FRITZ RADER SHOTS MAN AT LONG CREEK

Fritz Rader of Long Creek shot E. E. McCue Wednesday afternoon at about eight miles north of Long Creek. Rader used a 32-calibre automatic revolver, sending one bullet through McCue's head and three thru the stomach. At nine o'clock Thursday morning the Eagle received a phone that McCue was still alive but that his chances for recovery were very slight.

Details are lacking, but it seems that the shooting was a result of a quarrel. After the shooting Rader went to the Caverhill place and told them what he had done and that they had better phone for Sheriff Howell as he did not care to go with a deputy. Sheriff Howell left for Long Creek horseback, Wednesday night and Thursday morning Rader came to Long Creek.

Just how the shooting occurred is not known, but it seems that Rader, accompanied by Frank Hale went to the McCue cabin. They entered the cabin, Hale thinking that a row was brewing went outside. He said he heard scuffling and re-entered the cabin. He told McCue that he would take Rader out, when the shooting took place.

McCue was a man about 45 years old. He has a wife and four children, who are now at the Kemp Hardisty place in the Trout creek country where McCue had Fred Nickles' place rented. About three weeks ago McCue took his horses which he had in Silvies over to the Johnson place which he had leased from Rader. It seems that Rader and McCue had had more or less misunderstanding over the terms of the lease and the matter had been the subject of prior controversy, although McCue was a man of a peaceful reputation.—Blue Mountain Eagle.

Later reports indicate that Mr. McCue died from wounds inflicted.

ARMY MAN WELCOMES RED CROSS SWEATER

Artilleryman at Fort Flagler Writes
To Mrs. Slocum of Lexington
Red Cross Thanking Her
For Splendid Articles
Sent.

Following is a letter received by Mrs. E. G. Slocum of the Lexington Red Cross auxiliary from Corporal Arnold M. Lindholm, Battery F, 63rd Artillery at Fort Flagler. The young man hails from Tacoma and his letter is filled with appreciation of the kind deeds performed by the Red Cross.

Fort Flagler, Saturday the 16th.
Dear Mrs. Slocum, Lexington Ore.,
Battery F 63rd Artillery (cac) of which I am a member, received with a hearty welcome, Red Cross knitted articles, this week.

I was and am a proud possessor of a grand sweater. On looking it over, as one eagerly would, in such a instance, I came across a typewritten slip with your name written thereon. Of course it was a "Mrs." but nevertheless many, many thanks.

Perhaps you have wondered many a time since turning same over to the Red Cross, whose hands your long, laborious work, this piece of skilled work fell into.

Well it has at last reached its destination, Corporal Arnold M. Lindholm, is my name.

I am Battery clerk, and therefore had my pick. I picked and sure drew lucky.

Not going beyond imagination it is the finest piece of knitted goods I have seen yet, and I have seen a great deal since I have been in the army.

I haven't as yet worn it as I have been waiting until I go on pass, so that I may show my mother what some people in this large country of ours will do.

As this is the first letter I have written you, I will not endeavor to go far into details, but I will say this; we are Tacoma boys, enlisted in the National Guard in April, all high school students. I, myself, am graduated. We are not drafts, we were called into the service July 25, 1917, and have been up to fort all the while. We expect soon to go to France.

Please write me, as I will be glad to hear from you at any time and also know that the one who knitted this sweater I am wearing actually knows where it has gone to, write real soon.

Yours truly,
ARNOLD LINHOLM.

MORROW BOY ENLISTS FOR DUTY IN FRANCE

The happiest man in Portland a few days ago was Mack M. Miller, who is going to France.

Miller was not 21 on war registration day, but because he thought he would get into the war more quickly that way he registered for the selective draft up in Morrow County, where he was driving an automobile stage. He told the exemption board he was 21 and a class 1-A man.

When after six months' waiting he hadn't been called and found he was barred from volunteering he told the exemption board the truth about his age. Meantime he had reached 21, and the board would not excuse him.

He haunted the offices, pleading for a chance to fight. If the army was barred to him, he wanted to go into the navy.

Last week the board gave him a note to the navy recruiting office in Portland saying that if he enlisted in five days it would waive claims to him.

At the navy recruiting office he found a waiting list of more than a 100 men ahead of him. He couldn't enlist in five days. He was doubtful if the navy could take him in less than five weeks.

Then Miller read about the 37th Engineers, electrical and mechanical, which is being recruited at 523 Beck building for service in France. He laid his troubles before Lieutenant Victor H. Braunig, in charge of recruiting for the 37th in Portland. Because Miller is an expert in gas engines, the 37th has a place for him. Lieutenant Braunig immediately telegraphed the exemption board in Morrow and secured the boy's release. He will be enlisted at once and will go to Fort Meyer, Va., for training. Within a few weeks he will be "over there."—Soldier's News Letter.

Griffith-Goodall

Miss Fannie Goodall, bookkeeper at Bert Mason's, and Elmer Griffith of the Ione Dray line surprised their many friends by being quietly married at Portland last Thursday. Both young people are of sterling worth and have a host of friends in this vicinity who join the independent in best wishes for a long, prosperous and happy wedded life. They returned home Sunday evening and have been busy all week receiving the congratulations of friends.—Ione Independent.
