DR. JOHN A. GRAY "HOBO EXPERT"

From the moment John A. Gray steps upon the platform until he steps down at the end of ninety minutes, it will be one splendid treat. You will forget all your troubles and will leave with a regenerated heart. For he comes with a message full of human interest and entertainment and helps every man and woman in the audience, for the greatest theme in the world is man, and the lower we go in the social scale the more fascinating does the study become. There is always a mystery about a tramp, where he comes from, where he is going and what makes him a tramp, and can he be cured of his wanderlust. A national curiosity follows him as he wends his way down the road, and all the world is interested.

Well, one day Dr. Gray became a tramp and for months in the dead of winter in New York city with 35,000 other homeless outcasts, he lived their life, ate, slept and suffered with them, just to get his data to try to solve the problem.

It is without a doubt the most interesting lecture on the American platform today, and the problem of the small wiggly boy is solved, for the children listen to every word of the lecture and with their elders wonder where the time has gone to. Here you see many characters in their true colors. Fred, the real hobo; Mike, the generous dray man; Doctor Jim and Windy Bill, the one a dope fiend and the other a drunkard; the bread line and lodging house; the cheap restaurant and squalid hobo night retreats; the park benches and the mission room—all are seen in vivid colors and described in the most wonderful word pictures you ever heard. The lectures are called: "Out of Work," and "On the Trail of the Hobo."

A HAIR RAISING EXPERIENCE.

A Pleasant One This Time.

Seldom has it become the lot of an entertainer to be in a position to entertain and at the same time provide the means of raising hair, but such is true of Miss Sheehan and her readings of the following story, as vouched for, is true.

It was in Missouri, and a young man was attending a concert with his mother, and Miss Sheehan was the entertainer. The young man previously had been trying to train his hair to a pompadour and had had considerable trouble in inducing it to become tractable. During the course of the entertainment, Miss Sheehan had occasion to render a new number of special pathos and spirit, entitled "The Titanic." It is a piece that calls for unusual ability and presence, but one that will bring out the finer sensibilities of all who hear it.

The young pompadour man sat with eyes and ears wide open, without a sound, except an occasional hiss from between his set lips, and a long drawn sigh of mental and physical relaxation at the finish. After a moment he turned to his mother, and said, "Gee, wasn't that great?" and upon receiving an affirmative reply in a hushed whisper he added, "Gosh, Ma, I'd like to hear that every day, it was great for my pompadour, my hair went right up and stayed there until the finish. I'd have a dandy if I could do that every day."

One cannot help but feel that Miss Sheehan's offerings all tend to create intense interest in the subject in hand. Pathos, comedy and drama have their part in her repertoire and each is done with the same degree of perfection.

Miss Sheehan appears here with the Theresa Sheehan Concert company.

OUT OF WORK.

If anyone expects a serious lecture in "Out of Work" by Dr. John A. Gray, he is in for a most pleasant surprise, for the lecture abounds with humor and funny situations. Of course it has its pathetic side, and at times you feel the thrill of the Bowery, but just when feeling has reached the tension point, there is a quick burst of humor which brings a hearty laugh.

Mrs. Lillian Wentworth notifies this paper that she has moved with her husband from Upland, Calif., to St. Joseph, Mo., where Rev. Mr. Wentworth has accepted the pastorate of the First Methodist church. Mrs. Wentworth is a sister of L. E. Bisbee, our local townsman.

A. H. Stamp, pioneer farmer who resides east of Heppner, went to Spray Monday, in company with his daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Gates. Mr. Gates is an extensive stockman of the Spray country and he and Mrs. Gates were interested visitors at the Morrow County Fair.

W. G. Scott, president and W. O. Hill, cashier of Lexington State Bank were up to Heppner on Monday evening on business connected with this new financial institution. While running but a few months, the new bank is making a splendid showing and the management are highly gratified at the results obtained so far. Their first report appears in this issue of the Gazette-Times.

Mrs. Jas. Cypert departed Monday for a short visit with her daughter residing at Walla Walla. Mr. and Mrs. Cypert lived for many years in the Lexington section where they farmed. A few years ago they went to the Walla Walla country but never invested in property there. They returned here during the spring and will likely make Morrow county their permanent home hereafter.

Mrs. J. E. Berwick has returned to her Heppner home after an absence of several months in Portland, occasioned in the first instance by the serious illness of her husband, and later by her own sickness. She was compelled to enter the hospital there for an operation but is now entirely recovered from its effects and is glad to be able to return to Heppner again, where she is made welcome by her many friends.
