A Happy Reunion.

(Mont Moriah Clipper, Mont Moriah, Mo.)
 I never clasp a friendly hand, In greeting or farewell But thoughts of my Eternal home, Within my bosom swell.

On Sunday, April 14, while Aunt Cindy Handcock was preparing her usual dinner for the family, a number who had come to spend the day, a stranger in a Ford stopped at the gate and asked to be admitted as a guest. The stranger proved to be her brother, James Melton, who left Harrison county, Missouri, fifteen years ago, and went with his faithful wife and three boys and one grandson to make their home in the state of Oregon. Since which time, like many others he has been called to pass through deep waters. Death claiming a victim, the dear old companion, whom we loved, and who we missed so much when we saw him alone. Also the eldest son who was suddenly killed by the falling of a huge tree in the great forest of Washington. And yet, not withstanding all the disappointments and sorrows of life, nature has been very kind in caring for him physically, as all were happily surprised to see him looking so strong and well both in body and mind. He expressed himself in the words—"This is one of the happiest days of my life."

What an inspiration it should be to all Christian men and women that, though cold winds of sorrow may blow upon us, taking the objects, the very idols of our heart, then old age creeps upon us, robbing us of ambitions and dreams of youth—happy yet he clasped the hands of sisters, brother, and the host of nieces, nephews and others who had come to greet him.

There were present two sisters, Lucindy Handcock and Emily Clark and husbands, his only brother, Henry, and two girls, Florence and Irene, a grandchild, Mrs. Mabel Fullerton and family, Aunt "Lib" Chambers, a very dear old friend and a number of other relatives. All showing by their tears and smiles, their appreciation of another opportunity of looking into his dear old face once more. May God add His benediction of peace.

A NIECE.

C. E. LUNDELL.

Emil Lundell, well known Gooseberry farmer passed away at the home of his parents near Gooseberry on Saturday evening, May 4, after a short illness. The immediate cause of death was intestinal trouble, although Mr. Lundell had not enjoyed good health for years. He took suddenly ill while at work in the field and it was only by the greatest effort that he was able to reach the house. This was on Friday and from that time until Saturday evening when death came, his suffering is said to have been intense.

The funeral was held on the following Monday from the Swedish church at Gooseberry, many friends of the departed being present to pay their last respects. The services were conducted by Rev. S. M. Hill, the pastor, and burial was made in the Swedish cemetery near Gooseberry.

Carl Emil Lundell was born at Ostergotland, Sweden in 1873, and came to America with his parents and located in California in 1882. ## IRRIGATING HIGH LAND WHEAT FIELDS INNOVATION IN MORROW COUNTY--NEWLON DOES IT

Huge System For Irrigation on Dry Lands Has Been Installed at the Newlon Artesian Well Farm—Flow of 1600 Gallons Per Minute Has Been Made Possible With Rapid Action Pump.

Can you imagine a system of irrigating ditches carrying water in large quantities to the wheat fields in that section of country lying just north of the base line in Morrow county?

Perhaps a visit to the W. D. Newlon farm next Sunday will convince you that such a thing is being done, if you ever thought it impossible, to say the least impracticable. By dint of keeping everlastingly at it, Mr. Newlon was able to demonstrate finally that artesian water could be secured in the "banana belt" of Morrow county. The first flow was struck in October, 1915. Since that time, Mr. Newlon has been devoting his energies to putting the water to a practical use.

Although the flow from the well was good, it did not come fast enough to suit energetic Newlon, so he has installed a pump which has a capacity of 1250 gallons per minute, although it has been speeded up in trial tests to pump 1600 gallons. A series of ditches have been constructed, which now carry the water to a large wheat field north and west of the well. At the present time the water will irrigate 250 acres of the wheat land, besides taking care of a large area on the bottom in and near the farm house.

The Newlon home, which was formerly owned by R. B. Rice before he sold to the Newlons for $25,000, was not unlike many of the other farms in that particular section, but since the water has been found, a demonstration has been made of what water will do if applied properly. Today the Newlon farm is a veritable "oasis in the desert." Prices on all land in that section have jumped in the last two years, since it has been proven in a most practical way what can be done by practical farmers using practical methods. And the discovery of artesian well water will be a boon to more rapid development in the future. Newlon is firmly of the opinion that he has "tapped" the pacific ocean. So far as quantity goes, that might be true, but anyone who has tasted the artesian flow, which comes spouting from the lower regions, and of such pure and sparkling qualities, knows that the water comes from anywhere but the Pacific ocean or the great Salt Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Newlon are making preparations to show visitors over their project next Sunday and it will be worth your time to motor out there, about 11 miles north of Lexington and see what these people are doing to make a bigger and better Morrow county.

Marshal Phelps Flying in Florida.

According to the last word received from their son Marshal by Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Phelps of this city, he is still flying in Florida, being stationed at Miami. Marshal is in rather a unique branch of the service, inasmuch as he enlisted in the marines and has since then been transferred along with a company of marines to duty in the aviation service. Mr. Phelps was chosen on account of the excellent record he had attained for marksmanship. He believes that his company will be going over before long as the men were recently given an order to requisition heavier clothing.

Camp Lewis Man Gets Furlough.

Royal Wakefield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Wakefield, who has been encamped with the national army at American Lake, Wash., during the past several months, has arrived home to spend an extended furlough. Under the arrangements now made, boys who so desire, may be called on extensive furloughs from the camps to the farm, to assist in putting in the crops or to help take care of the harvest work. Before being called to the colors, Roy was his father's right hand man on the big Wakefield wheat ranch just west of town. His furlough is for six weeks.

Dan Hanshew, who formerly farmed in the Black Horse section, is up from Hillsboro this week on business. Mr. Hanshew is about to take his ranch back and may again become a citizen of Morrow county.
