

Latest Pictures Show Character of Great American

Two of the last pictures taken of former President Theodore Roosevelt show the true character of this famous American better than could be done in the most glorifying editorial. He was "strong and tender" at the same time, opposites always found in the make-up of all great leaders. On the left is "Teddy the fighter."

a characteristic pose as the world knew him when he would defy all in any fight for right. On the right is "Teddy the tender," with his grandson, Archie Roosevelt Jr., in his arms, because Teddy loved children, the true test of man. The insert is a recent picture of Colonel Roosevelt's widow, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt.

ARTISTS THINK HER THE MOST BEAUTIFUL

The world has again found "the most beautiful girl." Many great artists have passed the verdict that it is Justine Johnston, who, up until three years ago, was a small town beauty in upper New York state. In three short years she climbed to the top in the theatrical profession. In face and figure, she represents a type of beauty which is typically American.
