AUTOISTS MEET WITH ACCIDENT

In an accident on the Willow creek road last Saturday evening, Mrs. Stone received severe cuts on her face when thrown against the windshield of the Stone car, which Mr. Stone was driving.

Coming around an abrupt turn in the road, Roy Cochran collided head on with the Stone car. Mr. Stone says he heard the Cochran car coming and turned partly out of the road. However, the turn being such a sharp one, Mr. Cochran did not see the other car in time to turn out. The Stone car was damaged to some extent but the car which Cochran was driving was hurt but little. Mrs. Stone was brought into town at once, where her wounds were dressed. It was thought at first that her nose had been broken, but the doctor's investigation proved that this was not the case.

At the time of the accident, Mr. and Mrs. Stone were on their way to the mountains to spend a vacation of a week. They resumed their trip Sunday morning and Mrs. Stone is now recovering from her injuries in the cool mountain air.

RECOGNITION!

Never have so many voluntary expressions of satisfaction and goodwill been received as those coming from Cole Eight owners.

Never have sales been so great, nor cars ordered so far in advance.

Never has the Cole been more strongly entrenched as America's dominant Eight.

Each day the growing demand for the Cole Eight is more difficult to meet.

The factory distributors for this Pacific Northwest are literally fighting for every carload shipped into this territory.

We suggest that if you want a Cole Eight now, next month, or the month following, ORDER IT TODAY.

Seven passenger Cole Eight $1795. Four Passenger Cole Eight Roadster $1795.
Prices f. o. b. factory. Subject to change without notice.

LIBERALITY OF WOOL GROWERS.

War prices have made thousands of additional dollars for the wool man's bank account but he has not been slow to recognize the source of the increased earnings and is giving liberally to every worthy cause, thereby doing his bit and aiding his country in this time of need.

The National Wool Grower, the official organ for the National Wool Growers' Association, started out a short time ago to raise $5000 to be used by the American Red Cross in the purchase of woolen blankets for use in our field hospitals in France. The Wool Grower has achieved what it started out to do, and more. In a recent article concerning the subject, S. W. McClure has the following: "That fund has reached almost the $5500 mark. It will be further augmented as time goes on. We are very proud of this donation and especially so when it is understood that it is entirely apart from the millions of dollars donated by the wool growers in the recent Red Cross campaign.

Our soldiers are now in France; hospital ambulances will soon be needed and we know of no greater work we could perform than to purchase and maintain one of the ambulances for the relief of American soldiers."

It is safe to say that small donations from the wool men will also equip and maintain one of these ambulances.

EVERY MAN TO HIS TRADE.

Besides being a fighting force, the new national army will be a great business and industrial organism as well. Fighting will be its business, but to make its fighting strength count it must be organized, scientifically, to the last degree. The specialist in the army will occupy relatively the same position that was his in civil life. In fact, to a large extent every man in the army of today is a specialist. Even in the front line trenches he is a bomber, or a machine gunner, or a sharpshooter. Back of the lines the differentiation is infinitely more intricate.

Thus the drafted man is assured that if he has any special capacity, he will not lack opportunity to develop his skill in the army. If he is a photographer, or a telegrapher, or a biologist, or a clever artisan, his officers are not going to stifle his talents simply to make one more bayonet in a charge. They have no idea of spoiling an accomplished engineer, for example, to make an indifferent soldier. The selective service men can be sure of that.

Naturally, all will have to go through the mill of military routine. All will have to shoulder guns, drill, march and learn to shoot. But their particular qualifications will never be lost sight of, and it is not improbable that many of them will come back to civilian endeavor better trained in their trades than they were when they joined the colors.—Spokesman-Review.

THE HOOVER PLAN.

The average housewife will not need to be instructed by Herbert Hoover or anyone else how to economize in the kitchen. Outlandish prices for all food articles for the past two or three years has brought home to the housewife the program of close conservation of all food materials long before it was thought out by a few men back in Washington.

But the Hoover plan will greatly revise the meals of America just the same. A more general practice of observing one wheatless meal, and having beef, pork or mutton only once a day will go a long way in conserving these articles of food of which not only America but the entire world is facing a shortage.

People that heretofore have had to scrimp and save to get by with the eating problem from day to day will not be hit hard by the Hoover plan. It is the people who have been able to buy anything and everything that will be called upon to cut down to the simplest of meals. And after all there can be no doubt but what the Hoover plan will introduce a greater variety of "eats" than is usually offered by the average table and it is safe to say the meals of the Hoover regime will be better balanced meals.

Are you preparing your exhibit for the Morrow County Fair? Remember, this big annual event is only three weeks away, and the time is ripe to begin planning and preparing your exhibit.
