on the ranch and feeding and caring for them during the lambing season requires a large crew.—Echo News.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Maddock returned Thursday from Portland where Mr. Maddock has been in the hospital for several weeks. Mr. Maddock's smiling face will now greet you at the hotel.—Arlington Independent.

WOOL STILL ADVANCING

The Market is Excited and 42 Cents Is Being Offered With Growers Waiting Developments.
 Forty-two cents a pound is reported to be freely offered for coarse wools in the interior of the Pacific northwest and some small trading is reported at this extreme price. Even medium stock is being quoted as high as 40 cents a pound in the interior.
 Such record values are naturally exciting the trade in the fleece market.
 Added to the already statistical position of the wool trade, due to the known shortage of supplies, comes the announcement that Great Britain may prohibit the exportation of wool from its colonies for a period of five years.
 The Portland Wool Warehouse company announces according to the Portland Journal:
 "To say that excitement is running high amongst the wool trade in general would be putting it very mildly. When we say that actual sales of three eights wool have been made in the Boston market as high as 61 cents, you will readily appreciate what may be expected insofar as wool prices are concerned. To contract your wool at this time would really oppress the market and while we do not desire to excite you in any sense of the word, the supply of wool the world over is short and the supply for our domestic use is so far below the requirements, that you can not possibly tell what the actual market will be until after shearing is entirely completed, and the mills begin to purchase their wools for their next season's use.
 "This is one year above them all when you should support a substantial market and consign your wool to

BUYS BIG WHEAT FARM

R. W. Snyder, who recently disposed of his alfalfa ranch on Willow creek, some three miles this side of Lexington, to a Mr. Moore, of Salem is closing up a deal for the Perry Chandler wheat ranch in Sour Dough Canyon, to the north of Chas. Valentine's. This is considered a splendid piece of land, comprising something like a section, but has stood idle for the past year or two and will require a lot of work to rid it of the weeds. Mr. Snyder, however will get about three quarters ready for Spring sowing and looks for a good crop. He states that Jim Hill mustard is beginning to show up at a great rate and is already an inch high. This is a good condition and will put the weed in shape to be turned under by the plow. Mr. Snyder will give his entire attention to wheat raising in the future.

HORSE PLUNGES THRU PLATE GLASS WINDOW

Considerable excitement was caused on the streets Monday afternoon when a horse plunged through one of the plate glass windows in the men's furnishing department of Minor & Co. The horse, which is on the bronco order, belongs to Jimmie Morgan, who is working for Walter Rood on Heppner Flat. Young Morgan had rode the horse to town and stopped in front of the store. The horse, while going through one of his wild spasms, reared up on the side walk, slipped and fell. Upon attempting to arise, he poked his head through the plate glass. He was severely cut on one leg. The entire section of the window was completely demolished.

NATIONAL EDUCATION ASSOCIATION TO MEET IN PORTLAND SOON

Editor Gazette-Times:
 The writer is in receipt of a letter from O. M. Plummer, of Portland in regard to the National Education Association, which will meet in Portland, July 7-14. This will be a great event in the educational world. It is not likely that the Association will meet again on the Pacific Coast for several years. Hence, those interested in education should plan to attend.

A movement is on foot to secure a large number of new members. Every teacher will find it worth while to become a member. Even if it should be impossible to attend the meeting, the bound volume of the proceedings will be worth more than the $2.00 membership fee, which is charged for associate membership. Many will desire to become active members. The fee for active membership is $4.00 for the first year, and $2.00 per year after the first.

It would also be a good thing for every school board to take out membership, and if possible send at least one member to attend the meeting. The school officers division has become one of the most valuable divisions of the whole association. Mr. Plummer is president of this division. A school board member who attends this convention will find the money and time spent a most valuable investment. It would pay any board to take out a membership in order to secure the volume of the proceedings. The book is worth several times the price of the membership. The addresses which will be published in this book will be the cream of educational thought at the present time.

There should be a large number of people from this county in attendance at the convention. It will help Oregon if the membership from this State is large. It is estimated that there will be from 15,000 to 20,000 visitors from outside the State. If you have friends living in the states east of the Rocky Mountains ask them to come this way. They can make you a visit and attend the convention. The railroad rates will be very low.

If those who desire to apply for membership will notify the writer, he will obtain the application blanks, and will be glad to sign the recommendation. While the writer has, in a manner severed his connection with school work, he expects to retain his membership in the association in order to secure the volume of proceedings each year.

Respectfully,
 S. E. NOTSON.
