Leander Kopple Dies at Long Creek.
Leander Copple, of Hamilton who has been here for the past two weeks receiving medical attention, died at the Big Hotel Saturday morning.

Mr. Copple was born in 1860 and came to Morrow county about thirty-five years ago, where he lived until 1911 when he came to Grant county and made his home with Elmer Stathem near Hamilton.

Funeral services were conducted at the M. E. church Sunday morning, by Rev. Jones of Baker City. Remains were interred at Long Creek cemetery.—Long Creek Ranger.

Hanson Hughes Builds.
Hanson Hughes, prominent young merchant of Heppner has started the construction work on his new home in southeast Heppner. Mr. Hughes is building on a lot which he acquired some time ago. The house will consist of four rooms with bath and will be an attractive addition to the residential section of our city. Henry Johnson has the contract.

Al Williams Buys Wood Yard.
Albert Williams has purchased control of the fuel industry of Heppner. He has bought both yards, N. A. Clark and Elmer Beaman retiring from the field. Mr. Williams has gained considerable experience in this line of business in former years and comes into possession of this business with the assurance to the public of Heppner and vicinity that they can expect courteous treatment and efficient service at all times. The business will be conducted in the future as the Heppner Wood Yard.

Oscar Otto, local piano dealer, made a great record as a sprinter one day last week while on his way to Pendleton. Oscar came across a half-grown coyote and started off over the hills after him. He succeeded in catching the animal and as a result brought back a warrant from the Umatilla county treasury.

M. A. Bates, who recently moved to Portland, was called back to Hardman the past week on account of the serious illness of his mother. He returned to Portland Tuesday. The condition of his mother is not improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Y. Wells left Heppner last Saturday for an extensive auto tour of southern Oregon. They will visit Crater Lake before returning to Heppner. Later they expect to visit the Yellowstone National Park.
