

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

July 15th—On This Date Paige Prices Will Be Advanced

We have formally announced that the list price of every car in the Paige line will be very substantially increased on July 15th.

We have explained that this step is unavoidable because of the steadily advancing costs of manufacturing materials, labor and all elements entering into the production of a quality product.

In making this advance announcement, we feel that we have done complete justice to the many hundreds of people who have been planning to purchase one of our cars. They now know definitely when the increased prices are scheduled to take effect, and will be guided accordingly.

There is one very important point, though, that we would like to emphasize at this time.

Owing to the scarcity of materials, our production between now and July 15th will necessarily be limited. We are doing all that we possibly can to keep step with public demand, but it is a foregone conclusion that there will not be enough Paiges to go round.

As a last thought in regard to this matter of price, please remember that the Paige has long since demonstrated its independence of all "price fields." American men and women now buy a Paige—not because of the price tag which is attached to it—but because of its well established reputation as a fine mechanical product.

R. N. Morrison, Bounty	3.00	Ed Buschke, who farms the OJha Jenkins place on Eight Mile, came to town Monday and took out a new harvester. He has purchased one of those two-man machines from Gilliam & Bisbee. If conditions will only hold good with Ed he expects to harvest a good crop of grain. His wheat looks fine at present and is doing well.
A. A. Finley, Bounty	7.50	Lish Watkins was down from his Willow creek farm yesterday. He will not have his usual fine garden this season owing to the fact that he was badly indisposed and compelled to stay in the house for about six weeks just at the time when he should have been making garden. He does not feel that he has fully regained his health yet and is not able to do much work at this time.
