PERSONAL MENTION

Maht Hughes is over from his ranch near Lone Rock this week.
 A. E. Nash and wife of Cecil were registered at the Palace the first of the week.
 J. C. Wattenburger has returned to his Heppner home after spending the past three months conducting his shearing plants at Echo and Huntington. He reports a successful season.
 Earl H. Crow, member of the Coast artillery now located at Ft. Stevens made a brief visit this week with his father, J. E. Crow in Heppner. Mr. Crow expects to be called across the Atlantic at any time.
 Willis Stewart, local livery man, has taken a progressive step the past week and purchased a Ford car for the service of his patrons. He has also placed an order for a Ford truck which will be used in heavier hauling.
 Clyde Wells is having one of his Willow street buildings, adjoining the Morrow County Creamery, improved with a new front this week. R. D. Watkins is doing the work. After the building has been remodeled it will be occupied by Leo Hill and E. J. Starkey. These men will carry a line of electrical fixtures and supplies.

Mr. Hill will continue to sell his tire filler, which has already proven such a success with auto owners in this county.
 Jeff McFerrin is riding around in a Ford these days.
 E. S. Duran of Lexington, who was recently taken to the Heppner Sanatorium for treatment, has left that institution. He has almost completely recovered.
 Chas. Stanton of Walla Walla has arrived in the city on a brief business visit. Mr. Stanton was formerly extensively engaged in growing wheat in the Eight Mile section.
 Miss Thelma Lucas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lucas, who has been attending school at Wasco during the past year, has returned to her Heppner home to spend the summer.
 George Sperry Jr. has purchased an Overland touring car from Minor & Co., the local agents. Stephen Irwin, who handles this branch of the store, returned from Portland the first of the week with a new demonstrator.
 J. H. Cox has completed the task of moving the house recently purchased by Stacey Roberts. The house will now occupy the rear end of the lot and Mr. Roberts will soon commence the erection of a modern bungalow on the corner.

Mrs. J. H. Cox was visiting with friends in Pendleton last week.
 Henry Scherzinger is making some extensive improvements to his Center street residence this week.
 Joe Batty, well known Eight Mile farmer, has purchased a late model Oldsmobile from Harold Cohn, the local agent.
 Oscar R. Otto, local dealer in musical instruments, left this week on an extended business trip through Grant county.

Miss Myrtle Hams, who has been holding a position as nurse in the Heppner sanatorium, left this morning for Portland.

NOTICE.

My wife, Sophronia Blahm, has left my bed and board and I will not hereafter be responsible for any debts contracted by her.

GEO. BLAHM.

NATURE TELLS YOU
 As Many a Heppner Reader Knows Too Well.

When the kidneys are awak, Nature tells you about it. The urine is nature's index. Infrequent or too frequent passage. Other disorders suggest kidney ills. Doan's Kidney Pills are for disordered kidneys. Heppner people testify to their worth.
 C. W. Shurte, Heppner, says: "Several years ago, I was more or less subject to bladder trouble. The kidney secretions were unnatural and too frequent in passage. During these spells, my back felt weak and lame. After taking a few boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got over the bladder trouble and my back felt as strong as ever."
 Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Shurte had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

PRESIDENT GIVES PLAN

 the men called will be notified by mail.

Next the "honor men" will be summoned for physical examination before the local boards. One member of each board is a physician. He is ordered to make the examination in the presence of another member of the board.

To Prevent Unfairness.
 In making a claim for exemption on the ground of a dependent, the claimant must furnish an affidavit that the income for the support of the dependent is mainly from the fruit of his labor and not derived from property. He must bring another affidavit from the dependent affirming the dependency, and another from a head of a family stating the same grounds.

Within three days after the affidavits are filed the local board must make its decision. Either an absolute, conditional or temporary discharge may be granted.
 The local boards next report a list of the men discharged and those not discharged to the district board. Again these names are posted and a notice sent to each.

Must Prove Occupation.
 Claims for exemption upon occupational grounds must be made to the district board within five days after the man is notified that he is drawn. The burden of a double proof rests upon these claimants. They must prove that the industry in which they are engaged is necessary and that they are "indispensable to its successful conduct."

The regulations say claims may be made upon these premises:
 That he is actually engaged in a particular industrial or agricultural enterprise necessary to the maintenance of the military establishment of the national interest, and that his continuance is necessary to that industry and cannot be dispensed with or replaced without substantial material loss and detriment to that enterprise.

What Will Bring Discharge.
 Each claim must be supported by affidavits.
 When, in the opinion of the board, the loss of the man to the industry outweighs the gain to the military establishment, a certificate of discharge will be issued.

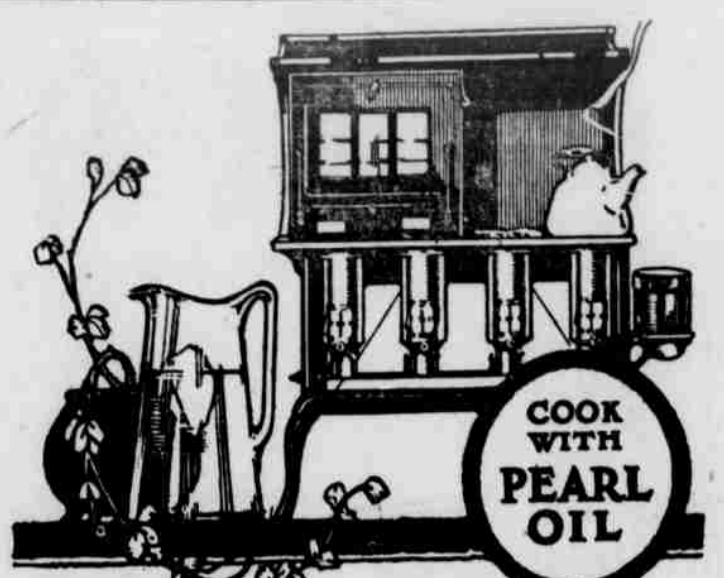

Claims for exemption may be made by wives, parents, children, employers or any person for the man in whom they are interested.
 The boards are empowered to investigate affidavits and claims for exemption with any means at their disposal.
 After the occupational claims are passed upon the district board will next review the appeals from lower boards. Upon these appeals their decision is final. When it is adverse the man will be drafted into the army.

To Report Final Lists.
 After all appeals are decided and occupational claims are settled, the district board will report its list of eligibles to the adjutant general of the state. These are the men that are to be summoned to the colors in the fall. They will be notified by mail.

An appeal from the district board in occupational claims to the president is provided for. But, pending the decision of the appeal, the claimant may be summoned to the army.
 In a later proclamation President Wilson will create a national board to hear the occupational appeals.
 The regulations give the president authority to determine from time to time what general classes of industries are necessary to maintenance of the military establishment. These classes will be announced by proclamation. The district boards are ordered to ascertain the existing conditions of industry in their districts to aid in making equitable exemptions.

Another Proclamation to Come.
 Another proclamation to follow within a few days will make the laws governing the final step of the draft— assembling the men and calling them into camps.
 On any disputed decision of the boards a majority rules. Members are barred from taking part in any hearing that concerns any relative closer than a second cousin.

In case of doubt in physical examinations as to whether the man is unfit, the government is given the benefit of the doubt and the man is certified as "fit."
 To guard against partiality every case of an exemption by a lower board is appealed automatically to the upper tribunal. Unless new evidence is presented after a short time, the higher board will affirm the decision. This method gives the public in general an opportunity to present evidence favoring or opposing the decision.
 Heavy penalties are imposed for making false statements or any evasion of the requirements of the regulations. Imprisonment for not more than one year, without the alternative of a fine, is provided for evasion.

COOLNESS

There's nothing so cool as an oil stove for summer cooking. All the heat is concentrated on the cooking and not radiated about the kitchen.
 Cooks everything any wood or coal range will cook, and cooks it better, because of the steady, evenly-distributed heat.
 Use it all the year 'round—more convenient than a wood or coal stove, and more economical.
 The long blue chimneys prevent all smoke and smell.
 In 1, 2, 3 and 4 burner sizes, with or without ovens. Also cabinet models. Ask your dealer today.
