"HELL MORGAN'S GIRL."

The arrival of "Hell Morgan's Girl" at the Star theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday will mark an unusual event in local photoplay annals. Without being heralded as the "greatest ever" or guaranteed to embody all the reforms and dogmas of civilization, the play will afford stirring scenes and a gripping interest that has seldom been reflected upon the screen. Its scenes are laid in San Francisco at a period just preceding the great earthquake and consequent fire. This catastrophe is used as the climaxing incident of a series of sensational events that lead to the Presidio, where refugees congregated in thousands after the night of terror and destruction. Dorothy Phillips, one of the most famous emotional stars the screen has ever introduced, will play the leading role—the daughter of "Hell" Morgan, keeper of one of the most notorious places in San Francisco's Barbary Coast. Her leading man will be William Stowell, and Lon Chaney, a clever actor of villainous parts, will provide the counterbalance to Stowell's manliness in the principal role.

Grand Canyon of Arizona in Film.

Painted scenery, street scenes in a city, vistas of country road and tawdry equipments of the average photoplay will pale into insignificance when "God's Crucible" is exhibited at the Star theatre on Friday and Saturday. In Bluebird photoplays. This rugged drama was photographed amid the grandeur of Arizona's Grand Canyon—one of the world's wonder-spots and to bring these scenes before the eyes of local picture "fans" is an achievement of which Bluebird has reason to be proud. This is the first time any producing corporation has displayed the enterprise and accepted the enormous expense of sending a numerous company of photoplayers to Arizona's Grand Canyon. Work can be accomplished there only under certain rare conditions, for the sun cannot always penetrate to the depth of the chasm, the walls of the gorge are not always free from mists and clouds, and it requires time and patience to await proper conditions for acting and photographing the scenes.

ALBERT BENNETT

Was born in Norwich, Conn., Jan. 12, 1828; died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. C. Gay, on Rhea creek, Morrow county, Oregon, Aug. 1, 1917, aged 89 years, 6 months and 10 days.
Mr. Bennett was married to Bit-ridge Vale Little, in Middletown, N. Y., Oct. 14, 1851. Four children were born to this union, two girls and two boys. Three of these are living, one girl having died a number of years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett went to California in 1852. During the Civil War he was captain of a militia company, and was a member of the state legislature in 1878.

Mrs. Bennett died in California about eleven years ago, since which time Mr. Bennett made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Gay.

Mr. Bennett was a man of unusual ability and well informed. He possessed a remarkable memory and retained his faculties in their full vigor up to the time of his death. He was an active Christian worker and proved his interest in the Bible by reading it through more than thirty consecutive times. He passed at a ripe age greatly honored and respected by all those who knew him.

Funeral services were held at the home of Mr. Gay, Turner B. MacDonaid, pastor of the Church of Christ at Heppner, officiating. His remains were shipped to California to be interred by the side of his wife.
