IRRIGON IS PROUD OF NEW STATION HOUSE

In order to show appreciation of the new railway station just completed by the O. W. R. & N. at Irrigon, the people of that little city prevailed upon N. Seaman, the genial agent at that place, to formally dedicate the depot by giving a dance. According to their request, a nice little party was held in the new depot last Saturday evening, and right merrily did most of those present trip the light fantastic until 12 o'clock. Ted Sapper was there and rendered good music with his trap drum, being assisted on the piano by a lady from Alberta, Canada, visiting her parents there.

Agent Seaman and his estimable wife proved delightful hosts, and all enjoyed a good time and a nice luncheon prepared by Mrs. Seaman.

Quite a number of Hermiston people autoed to Irrigon to be present at the dedication, and "Farmer" Smith, agricultural man for the O. W., came all the way from Portland to join in the festivities.

Away back in 1908 the old depot burned down, and since then a couple of box cars served as a depot, warehouse, etc. In the past two years Irrigon has progressed wonderfully and as a result the box car depot system has been discarded for a most pretentious depot of which all the people of that place are justly proud.—Hermiston Herald.

Exhibits Crossbred Ewe.

(National Wool Grower.)

The livestock display at the Morrow County, Oregon, Fair at Heppner while not as large as former years, contained an interesting exhibit in sheep. Jack Hynd, the largest exhibitor, showed a crossbred ewe of exceptional qualities. The animal was of special interest, inasmuch as it represented the typical range problem. The animal was the product of a range Merino ewe and purebred Lincoln, crossed again with Lincoln blood. Mr. Hynd sheared 15 2-3 pounds of wool from the animal, compared with 8 to 10 pounds realized from the usual range flock. Just what line of breeding to follow now, is the problem, not only of one man, but aptly illustrates the sheepman's quandary, after an individual of superior merit and qualities has been secured, the trick is to retain those characteristics under range conditions. The animal received considerable attention from the visitors and representatives of the Agricultural College.

The Morrow County Fair was a great success and no small credit is due to Mr. Smead for his excellent services rendered so gratuitously.

WRITES OF TRIP TO STATE FAIR.

Lexington, Oregon, Oct. 17, 1917.
Dear Editor:—

I have been requested to write you regarding how I got to attend the State Fair at Salem.

I joined the Industrial Club and took sewing and baking in Division I at the County Fair at Heppner.

I took the first prize on both sewing and baking, and this entitled me to the trip to the State Fair.

I started from Lexington on Tuesday morning, September 25 and reached Salem that night. I certainly enjoyed myself while there, and thank the people of the camp for their kindness toward me while I was there. I also visited my grandfather, Mr. Scott, who lives in Salem.

On Saturday evening I started for home, remaining in Portland over night and reaching Lexington on Sunday evening.

HULDAH TUCKER.

Dr. J. G. Turner, the well known eye specialist of Portland, will be at Palace Hotel, Heppner, again on Tuesday, Nov. 13th, one day only. Dr. Turner is a specialist of experience and standing and you will make no mistake in consulting him about your eyes and glasses. Headaches relieved, cross eyes made straight, satisfaction guaranteed. Dr. Turner makes a specialty of fitting the Kryptok invisible bifocal, for distant and near vision, all in one light, solid piece of glass. Don't forget the date. Consult him in Ione Monday Nov. 12, in Heppner Tuesday, Nov. 13th.

REESE BROS. AFRICANDERS.

No theatre anywhere ever presented a better entertainment of the kind advertised by the Reese Africanders than was presented at the Royal theatre at Marshfield yesterday by the same company of colored artists. From the first blare of the trumpet starting the orchestra until the laughter of a delighted audience wore away on their departure, there was not a dull moment. The audience was large and appreciative and justly so, the feature all thru is the perfect southern Negro voices, blended in true artistic taste. The company plays a return engagement at the Royal next Monday night.—North Bend, Ore., Daily News.

Gets High Price For Cattle.

W. O. Minor shipped a car load of cattle to North Portland Stockyards last week, and met with good success in their disposal.

In talking to R. A. Blanchard, Agriculturist of the Live Stock State Bank, Mr. Minor said: "I believe I have secured the highest price ever paid at Portland for bulls. One animal which weighed just forty pounds less than a ton brought me $161.70, and the other weighed 1910 pounds and netted me $157.57. The purchase price was $8.25."

Will Move His Residence.

Alfred Troedson came up from Morgan the first of the week with his teams and took out the house moving apparatus of J. H. Cox who will move the residence of Mr. Troedson for about a mile over onto a new place recently purchased by him. Mr. Troedson recently disposed of a quarter section of his land to Frank L. Christenson, of Ione. This adjoins the land purchased by Mr. Christenson from Mrs. Ingrid Troedson, widow of the late Sven Troedson.

Henry E. Peterson has sold to his brother, Richard Peterson, the place at Gooseberry recently purchased from Fred Esteb. Henry will leave with the next contingent of the Morrow County draft for the military station at Camp Lewis, having been called to go with the last company under the present drawing.
