WAR RECIPES.
(By Neva Childsey.)
The U. S. Food Administration asks every housewife to use as many potatoes as possible, in order to save more wheat. Following are a few potato recipes that will help in this.

Potato Soup.
2 cups hot diced or mashed potatoes
1 quart milk
2 slices onion
3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour (rice or corn flour)
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
Celery salt
Pepper
Cayenne
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
Scald the milk with the onion; remove the onion; add the milk slowly to the potatoes. Melt the butter; add to it the dry ingredients stir the mixture until well blended, and add the liquid mixture, stirring constantly. Boil the soup for one minute, strain if necessary, add the parsley and serve it. Water saved from cooking celery is a good addition to potato soup. Two cups of tomato juice and 1-16 teaspoon of soda may be substituted for two cups milk.

Stuffed Potatoes.
Cut baked potatoes in half, remove the pulp, mash it and add enough milk for the usual consistency of mashed potatoes, and season with butter, salt and pepper. Fill the cases with this mixture, dot the tops with butter, or brush them with milk and bake them from 8 to 10 minutes in a hot oven. Potatoes may be stuffed in the morning and reheated at noon or in the evening for dinner.

Variations: To the mashed potatoes before the cases are filled, may be added any one of a combination of the following:
a. Beaten white of egg (1 egg to 3 medium sized potatoes)
b. Grated cheese (1/2 cup to 3 medium sized potatoes)
c. Chopped meat (1/2 cup to 3 medium sized potatoes)
d. Chopped parsley (1 tablespoon to 3 medium sized potatoes)

Potato Cookies.
2 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
3/4 cup brown sugar
3 tablespoons shortening
1 egg well beaten
1 cup mashed potatoes
Cream together the butter and sugar, and add the well beaten egg and the mashed potatoes (free from lumps). Beat until smooth, then add the twice sifted flour, salt and baking powder. It will not usually be necessary to add any liquid. Mix dough until stiff enough to roll. Place on floured board, roll out about one-eighth inch thick, cut into rounds, and place on greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderately hot oven, until a delicate brown. Bake more slowly, than wheat flour cookies.

EA-GOVERNOR WEST.

With Stanfield as senator neither West nor the Oregon Journal would control the United States Senatorial delegation from Oregon, as they do today in a great measure, owing to the close ties between West, Chamberlain, McNary and the Journal. Stanfield is the kind of a man in whom the Journal could inspire no terror and with whom the whole West-Journal crowd would have no influence beyond that to which they would be entitled on the merits of anything they might propose. For Stanfield is a "he man."

Unquestionably West's declaration will have a powerful influence in causing republicans to rally to Stanfield. Most of the party leaders concede that if nominated Stanfield would run stronger against West than would McNary, as McNary is a colorless candidate, so much like West and such a follower of West that the people generally would prefer the real thing to the poor imitation. With West's following in the republican party and all the registered democrats voting for West, the only support McNary would have would be the remaining republicans who would place party above personal considerations and reluctantly vote for McNary simply to elect a republican United States senator even if he was a republican of the West variety.

It is notable that all over the state the Stanfield supporters are jubilant over West's declaration, as they regard it as a concession by the West-McNary forces that Stanfield is sure to get the republican nomination.

The possibility is hinted that should McNary be nominated by the republicans West would not be an aggressive candidate against him for the election. This possibility is hardly in line with West's character as a fighter, a man who keeps up a scrap into which he enters. Yet it is known that in Washington right up to the present time West and McNary are on the most intimate intimate terms. The possibility that West might "lay down" to McNary after the primaries is one that republicans are talking over, and every time it is talked over it makes votes for Stanfield. For the bulk of the republicans want to take no chances either on West or West's candidate.

Ever "Shop" for Shirt Comfort?

If not, it's well worth trying. Because there is such a thing as true shirt comfort—and it can be bought! The shirt you have on now—does it feel "pully" across the shoulders? Do you feel like your collar was too high? Are the sleeves a trifle long—or perhaps a trifle short? Yes. Then you were more interested in buying "just a shirt" than in buying real comfort plus a shirt, when you paid for the garment you now have on.

Beau Brummel Shirts

snaps with style—of course. The patterns are bright and "nifty" and every little detail is just right for appearance. That is to be expected—certainly. But that unseen thing—real comfort—is built into these shirts. You cannot see it—but you can feel it, the moment you put one on your back. Come here and buy one Beau Brummel Shirt—just one. Wear it—get the feel of a really perfect fitting shirt. Then decide whether you want "just a shirt" or another Beau Brummel.
