

Town and Country.

Cold weather will be on us in less than 90 days. Have you got your fuel yet?

W. H. Padberg, leading Clarks Canyon farmer, was doing business in Heppner yesterday.

Shelly Baldwin is getting in the stone foundation for his new residence. Vic Groshens is doing the work.

Harold Dobyns was among the young men from Ione in Heppner yesterday taking his examination.

He has been released from the draft and will go to Portland immediately to enlist in the Navy.

Glenn Jones arrived home on Saturday evening on a short furlough from the Naval station at Mare Island. His stay will be of such length that he can help much with the harvest work on the Jones farm.

The lumber is now arriving on the ground for the new cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Huston, and work of construction will begin in a few days on the basement, the excavation being about completed. Henry Johnson and Sons will have the contract.

S. W. Spencer and wife and A. L.

Ayers and wife send word to friends in Heppner that they were at Foley Springs on the upper McKenzie river the past week, where they enjoyed a dip in the pool. They will go on to southwestern Oregon before returning, taking in the coast country about Coos Bay.

County Clerk Waters is in Ione today on business connected with the C. T. Walker estate.

Editor Pattison of the Herald returned the first of the week from Portland, where he was the past week selecting a new printing plant for his paper.

Wm. Haylor departed for Portland Monday and will be absent in the metropolis for several days. He will select his holiday stock while below. Arthur Smith is holding the bench at the store during Mr. Haylor's absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Dykstra of Balm Fork were pleasant callers at this office on Wednesday. Mr. Dykstra is getting ready to begin his wheat harvest and thinks from present indications he will have an average yield of 16 to 18 bushels to the acre. He is just finishing up his hay harvest.

Mrs. Della Hallock writes this paper from Rockaway beach that they are having ideal weather and a good crowd of people. The Heppner contingent is enjoying a fine outing at this beach resort this summer. Mrs. W. R. Irwin and children are among the latest to take up their abode there.

A letter received at this office yesterday from Art Crawford, states that he is now busy working in one of the big Government ship yards in San Francisco, making good wages and enjoying the work fine. He works for the Bethlehem Steel Co. who are engaged in turning out steel ships for Uncle Sam.

One sergeant and 5 men of the Oregon State Police arrived at Heppner last evening from Pendleton, to remain in this section during the harvest season or until further orders. These men are here to cooperate with the local home guard and fire-fighters and will be ready to go to any part of the county where needed.

Raymond Thornton is convalescing from an operation for appendicitis and is now able to be about the streets again. He was suddenly attacked about two weeks ago and his physician, Dr. McMurdo found it necessary to operate on him at once. Previous to this, Mr. Thornton had never had any symptoms of the trouble whatever.

Showers of rain in the Heppner country laid off a number of the heading and threshing crews yesterday. The rain was quite general over the Heppner Flat and Eight Mile sections but was of short duration. Farmers from Eight Mile are felling quite good over what rain fell out that way as it is going to benefit the late Spring grain and cause the taters to enlarge.

Joe Howell came in from Hardman yesterday to get a badly cut finger attended to by the doctor. Joe was foolish enough to use the axe on his finger when cutting some kindling wood to start the fire for supper Tuesday evening, and the stroke of the axe came near severing the first finger of his left hand. Dr. Winnard patched up the injured member and Joe thinks he will put it up to his wife to get the kindling hereafter.

Ernest Hunt was going about on three legs the most of he past week, because of a mixup with a team and self binder out at the Bob Thompson ranch. Ernest was driving a team consisting of two mules and one horse, and the horse becoming frightened caused the mules to go wrong also, and there was a lively race down the hill, a collision with the fence and a "spill" for Mr. Hunt. He fortunately got out of the trouble with only a badly bruised hip, but the machine was badly demolished, looking very much like a pile of old scrap iron as a result. Ernest says that if his team had been all mules there would have been no trouble.

HEPPNER WITNESSES

The Names of Heppner Persons Familiar To All.

Who are the witnesses? They are Heppner people—Residents of Heppner who have had kidney backache, kidney ills, bladder ills; who have used Doan's Kidney Pills. These witnesses endorse Doan's.

One Heppner resident who speaks is F. M. Bayless. He says: "I have found Doan's Kidney Pills all that is claimed for them as a remedy for lame back and kidney disorders. Of late years, I have had very little kidney trouble. When I notice my kidneys are out of order I take Doan's Kidney Pills and they soon remove the trouble."

Rain Came Down in Sheets.

Henry Stender and son were up from their farm northwest of Ione yesterday, the young man appearing before the local draft board to take his examination. Mr. Stender states that the storm of last week did him but little damage, there being no hail at his place. The rain, however, came down in sheets and was driven by a fierce wind, this having the effect of breaking down much of the wheat. He was busy in the field with his heading at the time. The water raised several feet in the gulch passing his house. While the storm was at its height the water raged down the canyon to such a depth that there was no chance whatever of getting over. Mr. Stender had a large portion of his grain headed and the damage to his crop was light as a consequence.

Moonshiner Captured.

Ben Jerrell, the moonshiner, who escaped at the time of the recent raid on Butter creek, was captured Saturday by Sheriff T. D. Taylor at Sanders, Ida. The sheriff received a tip that Jarrell was in that vicinity and left Friday evening, reaching Tekoa Saturday morning, where he secured a team and drove out to Sanders, about 20 miles southeast of Tekoa, and found his man out in the woods hunting squirrels. When he received the command to surrender, he quit at once and returned with Mr. Taylor without any trouble whatever and is now in the county jail awaiting further action of the courts.

Jerrell told one of the men in jail here that he spent four days in Heppner while the officers were scouring the countryside for him after he made his escape in the dusk on the night of the raid.

According to his story, he ran about 20 yards into the heavy brush and then laid down. When the searchers passed beyond him, he doubled back, took a couple of drinks from a cached barrel of liquor, found a bottle and filled it and "hoofed" it to Heppner.

After remaining there until he thought it was safe, he went on to Arlington where he remained for five or six days more, then crossed the river and made his way north to where he was finally located.

He had not changed since his first capture except that he is wearing a brown suit of clothes and has improved his appearance considerably since the night when he was found asleep at the side of the still.

He will be held here waiting the arrival of a federal officer to take him to Portland where he is indicted with the two other men now serving a short term in the county jail. They were fined $600 and given a 30-day sentence each.—Pendleton Tribune.

Spray Sheepman Dies Suddenly.

Henry C. Breeding, a prominent sheepman of Spray, Ore., passed away Saturday at Ukiah, from an acute attack of appendicitis, after having been carried for more than 15 miles over mountain trails to reach a physician.

Mr. Breeding was one of the partners of the firm of Spray, Templeton & Breeding and at the time of his seizure was looking after the interests of the firm in the mountains back of Ukiah. He started to get out to reach a doctor, and part of the journey was made on horseback and part of the way he was carried, traveling in this manner something over 15 miles before a road was reached so an auto could be secured to take him to Ukiah. Word had been sent ahead for Dr. Devaul, the Ukiah physician, but the doctor was absent and before word could be gotten to him and he got back to Mr. Breeding, the patient had succumbed to the attack and passed into the Great Beyond.

The body was brought to Pendleton, where it was prepared and shipped to Spray for interment. The deceased was 38 years of age.—Pendleton Tribune.
