

HEPPNER BOY FEEDS FISH IN GOING OVER

Boile Van Bibber, Now With Air Service, A. E. F., Describes Journey to France and Says Learning French Is One Big Task for Him.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bowker of this city have received the following interesting letter from Boile Van Bibber, who is now on the Western front somewhere in France. Mr. Van Bibber was a mechanic at the Heppner garage for a number of years and enlisted in the aerial branch of the service shortly after declaration of war.

Somewhere in France, Feb. 10, '18. Dear Friends:

I received your card and was certainly glad to hear from you, you don't know how good it makes a fellow feel to get a letter from home.

I am in France and have been for some time. We left the U. S. shortly after I wrote to you. I cannot tell you the dates or anything of the kind as everything going out is censored.

We had one awful trip, at least I did. I never was so sick in my life, and it lasted nearly all the way. I was sorry I didn't join the navy, but when that boat went over the bar "good-night," I felt myself slipping, so I went to bed, but when I got up for supper that was the beginning of the end and from then on I had a feeling as though I had been mixing drinks the night before. You don't need to expect to see me again until they bridge the ocean.

I have seen quite a bit of France since I have been here and like it fine. We have had some winter but it is warmer now. There is some of the stickiest mud here I ever saw.

This camp is just like being in the U. S. as we run everything, railroads and all.

I am having the d—est time learning French, it is like Chinese to me. I am working on planes now, that is repairing them which is very interesting work but I would rather work on automobiles. The planes have a "cut by censor" motor of "and" "and" cylinders and will fly almost straight up.

I cannot tell you everything in a letter but wait until I get back, I will tell you all I know about the war and teach you all I know about flying. What branch is Nagl in and what is his address? If he comes across I will hunt him up the first time I get a chance.

We are going to whip the Kaiser this summer then I am coming back. I am going to bring you a French maid.

Must close with best wishes to all, tell everyone to write. Yours respectfully,

ROLPH VAN BIBBER,

Air Service A. E. F.

P. S.—I saw Lige Pierce the other day, you will remember him.

From A Patriot Mother.

Monmouth, Or., March 5.—To the Editor of the Gazette-Times: I would say a word to comfort the mothers, sisters, wives and sweethearts. Our boys go across to France smiling. They know they are doing what God has planned for them to do. They know they are going to give life. If necessary, for this beautiful land made from God's own mind; that it may all be free. And as God gave his only son for the sins of the world, so are the mothers giving their sons. We know God will take care of them. If their lives are taken, they are in his hands. He gave the life, and is amply able to take charge of it again. So, while the mothers, sisters, wives and sweethearts cannot go, they can save, economize and be able to help feed the boys in the trenches. This war is according to God's own word, so it must be a part of the great plan. So let us all do our bit. It will all be added together and amount to a great lot. If the time comes that I have to part with my boy, I will try to do it with a smile, that he may not have the thought that he left his mother in tears, and the thought of my bravery will add to his. We all have to sacrifice, the rich and poor alike. God is no respecter of persons.
