OREGON'S WEALTH RESTS WITH SOIL

Detailed Soil Surveys Now Under Way Should be Extended to Entire State.

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Jan. 14.—"The wealth of Oregon rests largely in the soil, and our permanent prosperity depends upon maintaining or improving the fertility of the fields and at the same time obtaining the maximum net profit per acre," says the report of Dr. A. B. Cardley, director of the Oregon agricultural experiment station.

Detailed soil surveys are under way and should be extended to cover every agricultural section of the state. The maps made in connection with the surveys serve as a basis for fertility and water investigations, and inform the farmer of the character of his soil and the best means of maintaining its fertility while at the same time getting maximum profits from his crops.

Almost three million acres of land have been included in approved irrigation projects in Eastern Oregon. Available water for all this land is scarce, and investigations are needed to determine the most profitable amount of water in each district and how farms should be cropped and managed.

More than three million acres of wet lands in Oregon need drainage. Much of this area consists of the most fertile lands in the state, and their reclamation would add at least $30,000,000 to the wealth of Oregon. A careful investigation by the experiment station is urgently needed to determine the best means of drainage.

Burnt over and logged off lands in Oregon are only a third of a million acres short of three million. Much of the land is good farming land, and investigations are needed to indicate the best means of bringing them into crop use.

OUR HONOR ROLL.

During the past couple of weeks it has been our pleasure to record the following new names and renewals on our Honor Roll. New names are especially appreciated, and these are coming right along. We are proud of the old friends who are dropping in with kind words of encouragement and putting their names on the paid in advance list. There is still room for a large number yet, and we hope that the responses may continue until our list has all been placed on a cash basis. Friends, we thank you.

BECAUSE OF THE INFLUENZA OUR JANUARY SALE IS OFF

MR. BUSINESS MAN:

How often have you heard men say, "I would sell my farm or stock, as the case may be, tomorrow, if it weren't for the INCOME TAX," and at the same time, they would have no idea what their income tax would be in case of sale?

Do you know that the amount of your income tax depends largely on the plan and terms under which you sell your property?

Do you know that before we sell for you we give you a complete statement of what your taxable income would be in case you sold, and that this service does not cost you a penny unless we sell your property?

We have one of the best INCOME TAX accounting departments in Oregon, and the main reason that we have sold thousands of dollars worth of property, both in public auction and private sale, the past couple of months, is because our clients have been satisfied with our services and have told others about us.

If you don't want to sell anything that is your business. If you want to sell for the best price obtainable, consult us—that is our business.

the national joy smoke

SAY, you'll have a streak of smokeluck that'll put pep-in-your-smokemotor, all right, if you'll ring-in with a jimmy pipe or cigarette papers and nail some Prince Albert for packing!

Just between ourselves, you never will wise-up to high-spot-smoke-joy until you can call a pipe by its first name, then, to hit the peak-of-pleasure you land square on that two-fisted-man-tobacco, Prince Albert!

Well, sir, you'll be so all-fired happy you'll want to get a photograph of yourself breezing up the pike with your smokethrottle wide open! Talk about smoke-sport! Quality makes Prince Albert so
