P. S. Greenwood of the state highway department, and W. C. Bowling, local baker, motored to Pendleton last Sunday. Mr. Greenwood will report in Dallas soon, where he registered in the draft and will leave on the 25th for the training camp.

W. L. Houston, saw mill man, was down the last of the week from Parkers Mill, where he is now operating. He reports the lumber industry progressing satisfactorily. Mr. Houston was accompanied by his son, who is associated with him in the timber and saw mill business.

Crockett Kirk enjoyed a visit for a few days the past week with his brother, J. T. Kirk and family of Eugene, who came in on him rather unexpectedly Friday last. After visiting with other relatives here, also, Mr. and Mrs. Kirk started on their return home Tuesday. They were traveling by auto.

Chas. Pointer, well known farmer of the Lexington section, was brought to the Heppner Sanatorium Sunday by Drs. Chick and Purkey and underwent an immediate operation. He withstood the ordeal well and is now on the way to recovery. Drs. Chick and McMurdo performed the operation.

Mrs. Lillie Cohn was over from her home at Pendleton on Tuesday to attend the funeral of her friend, the late Mrs. Charles Thomson. She returned home Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Thomson taking her over in his car, being accompanied on the trip by his two little sons and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Prunyn. They expect to remain over a day in Pendleton.

Mrs. George Perry and her daughter, Mrs. Earl Gilliam, departed Wednesday for American Lake, Washington, where they go for a short visit with Mrs. Perry's son, George, at the training camp. Mr. Perry expects to leave with the 91st Regiment for the front in France, perhaps by the 25th of this month and his mother and sister were anxious to see him before his departure.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh C. Githens and daughter Bernice left Saturday by auto for western Oregon, their destination being Monmouth, where they are this week attending the annual commencement exercises of the State Normal school. Miss Lera Githens is a graduate of that institution this year and has already engaged a teaching position at Halfway, Oregon, for the coming year.

Robert H. Young, former Morrow county boy who was called in the recent draft with a contingent from Multnomah county, has notified his father, J. S. Young of this city, that he is being sent home on account of physical disqualifications. Bob enlisted last year in the Marines and was finally discharged after spending many weeks in the hospital. He expects to take up his old job in Portland.

Frank Turner passed through town Sunday with his shearing outfit. He was on his way out to Parkers Mill where his crew will shear out a band of sheep, and then continue on to Shaniko and spend a couple of weeks in shearing out several bands there. This will finish up the shearing for Mr. Turner and his crew in this part of the country. We did not learn whether he will go to Montana for the balance of the season.

Mrs. O. M. Whittington left a week ago last Wednesday for her old home at Newton, Ill., to be with her father, P. D. Kibler, who is in extremely poor health. Another daughter of Mr. Kibler, Mrs. N. A. Clark, has been in the East for several weeks, being accompanied on her trip by Mr. Clark. However, according to word recently received by relatives here, Mr. Clark expects to leave for home in a few days.

George W. Verdot, a Heppner business man, was married to Marie Shupp at the office of city recorder J. P. Williams in this city Tuesday evening. Mrs. Verdot comes from Jennings, Oklahoma, a town where a number of Mr. Verdot's relatives live. The marriage was a result of correspondence which had been carried on for some time. They will make their home in the rear of the Verdot store on May street.

C. A. Roeder, representing the Paramount-Artcraft pictures, was in the city today from Portland and while here signed up a contract with J. B. Sparks of the Star theater. The Paramount-Artcraft pictures are high class, showing such stars as Mary Pickford, Wm. S. Hart, Douglas Fairbanks, Julian Eltinge and Mr. Shorty Arbuckle, of the Mack Sennott comedies. These films come much higher to Mr. Sparks than the old programs, but in his efforts to give the public the best there is and to please everybody, he is not stopping at the cost.

The Flag Day services which were held under the auspices of the Heppner Lodge of Elks were very pleasing and appropriate. The ritualistic part of the services as observed by the Elks is indeed beautiful. Exalted Ruler H. T. Allison presided. The address of the evening was by S. E. Van Vactor and the tribute from the lodge to the flag was paid by F. A. McMenamin. Both men used strong patriotic words in their addresses and both received the hearty applause of their audience. Miss Kathryn Pattison recited "To The Flag" in a most pleasing manner.

Dr. Turner, eye specialist of Portland, will be at Palace Hotel, Heppner, again Monday, June 24th. One day only. Ione Tuesday, June 25th.

NORTHWEST WINS EDITORS' CONVENTION

Session at Little Rock Votes to Accept Invitation.

In 1915 the editors of the United States will hold their national convention in Oregon, Washington and British Columbia. This point has just been decided at the present session of the National Editorial Association at Little Rock, Arkansas, where a delegation from the Northwest Tourist Association fought a winning fight to secure the meeting for their district.

Invitations were extended by Toledo, Philadelphia, Kansas City, San Francisco, Detroit, Chicago and last but not least, the Great Northwestern section, comprising the states of Washington and Oregon and the Province of British Columbia.

This invitation was backed up in person by Herbert Cuthbert, chairman executive secretary of the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association, representing the governments of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia; Frank P. Goss, representative of the Washington State Press Association, and E. E. Brodie, representative of the Oregon State Press Association; Lieut. C. L. Armstrong, representing the Provincial Press Association of British Columbia. These gentlemen each spoke of the plans that were made for this convention, stating that it would be largely a convention on wheels, spending equal time in each of the states and province.

An attempt will be made to show the resources and industry of each section as are of natural importance and which are being developed and carried on in connection with the great object of winning the war. All was going well, and it seemed that the battle would be won for the West without a shot being fired, when a resolution was introduced by the executive committee to the effect that owing to unsettled conditions brought about by the war, and the uncertainty of transportation facilities, this body advised that the convention take no action whatever regarding next year's meeting, but leave it to the executive committee to not only decide the place, but also whether or not a convention would be held at all. This brought the Northwestern folk to their feet, and the Arkansas friends, also, took active part in the spirited discussion that followed.

In the midst of the discussion a telegram was read which quoted Geo. Croel, as speaking for the government administration, recommending that conventions of newspaper men such as this were more necessary now than ever before, to go over the work that the government required them to do. This was perhaps a strong factor in the vote that defeated the resolution of the executive committee.

A resolution was then introduced recommending that the invitation of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia be accepted, and the convention held under the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack that float together over this great Northwestern section of our country.

The Westerners who made the campaign for the 1915 convention being held in the Pacific Northwest worked in cooperation. They presented a united cause. It was not a plea of Seattle, but rather one of the great West, Oregon and Washington struck hands with British Columbia, and they all promised plenty of entertainment in the matter of trips over that country.

A beautiful lithographed and hand-painted poster had been prepared by the representatives of the Northwestern section, copies of which were distributed to each of the delegates.

McADOO CALLS ON BANKS FOR HELP

$6,000,000,000 Indebtedness Certificates to Be Issued Before Liberty Loan in October.

Washington, June 16.—The bank and trust companies of the country will be asked to finance the government to the extent of $6,000,000,000 for the period which will intervene between June 25 and the next Liberty loan, which probably will be fixed for the first two weeks of October.

Secretary McAdoo, in a circular letter to the banks and trust companies, outlines the scheme of financing on certificates of indebtedness which will be called into play the latter part of this month. He says:

"The expenditures of the government as nearly as can be estimated, will require the sale of certificates of indebtedness up to the first of November, 1916, aggregating approximately $6,000,000,000. This would involve the issue every two weeks of $750,000,000 of certificates substantially similar in character to those issued prior to the third Liberty loan, except that they will have various maturities not exceeding four months. For the month of July and August that program will be followed as nearly as possible.

"The first issue of certificates will be dated June 25, and will mature October 25, with interest at 4 1/2 per cent and similar issues, it is expected, will be made on Tuesday of every other week following June 25."

The general public is not to be entirely out of participation in these government loans. Under a scheme worked out by Secretary McAdoo it will be permitted large participation, and the reason why Mr. McAdoo urged new war revenue legislation at this session of congress becomes more apparent in the probability that certificates of indebtedness will be sold to the public against the taxes to be received under the new bill. Secretary McAdoo says:

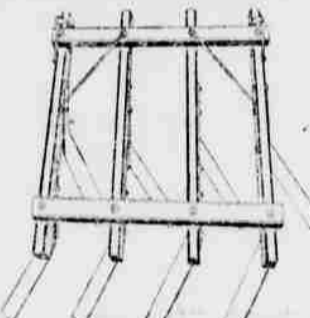

"It is now contemplated that at a convenient and favorable period during the summer an offering will be made to the general public, directly through the banks, of an amount yet to be determined, perhaps $2,000,000,000 of certificates of suitable maturities for use by taxpayers in paying next year's taxes, viz: Taxes payable June, 1919, levied under existing and pending legislation.

"To the extent that certificates of that character are sold, substantially an equivalent reduction in the amount of the regular fortnightly sale of certificates issued in anticipation of the next Liberty loan will be affected.

"National and state banks are expected to take the certificates up to 2 1/2 per cent of their gross resources for every period of two weeks, or a total of about 5 per cent monthly."

In his letter to the banks and trust companies Secretary McAdoo makes the following appeal to patriotism:

"Already more than 700,000 of our splendid American boys are on the soil of France, and many of them are actually fighting among the heroic defenders of the western front. Fresh contingents of American troops are constantly going forward to France and this stream will not stop until there is enough of American manhood and valor on the battle line to defeat the Kaiser and his minions, and force peace upon the righteous basis which will make secure the liberties of mankind. America's sons are dying daily in these battles of fire and poison gases now raging in France. The heart of every American must thrill with pride and emotion as he thinks of the sacrifices our sons are making for our safety and our liberty. The bankers of the United States can render a particularly helpful service to our gallant sons by keeping the treasury of the United States supplied with the money required by the government to furnish every American hero with the things he must have to fight victoriously or to die gloriously. I am sure that no patriotic banker in the United States will fail to do his full meed of essential service to his country and her noble defenders."

Don't Envy the Good Dresser--- You Can Look As Well As He

Elegance in dress usually means attention to details. The most perfect costume will have its appearance ruined by a pair of rusty shoes. An ill-fitting shirt will make an otherwise perfect costume look "frowsy."

A man's shirt deserves special attention—if he is particular as to his appearance. Don't let your shirts make you look "cheap;" make them add to your dress.

BEAU BRUMMEL SHIRTS

are splendid examples of the master designer's art. They fit perfectly everywhere—do not pinch or bind anywhere.

They are cut from tested fabrics, and will withstand wear better than you expect—coming from the laundry, time after time, good-looking and young in color and fabric.

There's a Beau Brummel shirt here that will exactly please you. It is marked at a price you will be glad to pay, and it will be a joy every time you put it on.
