YOU HAD BETTER PAY INCOME TAX

Have you been in to see the income tax man yet? If you haven't and there remains any doubt in your mind on the subject, you will do well to drop in and talk the matter over with Jim Internal Revenue Collector Milton A. Miller of Portland sends out an inkling of what might happen to that fellow who tries to get by without paying his income tax. Says Mr. Miller: "Somebody is going to tell on you if you don't pay your income tax. Congress has fixed it so that somebody must tell, whether he wants to or not."

One section of the War Income Tax Law, exhaustively comprehensively in scope, requires every person, without exception, and every corporation, partnership, association, and insurance company, in whatever capacity acting, who paid $800 or more to another person, corporation, partnership, association, or insurance company, as interest, rent, salaries, wages, premiums, annuities, compensation or other fixed or determined gains, profits, and income, to report the name and address of the person, corporation, etc., to whom the payment was made, together with the amount of payment, to the commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington Form 1099, now to be had at all collector's offices, is the form prescribed and used. The forms must be filled out and returned on or before March 1, 1918, accompanied by Form 1096, which is a letter of transmittal and affidavit certifying the accuracy of Form 1099.

W. F. Palmateer and Geo. N. Ely, prominent men of Morgan, were business visitors in Heppner Wednesday.

During the past week W. G. McCarty was called to Bellingham, Wn., by the death of his brother Ed McCarty at that place.

Among the many farmers who were in the city the first of the week were Rufus Farrans, W. A. McClintock, Frank Young, N. M. Johnson and L. A. Anderson of Gooseberry.

The postoffice at Gooseberry has been discontinued, by official notice from Washington, and hereafter the majority of the residents of that part of the country will get their mail at Lone.

J. D. French, Gurdane stockman and one of the few big cattlemen of Eastern Oregon, spent a few days in Heppner and vicinity during the past week transacting business.

Word was received here the past week telling of the death of Henry Becket, the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Becket of Portland. Mr. Becket died in Pennsylvania, where he made his home for some time.

J. S. Young departed for Portland on Wednesday, accompanying his little daughter Fay whom Mr. Young takes to the city to receive treatment at the hands of a specialist. Fay has been ill for several weeks, suffering apparently from inflammation of the mastoid bone. It is feared that an operation will be necessary.

Mrs. E. M. Shutt and her daughter Essie left last Saturday morning for Southern California, and perhaps Arizona later on, where they will spend the next several months in trying to benefit Miss Essie's health. She had hoped to spend the present winter and coming summer here at home, but was unable to hold out longer without a change of climate. Lawrence is selling newspapers in Los Angeles and is doing well, his father informs us. Mr. Shutt will of course remain here and patiently await the reuniting of his scattered family whenever their health permits it.

RESULTS TELL

There Can Be No Doubt About the Results in Heppner. All doubt is removed. The testimony of a Heppner citizen Can be easily investigated. What better proof of merit can be had?

Henry Schwarz, proprietor of butcher shop, Main St., Heppner, says: "I was subject to severe attacks of lumbago. The pains were like a sharp knife sticking me in the back. When I had one of these attacks, the pain was so severe I could hardly move and when I got down it was paid to straighten up. My kidneys acted irregularly and were congested during these spells. Six boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills fixed me up in fine shape. My back has felt strong and my kidneys have caused me very little trouble since."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Schwarz had. Foster Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. Gay M. Anderson and children are visiting at the home of Mr. Anderson's parents at Vancouver, Wash. They were accompanied there last Wednesday by Mr. Anderson, who has since returned to Heppner.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

I will be a candidate for the nomination for county commissioner on the republican ticket before the coming Primary Election. Respectfully,
G. A. BLEAKMAN, Hardman Ore.

FOR SHERIFF.

Notice is hereby given that I will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for sheriff of Morrow county at the primary to be held in May.
WILLARD H. HERREN.

Mrs. J. E. Maxwell left Wednesday for a visit of two months with her daughter in San Francisco.

PEOPLE ENTITLED TO KNOW

"The people of Oregon are entitled to know my position on all matters of State and National importance," announced R. N. Stanfield, last week before starting on a tour of the state in the interest of his candidacy for United States Senator. "It is my intention to give them that information first-hand. This plan of campaign will also give me an opportunity to gain more detailed information as to the state and its needs, of which in a general way, I already have considerable knowledge."

"HAPPINESS," TRIANGLE PLAY STARS ENID BENNETT

Enid Bennett will be presented in her third starring play, "Happiness," a comedy drama by C. Gardner Sullivan, at the Star theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Miss Bennett demonstrates her versatility by playing a role entirely different than that in the "Princess of the Dark" or "Little Brother." She is a Philadelphia heiress, whom the Sunday newspapers have described as "the richest and most snobbish girl in America." As a matter of fact she is so restricted by smug conventions that she has no opportunity to make friends. Because of her reputation for piggishness she meets a cold reception from students at the college which she attends. Her real happiness begins when she meets a boy who is working his way through college by taking in washing.

A notable Ince caste supports the star. Charles Gunn appears as the "college washerwoman." Little Thelma Salter, the eight-year-old star, acts as his partner in the "soapsuds trust." Gertrude Claire, famous as the sweet faced mother in "The Coward," "The Wolf Woman," "The Crab" and other plays, will scarcely be recognized as the owlish old governess who stalks after the girl. Andrew Arbuckle is the bluff, jovial uncle who sets the girl free of stupid conventionalities with which her aristocratic aunt, Adele Belgrade, has surrounded her. Jack Gilbert, as a dapper college chappie, is another of the best Ince players who figures in this whimsical play.

The production was directed by Reginald Barker and photographed by Robert Newhardt. Robert Bunton was in charge of the art direction.

"THE MAN WHO MADE GOOD."

"The Man Who Made Good," a Triangle play produced under the supervision of Allan Dwan and featuring Jack Devereaux and Winifred Allen, which will be shown at the Star theatre next Sunday and Monday, is a brisk, up to the minute comedy dealing with a young couple who determine to make good in New York city.

They meet over the perennial prune dessert at a New York boarding house. They are attracted to one another and soon decide upon matrimony. Tom has just enough money to make the initial payment on a home, offered for sale on the dollar down plan.

His wife is ambitious for him and, determining she will not be a handicap to his future, she obtains a position as maid of all work, telling him that she is visiting her cousin. Tom demands a raise of salary. His employer refuses, and so the young man sets forth to capture opportunity. He rides the bumpers with a hobo, he washes dishes in a restaurant, he sleeps on the park benches and finally decides to demonstrate the perfection of Whittier crackers, which are not selling well through the country for the reason that the salesman of the territory is double crossing the company. He carries on a whirlwind campaign and is soon able to dictate his salary terms to the company.

Jack Devereaux will be recalled for his snappy impersonation of the young business man in "Her Father's Keeper." Miss Allen makes her debut with Triangle in this picture, although she has appeared in numerous productions by other companies.

"THE GREATER LAW."

Bluebird is sending to the Star theatre on Saturday only one of the most pictorially beautiful photoplays ever turned out by that producing firm—and there have been many beautiful Bluebirds. "The Greater Law," in which Myrtle Gonzalez, Geo. Hernandez and Lawrence Peyton are featured players, was photographed in dead of winter among the Sierras near Truckee, Calif. As the story by Chas. J. Wilson, Jr., has its scenes placed in Alaska, the frost-locked peaks of the Sierras were called upon to provide a suitable backing for the exciting episodes that abound during the five acts of "The Greater Law." The play gets its title from the action of a girl who took the law into her own hands when she went to Alaska to avenge the death of her brother. Her one mistake resulted from placing too much dependence upon the word of a villain who was, himself, guilty of the crime—and never paid the penalty. Truth, to tell the "crime" was never committed, and his fact leads to a surprise finish but climaxes a series of gripping incidents, fraught with ruggel strife and embellished with an engaging love theme. Amid mountain peaks and crystal landscapes, backed by forests of evergreens, the actors in "The Greater Law" waded through snow knee deep in depicting a narrative that will delight, not alone in its interest as entertainment, but in the natural grandeur and beauties reflected in its photography.

RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE.

Whereas, it has pleased our Divine Father in Heaven to take from our order our beloved Sister Cecil W. Shurte, therefore be it Resolved that San Souci Rebekah Lodge No. 33, while we as a body of fraternal Sisterhood realize our inability to reverse the decree of the Almighty that will eventually enroll us one and all with the departed.

We are nevertheless in hearty sympathy with the relatives of our departed Sister, who was near and dear to them. Hence, while life is extended to us, let us follow that example of our Sister and improve every opportunity of doing our part to perpetuate the grand tenets of our beloved order.

S. P. Devin received a serious and painful injury to his right foot last week when he stepped on a nail, which entered the ball of his foot. During his absence from Gurdane & Sons, his position is being filled by Walter Cason.

Dr. N. E. Winnard was called to the Miller home south of Hardman Monday to administer to Wm. Miller, who has a serious case of the measles. Mr. Miller is suffering also from heart trouble.

Systematic Saving is The Road to Success

To earn a little money,—and spend a little less, means Happiness.

And, too, in these trying times, saving is a patriotic duty every man, woman and child owes to his or her Country.

The way to save systematically is to keep an account, day by day, month by month, and year by year, of what you spend, and, knowing your necessities, save before you spend.
