"THE LITTLE TERROR"

"The Little Terror" will be the entertainment provided at the Star theater on Saturday only when "Bluebird Day" is again celebrated. Violet Mersereau, popular star of many earlier Bluebirds, will play the role of a circus rider, orphaned when her father meets accidental death, and is then translated to high society for education and development. The boyish conduct of the little circus queen gives the story its title, and Director Rex Ingram has developed a photoplay of exciting interest, albeit no crime, villainy or sociological problems are involved in the narrative. There are thrills galore in the circus episodes and no end of natural and effective comedy follow the advent of the little rider into society. Altogether "The Little Terror" will sustain the excellent reputation Bluebirds have established for clear, wholesome and effective entertainment.

DOROTHY DALTON IS FASCINATING WIDOW IN NEW TRIANGLE PLAY.

The latest Triangle play, "Wild Winship's Widow," by John Lynch, in which Thomas H. Ince will present Dorothy Dalton as star, is a comedy of manners and good clothes. The story is enacted in a fashionable southern resort where a few old magnates of the first families of Virginia stand in the background and lend dignity and tone to the functions at the great hotel of the place.

Miss Dalton's part is that of a young and beautiful widow, who has placed the memory of an unworthy spouse upon a pedestal, made an idol of it and extracted an immense amount of enjoyment out of her misery. But she discovers her mistake and becomes almost reckless in her attempts to prove that she is still young and attractive enough to get real zest out of life and to win the admiration of the masculine sex. The result is that she gets more devotion than she really cares for and has to resort to certain very feminine wiles to extricate herself from the demands of her suitors.

CORN WILL WIN DEMOCRACY'S WAR

America's Greatest Cereal Crop Is Now Moving to Market.

MAINSTAY IN NATION'S CRISIS.

Surplus Wheat of the United States Has Been Sent to Famine Threatened Europe.

America's great corn crop, exceeding 3,000,000,000 bushels, will save the world's food situation, officials of the United States food administration believe.

Corn is the nation's best food cereal, housewives are beginning to realize. It contains all the elements needed to keep the body in a state of health and when used according to the scores of tried recipes, especially when combined with an added portion of oil or fat, will sustain life indefinitely. Indian warriors in colonial days lived on parched corn alone for many days at a time, and at Valley Forge parched corn was at times the sole ration of the Continental soldiers.

Owing to transportation difficulties caused by the war the corn crop moved more slowly to market this year than ever before. Now, however, the cereal is reaching the millers and consumers. In the meantime the nation's surplus wheat has been sent to Europe.

Today there are approximately 30 bushels of corn for every American. This quantity is greater by five bushels than in former years.

Corn has become the nation's mainstay in the crisis of war.

Just as this cereal saved the first American colonists from famine on many occasions, just as it served as a staple food during the War of the Revolution and during the Civil War, King Corn has again come to the front in the nation's battle with autocracy.

Corn meal is finding greatly increased use in the making of ordinary white bread. Hundreds of housewives and many of the larger bakers are mixing 20 per cent. corn meal with wheat flour to make leavened bread. This kind of a mixture is worked and baked in the same recipes and with the same methods that apply to straight wheat bread.

Corn bread--using corn meal entirely--is gaining a greater popularity than ever before. Housewives are coming to realize that every pound of wheat saved in America means a pound of wheat released for shipment to the nations with which America is associated in the war.

There are a score of corn products that today possess unusual importance for Americans. Corn syrup for sweetening corn cakes and buckwheat cakes and for use in the kitchen instead of granulated sugar is one of the leading products made from corn.

Corn oil, excellent for frying and for every other purpose filled by salad oils, is appearing on the market in large quantities. It comes from the germ of the corn.

MADE-IN-GERMANY LIES CIRCULATED IN CANADA

Canada is also having trouble with Made-in-Germany lies circulated to hinder Canadian food conservation according to an official statement received from the Canadian food controller by the United States food administration.

The stories bothering Canada are of the same general character as those the United States food administrator recently denounced in this country, such as the ridiculous salt and blueing famine fakes and the report that the government would seize housewives' stocks of home canned goods.

The Canadian food controller estimates that when the people listen to and pass on such stories, each one has the power of destruction that lies in a battalion of soldiers.

"Stories without even a vestige of foundation have been scattered broadcast," said the Canadian statement. "Nor have they come to life casually. They have started simultaneously in different parts of the country and in each instance have been calculated to arouse public indignation.

"They are insidious, subtle, persistent. Bit by bit they dissipate public trust, the great essential in the work of food control.

"It lies with every individual to forbear from criticism; to refrain from passing on the vagrant and harmful story, and thus the more effectively to co-operate in work which is going to mean more than the majority of people yet realize."

THE UNITED STATES FOOD ADMINISTRATION SAYS:

There is no royal road to food conservation. We can only accomplish this by the voluntary action of our whole people, each element in proportion to its means. It is a matter of equality of burden; a matter of minute saving and substitution at every point in the 20,000,000 kitchens, on the 20,000,000 dinner tables, and in the 2,000,000 manufacturing, wholesale and retail establishments of the country.

Clandestine Circular Issued in Germany Attacks Rulers.

A copy of a broadside forbidden in Germany has reached the Committee on Public Information. It is a single sheet of foolscap size, printed on both sides, and bears a coarsely executed woodcut representing a soldier in arms, a workman in a blouse, and a woman shoving a rock of a precipice, beneath which is seen the head and bust of the Emperor, crowned and scattered and mounted, looking up in terror at the fate impending. The last paragraph of the text is as follows: "Man of toll, awake from slumber! Recognize thy growing might. All the wheels will lose their motion Without thy strong arm's devotion. Down with the war! Down with the Government! Peace! Freedom! Bread!"
