George Melton engaged work this year with Henry Streeter on the hill. J. H. Franklin and C. M. Melton have added their names to the Gazette-Times list. J. H. Miller, who spent the winter with Mr. Franklin, is now working for Peter Benson. Messrs. Osborn and Logan were busily engaged in the care of their gardens the past week. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Crawford of Morgan were down to Cecil Sunday to attend Easter services. Grandpa Melton, who is around 74 years old, encountered a four mile trip last Friday to round up his cows. A number of visitors found their way into the Cecil school last week and they report school affairs in a flourishing condition. Melvin Carter, a lad of 13 years, who was left a cripple from a mower cut, entered the fifth grade of the Cecil school last Monday. Mrs. Jennie Flannigan paid a week end visit with her friend, Mrs. J. H. Franklin. She stopped off from her return home to Pendleton to visit a niece who lives near Echo.

George Wilson, who recently acquired the art of propelling a Ford machine, has given his friends to understand that he will drive one of his own in the near future. Last Saturday marked the homecoming of Clyde and Amy Franklin, who have been living on a large stock ranch near Lovelock, Nevada. Their many friends hailed them with delight. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Minor, who were looking after business affairs at this place last Wednesday, met Miss Blanche Minor at the train and on the following day made their return to Heppner in the auto. Miss Douglas, of the lower Willow creek school, had to close her school last week on account of sickness. On Thursday she was seen in Cecil, enroute for the Moore residence, where she visited for a few days. On Friday last the usual affairs of this place were disturbed by the alarm issued from the Streeter home of a lost child. Matters assumed a degree of uncertainty until two hours later when the lost child emerged from the engine room, where it had fallen asleep. Jack Hynd and son Herbert, accompanied by T. H. Lows, the trustworthy postmaster of this place, autoted last Thursday to Edward McDavid camp near Buckingham Flats. Mr. Hynd reports ample supply of spring grass and that his lambs are doing splendidly upon it. Last Sunday the valley was aroused at the sight of two pedestrians breaking in a bucking motorcycle. Many sightseers craned their necks to ascertain who the brave, intrepid ones could be. When, lo, W. H. Routh of Lundell's and Miss Douglas of lower Willow creek answered to the unknown parties. W. B. Ewing, a resident of Willow creek for 35 years, possesses one of the best productive alfalfa ranches in the valley, whose products always command the best prices of the market. It is understood, however, that he wishes to seek a change of climate, and is closing a deal for property near Roseburg, Ore., where he will engage in dry farming and stock raising. His many neighbors bid him God speed. The clean up day of District No. 8 was somewhat disturbed by the condition of the weather. However, a faithful band of workers engaged themselves in the afternoon. The yard now presents a different appearance. The shrubbery in front has been given a careful trimming. Also a gate was constructed for the entrance opening and a few boards nailed on the fence. It seems, that for the lack of nails, the yard enclosure was not finished. The school was closed from Wednesday evening until Monday morning. The program held last Saturday evening in the Cecil hall was largely attended, notwithstanding the downpour of rain. There were 22 numbers pleasingly rendered to an appreciative audience. Mrs. Minor contributed a reading entitled "The Easter Bell" with such rendition as to prove her ability in the niceties of interpretation. Boyd Logan, in his unique style, gave the realistic touches to a September gale. Miss Annie Lowe presented a piano voluntary and accompanied for the musical part of the program with fine credit. Our Easter Note. Our village responded to Easter, The rich festival of the year, With thoughtful service far dearer Than the clouds of angry fair. There was a blue on the hills, There was a freshness in the air,

There was a tinkle in the rills That divested us of cares. The Easter air was still alive With the twittering of the birds, And the bees that flew from the hives, With their message of glad words. So may our closed-in hearts expand From the power of life within, That everywhere the Christ commands: Be ye raised up from your sins. C. G. Bleasdale, Overland car representative of Portland, spend several days in Heppner the past week. He went to Ione Monday. The Overland Company is represented with two agencies in this county, Minor & Co., of this city, and Frank Engelman, of Ione. Tom O'Brien of Butter creek spent Saturday in Heppner. TYPHOID is no more necessary than Smallpox. Army experience has demonstrated the almost miraculous efficacy, and harmlessness, of Antityphoid Vaccination. Be vaccinated NOW by your physician, you and your family. It is more vital than house insurance. Ask your physician, druggist, or send for "Have you had Typhoid?" telling of Typhoid Vaccine, results from use, and danger from Typhoid Carriers. THE CUTLER LABORATORY, BERKELEY, CAL.
