LIVE CECIL NEWS ITEMS

W. H. Cronk, wife and son were down from Ione Sunday.
C. A. Minor shipped a car load of cattle to Portland Tuesday.
J. W. Osborne suffered the loss of his only cow last week.
Frank Marvel was up from Arlington on Sunday.
C. A. Minor lost a valuable cow last week from bloat.
A second lecture will be delivered in the Cecil Hall Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Subject: "Patriotism and Military Conscription."
T. H. Lowe was elected to succeed W. B. Ewing, resigned, as district clerk at the special meeting held Monday.
Alvin Shane was up from the lower part of the valley, transacting business at Cecil.
J. H. Franklin and Jack Hynd made an overland trip to Heppner last Saturday on matters of business.
Mrs. George Doney of Yamhill, Oregon, has subscribed for The Gazette-Times.
A. Z. Barnard made a hasty trip on the morning local and returned in the afternoon with his wife and child, who had been visiting at the home of J. H. Franklin.
Germ O-Conner and Ellis Minor were Heppner visitors Saturday. Germ will remain there a few days before returning.
Mr. and Mrs. Sam E. Van Vector of Heppner, came down Sunday to visit with their daughter, Mrs. Ellis Minor.
Gene Penland was down this week from Heppner and took off the Minor cattle for the spring and summer range.
The illness of Frank Nash, of Pendleton, has become serious. His brother, A. E. Nash, was urged to come at once. Henry Streeter took him to Arlington, where he took passage on the midnight train.
The government purchased and shipped out 12 cars of wheat the first of the week to Europe for the benefit of the Allies. Uncle Sam's men were present and assisted in the matter of loading the grain.
A force of twelve accompanied the Turner shearing plant that was sent up the line the first of the week from the Deos place, to remove the fleecy coats from some 7000 head of sheep belonging to the Hynd and Minor ranches.
The Cecil school children enjoyed a pleasant day on Sunday at the home of Mr. Hynd. Full liberties of the ranch were given and a royal dinner in their own apartments was served by Mrs. Hynd.
C. A. Minor has made a number of improvements around his house. The yard has been altered and enclosed with a new fence. The yard will, in the course of time, give way to a beautiful lawn.
Mr. Hynd is converting his house-yard into a lawn. His son Herbert is laying the plans to raise one of the best gardens in the valley. He is also quite a successful flower raiser.
A successful surprise party was staged at the W. B. Ewing residence last Saturday evening. They gathered from the valley below in great squads. Cecil managed to run down a well laden vehicle affording conveyance to Mrs. Bennett, Georgia, her daughter, and Anna Lowe with Zennith Logan, Harold and William Ahalt, Alza Wallace, Pat McEntire and Jim O'Conner as male attendants. Harry and John Henderson went on horse back. One feature was the free drinks from a keg of cider brought from the cellar below. A good time was had and all bade good bye to their neighbor who had settled this valley in the pioneer days some 36 years ago. They left this week for their new home at Roseburg. Their leaving decreases the school enrollment by four, leaving five to complete the course of instruction for the current year.
