Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cronk and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Devin motored up from Ione Friday and spent several hours in Heppner. The ladies were looking after Red Cross work, while Bill and Charlie just visited around and looked nice.

Misses Lea Briggs and Mary Notson left for Salem on Saturday. These young ladies will enter Willamette University for the coming year and will have rooms together at Salem.

FUEL NEWS

Portland, October 2.—In enforcing the skip-stop streetcar service in Portland yesterday as a war and fuel conservation measure, Fred J. Holmes, fuel administrator for Oregon, stated that it would be his policy to do everything possible to save householders from discomfort during the coming nation-wide fuel shortage this winter. Through the enforcement of the skip-stop service the power needed by the street car company will be cut down and a large part of 20,000 tons of coal and a large quantity of fuel oil ordered for their auxiliary plants will be saved for other uses.

The nation now faces a coal deficiency of about 85,000,000 tons. In the face of this situation the needs of war industries, the army and navy, which are immense, must be met. At present coal production is the greatest in history, but demands of war are increasing far more rapidly than production.

Thus far Oregonians have not felt the weight of any fuel regulations, while in the East many regions now are on fuel rations and lightless nights are enforced in large cities.

"I do not want to put any restrictive regulations in force unless necessity compels," said Holmes. "With winter on and fuel diverted to the East however the problem of distribution will be a hard one according to present indications. Under the circumstances the best thing to be done is for householders and industries to lay in supplies now. If they fully cooperate it may be that we will not find it necessary to curtail supplies later."

Will Run Small Band of Sheep.

R. D. Allstott this week purchased 500 head of ewes from D. O. Justus and moved them to his place on Rhea creek, where he will care for them during the winter. Mr. Allstott runs the Walt Becket place on the creek and has sufficient feed to care for this number of ewes. He may also decide to branch out in farming and take over the Gilham place adjoining, but just at present is inclined to the belief that he will have about all he can care for in good shape.

Wanted in Portland for Felony.

In answer to a telegram from Mark W. Peterson, constable at Portland, Corporal Cummings of the Military Police went to Ione Friday and arrested A. D. Gillette, leaving with his prisoner for Portland on Sunday morning. Just what Gillette is charged with was not made known to the authorities here, further than the statement of the Portland constable that he held a warrant for his arrest on a criminal charge. Gillette has been about Ione for some little time.

WOMEN AND THE WAR

By MRS. HENRY P. DAVISON

Treasurer War Work Council
National Board Y. W. C. A.

In an Illinois prairie town lives a widow who launders seventeen baskets of wash a week and every night thanks God for having put pity into the hearts of women.

To her came one day a letter from her only son. He was then at Camp Funston, Kansas, learning to be a soldier. The letter begged her to come and see him before he was sent to France.

The mother opened the tin bank in which she had been hoarding her dimes and quarters against this day. The money was scarcely enough. Nevertheless she started. She walked the first eighteen miles. Then her strength gave out, and she took a train.

She did not know that visitors to Camp Funston stay in Junction City, eleven miles away. So she got off the train at Fort Riley. An officer set her right and she reached Junction City after dark. Somehow she found a rooming-house. Some on-there stole five dollars from her—five of the precious dollars she had earned over the wash tub and saved by walking. Terror-stricken, she crept out of the house when no one was looking.

Later in the night a soldier found her trembling in the street, and took her to the rooms of the Young Women's Christian Association, rooms which the War Work Council had opened as a clearing-house for troubles. The poor frightened woman was put to bed, but she was too miserable to sleep. The matron got up at daybreak, built a fire, and comforted her. The son's commanding officer was reached by telephone early in the morning, and the boy came to his mother on the first trolley-car he could catch.

The two spent long, low-voiced hours together, perhaps the last hours they will have this side of heaven. Every moment was as precious as a month had been last year. The old lady had still one present worry. The boy's bad cold might turn into pneumonia if she left him. But she had not money enough to stay another night and buy a ticket home. When the matron told her that her bed was free, she broke down and cried and cried.

"I did not know there was so much pity left in the world," she sobbed. She stayed till her boy's cold was better. Then she went back to her seventeen washings and her memories.

Because of the certainty of just such cases as this was Governmental sanction given to the activities of the War Work Council of the Y. W. C. A. From the Pacific to the Atlantic its field extends. Every state in the Union has its members. Urgent appeals for help are its cause and its inspiration. Women of every race and creed are its wards. The task of the War Work Council is tremendous.

When the United States entered the great war the Young Women's Christian Association was, as always, working among women. With the call to new duties its members did not abandon their old responsibilities. The War Work Council was formed as an emergency measure to take care of the women who were caught in some of the mazes of war, just as the parent organization has taken care of them through many years of peace. The varied activities decided upon by the War Work Council follow closely the needs of the different communities of the country. Secretaries trained in the methods of the organization were sent out broadcast. They were instructed to report to the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association in New York the lines of work which could be best followed in the various localities. These secretaries work in close cooperation with ministers, women's clubs, chambers of commerce, churches, military officials, and charitable societies. The record of a day's doings of a secretary reads like a novel, an economic treatise, and a psychological essay all compressed into a line-a-day entry.

A secretary sent out by the War Work Council must be equal to any emergency. Miss Lillian Hull at Chillicothe, close by Camp Sherman, hurrying along the street at nightfall came upon a forlorn couple. A Finnish soldier had found a job for his wife, so that she might come on from Cleveland. When she arrived she was refused the place because she spoke no English. Their money had been all spent on the railroad fare, and the soldier was due back at Camp. The situation was bad.

Thanks to Miss Hull a Chillicothe housewife now has an industrious and grateful domestic, a soldier is happy, and a soldier's wife is safe.

Army folks often benefit even more directly from the secretaries' work. In Bremerton, Washington, a secretary was accosted on the street by a sailor. She was a slender woman, and he had mistaken her for a girl.

"May I walk along with you?" he asked.

"Surely," she replied with mature understanding and intuition. "What is the matter? Are you homesick?" The lad's story came out with a rush. Yes, he was homesick, so hopelessly, despairingly heart sick that he was on the verge of deserting. But this woman gave him genuine sympathy and encouragement. She saved him to his country.

From north, south, east and west these pioneer secretaries sent in their reports. The appalling size of the undertaking was revealed to the War Work Council. Systematization of the work was the first step. Out of the multitudinous phases certain lines of work were revealed.

WITH the Deering Combined Harvester you can harvest your crop for one-half the expense you can any other way. Two men is all that is necessary to put your wheat in the sack.

The machine cleans the grain in perfect manner, takes out and saves all weed seed and leaves straw in bunches to be easily taken care of.

Can furnish them with or without an engine. Will have to have your order early in order to insure getting the machine. The factory is limited to a definite number of machines and when that number is reached there will be no more for anyone.

Jantzen Knit Wear

Why Does She Always Look So Trim?

—so comfortable and so warm. You know the sort of girl about whom that is often said and you wonder where she gets 'em. Whether she has on a JANTZEN sweater or sweater coat or sweater vest, the girls who wear them always look well dressed.

They're made in the latest fall and winter styles. Just ask one of our dealers to show you one of the slip-ons and see whether you can resist buying one for yourself. It's partly the long-fibered Northwestern wool we use, and there's a lot in the way we weave them. We've a wonderful variety of colors to choose from—yours is there waiting for you. Be sure and look for the label.

Pits and Shells for Gas Masks.

The War Department has requested the boys' and girls' clubs of the country to help collect fruit pits and nutshells, the carbon in which is used in making gas masks. Contests have been suggested among the million club members by the United States Department of Agriculture and the State agricultural colleges, which conduct the club work, to see which member, which club, which district, and which state can deliver the largest amount of material in the shortest time. Each member should try to furnish at least 200 peach pits, or 7 pounds of shells—enough material for 'one mask. Since more and better carbon is secured from the pits of peaches, prunes, and plums than from other sources, boys and girls should make it their special business to see that every home in their communities saves the pits of these fruits. They should also visit community and commercial canneries, hotels, restaurants, and bakeries. In addition, seeds should be collected from dates and olives, and shells and whole nuts be saved from hickory nuts, butternuts, English and native walnuts, and hazelnuts. The material may be delivered to the local Red Cross headquarters, which are acting as central stations for collecting and shipping.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moyer, who have been visiting in and around Heppner for several weeks past, left by auto on Saturday for Klamath Falls, Oregon, where they will reside for the winter. Mr. Moyer still owns his Blackhorse farm, which is being run by D. M. Ward, and was here looking after his crop interests. He contemplates going into the stock business in the Klamath country as soon as he is able to locate a place. He will keep posted on Morrow county affairs through the columns of the G.T.
