Handle Your Grain This Better Way

Why continue to pay over good money year after year for grain sacks—an item that materially reduces your net profits when you can adopt a practical labor and time saving method that will do away with your yearly sack expense for all time to come.

Adopt this better way—handle your grain in bulk with a John Deere Tubular Steel Pony Elevator. The money it saves will pay for this outfit.

Come in and see us about this elevator. It is to your interest to know more about it. A thorough knowledge of its uses, we feel sure, will convince you that you can't afford to continue sacking your grain.

It's the best elevator for you to buy. You can use the John Deere to fill your tank and empty it—it serves a two-fold purpose. This elevator has a raising receiving hopper—you never back up a load. The feed is adjustable—you can adapt the elevator to the power you apply.

A 2½ to 6 H.P. engine will operate it. It's unusual capacity saves time—it elevates from 15 to 20 bushels a minute—and it's built for real service. It will continue to save you money for years to come.

Realizing the many disadvantages and expenses attached to sacking grain, we urge you to equip yourself now for bulk handling of grain with a John Deere Elevator.

Come in and let us talk this over.

Mrs. W. G. McCarty has just received a letter from her son Willis, who is now in France, in which he says orders have been received to leave Paris in ten days and he is hoping that it means they are leaving for home. The letter was written June 4. Willis has been doing railroad work over there.

James Nelson, of the pioneer Nelson family of Butter creek, is at the Imperial, registered from Pendleton. The Nelsons are a well-known family in Morrow and Umatilla counties and Mrs. Nelson, who is also in the city, is the daughter of Jerry Brosnan, an old-timer on Willow creek, near Heppner.—Portland Oregonian.

Richardson Home Scene of Bridge Party Wednesday

The Walter Richardson home on Center street was the scene of a happy social affair on Wednesday afternoon when Miss Josephine Richardson and Mrs. J. H. Lock entertained at bridge. Thirty-six guests responded to the invitations sent out, and as a result, nine tables were made up. Mrs. Earle Gilliam won first, Mrs. W. P. Mahoney, second, and Mrs. S. W. Spencer, consolation prize. The rooms were prettily decorated, the color scheme being yellow and white, and the young hostesses were becomingly attired in dresses of the same colors. Refreshments of salad, wafers and iced tea were served. The guests were:

Mrs. Mesdames Orve Rasmus, Gay M. Anderson, Bert Stone, Clyde Wells, Roy M. Turner, C. L. Sweek, Arthur McAtee, P. A. Anderson, J. F. Vaughn, Oscar Borg, S. W. Spencer, Josie Jones, Fred Lucas, S. E. Van-factor, J. J. Wells, W. R. Irwin, W. P. Mahoney, Chas. B. Cox, Stacy Roberts, Phil Cohn, C. C. Chick, Chester Darbee, B. F. Butler, A. D. McMurdo, Harold Bean, Richard Wells, R. J. Vaughn, B. R. Patterson, Earle Gilliam, J. O. Hager, Roy Cochran, W. E. Prun, Hanson Hughes, Miss Black, Miss Gladys Lane and Miss Vivian Cox.

Boardman Has School Election

The annual meeting of the Boardman school district was the occasion, also, of much interest and 136 votes were cast. The contest was over the election of a director, two candidates being in the field. A. P. Ayers received 62 and W. O. King 74 votes. Mrs. Earl Cramer was reelected clerk without opposition. At this time also it was voted to issue warrants of the district in the sum of $28,500, this money to be used in the completion and equipment of another unit of their splendid school building. This is made necessary because of the rapid growth of the community, and the Boardman people are determined to have a school second to none in the county.

The Boardman delegation were here primarily to boost for the John Day project, and we are sure that they found that measure was receiving very active support here, and that the people of the south end of the county will join with them gladly and leave nothing undone to bring this great development to a successful consummation.
