A. Henriksen, alfalfa raiser and cattle man of Cecil, is in Heppner today on business.

Barney Doherty, farmer and sheep owner of the north end, was in Heppner for several days this week.

Judge Phelps arrived from Pendleton on Monday evening and is holding a short session of Circuit court this week.

M. E. Haines, Mat Halvorsen, L. P. Laidson and Dick Turpin were lone business men in Heppner yesterday.

A. M. Phelps and wife are spending a few days in Portland this week, where Mr. Phelps was called on business.

W. G. Scott, Lexington warehouseman and banker was in Heppner on Monday, having business affairs to attend to in this city.

Clasney Sperry and Peter Linn, business men of Ione were in Heppner yesterday and interviewed Sheriff Shult with regard to taxes.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Howell, of Ione, were visitors in Heppner on Monday. Mr. Howell now has a place with the Jordan Elevator Co., at Jordan Siding.

I. V. Gentry and wife and Mrs. A. E. Patterson were visitors in Pendleton over Saturday, taking in the auto show and meeting old-time friends.

O. B. Barlow, manager of Jordan Elevator Co., and J. W. Howk, O. W. R. & N. agent at Ione, were doing business in Heppner on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary C. Conner, who resides near Olex, was in Heppner over the week-end, taking in the St. Patrick's celebration and enjoying a visit with Heppner friends.

W. L. Houston returned the last of the week from a stay of a couple of months in Portland. He was called below on account of the very serious illness of his wife, who suffered a relapse after going through a siege of influenza. Mrs. Houston is now about restored to her former health.

Earl Miller, Morrow county jail with the Navy department at Bremerton for the past year, has received his discharge and is making a visit to his old home in Morrow county, being at the home of his sister, Mrs. Grover Swagart. He expects soon to go to his homestead near Robinett on Snake river.

The C. W. B. M. will have charge of the services at the Christian church on next Sunday evening. A splendid program, in charge of Mrs. E. R. Huston's division, has been prepared and the services will be very interesting and profitable. Sunday school at 10:00 a. m., followed by preaching services.

Richard Peterson, of Gooseberry, motored over to Pendleton on Saturday and took in the windup of the automobile show. He was interested in the display of trucks and tractors, as he figures on a more convenient way of getting his crops to market than by riding on a high rack and holding the ribbons over an 8-horse team.

Lester Doolittle, formerly plumber with the Peoples Hardware Co. in this city, arrived here on Tuesday evening from Cottage Grove, Oregon. Since enlisting in the service of Uncle Sam, Mr. Doolittle has been at the Bremerton Navy Yard. He has received his honorable discharge and will again take his place as plumber for the Peoples Hardware Co.

Mrs. C. C. Gilliam and little son, Frank left the past week for Seattle, Wash. She was accompanied as far as Portland by Mr. Gilliam, who returned to Heppner and will remain here for a time, assisting in getting a lot of plumbing work done for the firm of Gilliam & Bisbee. He will join his wife later and they will make their home in Seattle again.

B. F. Sorenson, who farms an extensive tract of land near Morgan, has been in Heppner the most of the week, acting as grand juror. Mr. Sorenson, besides farming is also secretary-treasurer of the Ione Farm Loan Association, and states that a large amount of money has been secured for the farmers down that way through the medium of the federal loan bank at Spokane, and he believes the system to be a good one for the farmers.

A delegation of Heppner citizens will go to Ione on tomorrow, Friday, evening and meet with the citizens of that city and surrounding country. The primary object of the meeting will be the gathering in of memberships for the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce, and then, when this has been accomplished, to take up the road question, now claiming the major portion of attention. The lone meeting is being arranged by M. H. Cummins and W. H. Cronk and a goodly attendance is anticipated.

J. S. Taylor, of Portland, renewed his subscription to this paper this week. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor still have a very warm spot in their hearts for Heppner, Mr. Taylor being convinced that we have the best little town in the state. The compliment is appreciated, and we will say that Heppner town is now just waking up and will be soon on the road to its greatest achievements in the line of city building. It is not more than half as good a town as Mr. Taylor will find here in the course of another year or so.

Abe Shiffett, a veteran of the Civil War, accompanied by his wife, arrived in Heppner the first of the week on their way to visit Mr. Shiffett's old-time friends at Monument. Mr. Shiffett has been at the Soldiers' Home in Roseburg for the past ten years, and is now a man 83 years of age. He was married some four years ago, and with his wife is starting out to visit friends and relatives. After a stay of some weeks at Monument, they will proceed to his old home in Missouri, expecting to leave here about the first of June.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hall drove over from Wapato, Wash., Saturday to be here for the funeral of the late J. W. Mariatt. Mr. Hall is quite well pleased with his new location, having been a resident of Wapato the greater part of the past year. This is a thriving section of the Yakima valley, on the edge of the reservation, and Mr. Hall says there is a great amount of business done there. It is one of the leading irrigated sections of the valley and much fruit, hay and vegetables are grown. Mr. and Mrs. Hall returned home yesterday.

The mapping and photographing crew of the Photomobile Tourist Association of New York, under the direction of J. A. Blackledge visited Cecil on Wednesday. This organization is compiling a new roadbook of the State of Washington and including the road from Walla Walla to Portland via Pendleton and the Old Oregon Trail. The Photomobile system has unique features, one being the taking of a direct photograph every mile; these photographs being arranged down the side of each page, thus giving an actual picture of every mile of "The Road Ahead." The headquarters of the Pacific Division of the Association are 1525-6 L. C. Smith Building, Seattle.

J. B. Strader, of Irrigon, is a new addition to our lists this week. Mr. Strader was over to the county seat attending to some business matters. We find him to be a strong advocate of good roads, and he is well pleased to know that the county is contemplating the adoption of a big road program. At the present time there is a big road camp at Irrigon, and work on the Columbia Highway across the north end of the county is progressing. This will be of great benefit to the towns on the Columbia and Mr. Strader is looking forward to rapid development of the irrigation section when the road has been completed. He would like very much to see a good road from the county seat to connect with the highway on the Columbia.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gemmell and son Paul came over from Tualuma, Oregon on Wednesday of last week and have been visiting with their relatives here and at Lexington. Mr. Gemmell has a 40-acre irrigated tract on the Tualuma project and it is coming along fine, being now ready for the seeding of alfalfa. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gemmell are enjoying splendid health and they are well pleased with their new location. Paul has received his discharge from the Navy, in which he enlisted about two years ago, and will make his home with his parents. He has spent some six months in England, Scotland and Ireland and visited many cities of interest while on shore leave, among them the city of Glasgow, Scotland, where his father was born, but he did not get over to France.
