SOMETHING TO EAT.

The Holiday season, in this land of good living, has always been the time when men turned their thoughts to laden tables, and savory ovens, and the eating of the succulent wild things that have blessed the place of our heritage.

Not even the noble trenchermen of bonnie old England paid more heed to the Yule delights of the groaning board than did the American pioneers, and their sons and daughters to this day have not lost this zest; even though they may be restricted to a mince pie from the bake shop, or a plum pudding out of a can.

But, speaking of a feast, there is one that clings to our mind; hal-lowed by the years, and shrouded in the aromatic romantic mists of youth.

It was possum, a fat and tender possum.

Surrounded in its succulence with fat red yams.

A possum that had fattened on butternuts or anyway frost-ripened persimmons.

A possum caught by the darkey boy of the house, aided and abetted by two dozen neighborhood dogs of various low degree.

And with this masterpiece, steaming hot from the brick oven, there was hot johnny cake, and a little crooked-necked baked squash, and a plate of persimmons and butternuts, and wild plum butter, and wild grape jelly, and lots of it.

Maybe it was three possum that yaller boy got that time.

Anyhow, turkey, and chicken a la king, and baked oysters, and lobster, and spiced Virginia ham, and boiled canvas-back, and baked fillet of sole, and chestnut stuffed roast goose; all these fade back into the dull drear of commonplace beside this homely southern dinner.

We trust the new south doesn't lose its culinary skill, along with a lot of the other romantic customs and habits and environments that once made it marvelous.

Mrs. Kate Russel got returns on Wednesday from Chicago on her 32,000 pounds of wool. She had three clips which she held since 1916. Mrs. Russel was offered 24 cents a pound for her 1916 clip but held for a better price. This clip has now netted her 52 1/2 cents and those of 1917 and 1918, 54 1/2 and 57 1/2 cents respectively. The whole shipment will bring in the neighborhood of $20,000. Mrs. Russel and her husband lived on a homestead in the Trail Fork country about 35 years ago. She was left a widow several years ago and has added to her estate from time to time until now she and her son own about 6000 acres of the best grazing land in the country.—Condon Times.

MR. SHURTE COMES TO THE FRONT

Tells His Friends and Neighbors Of His Experience.
Every Heppner resident should read what Mr. Shurte says, and follow his example. He has used Doan's Kidney Pills and speaks from experience. Is there any need to experiment with imitations or untried kidney medicines?
C. W. Shurte, says: "Several years ago I was more or less subject to bladder trouble. The kidney secretions were unnatural and too frequent in passage. During these spells, my back felt weak and lame. After taking a few boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got over the bladder trouble and my back felt as strong as ever."
Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Shurte had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.
