Put Your Surplus Straw Back On Your Land

The straw that you burn or use wastefully can be put back on your land with big profit. Properly spread, straw acts as a mulch on fall seeded crops. It prevents soil blowing, prevents winter killing, prevents winter sleet from smothering plants—and when turned under it has almost as much fertilizing value as manure.

Spread your straw—come in and get a John Deere Spreader with Straw Spreading attachment. Get double use and double profit from it. The John Deere Spreader with a Straw Spreading Attachment spreads straw and spreads manure—does a fine, even job in either case.

One man operates the John Deere either when spreading straw or manure. After the machine is loaded, get on the seat, put the machine in gear, start the team or tractor, set the machine for heavy or light spreading as conditions require—that's all.

To take off the Straw Spreading Attachment for manure spreading is only a 30-minute job for one man. The change is quickly and easily made.

Don't attempt to get along another year without this profitable equipment.

Come in and let us show you an outfit that will pay for itself in a short time.

quantity as the Huebner grain and there will be a good season of wheat hauling for some of Mr. Doherty's men. Mr. Doherty is primarily a sheepman, having been engaged in that industry for many years. He has three bands in the mountains at the present time. But apparently he is making the same success with farming that he has made in running his sheep. About a year ago Mr. Doherty lost his home by fire, the house and all its contents burning to the ground. Today there stands an imposing residence on the same ground where the old house formerly stood. The new house is modern in every detail with running water and electric lights. Mr. Doherty expects to do his own threshing this year. The men are heading the grain at the present time.

J. W. Sibley is a progressive young farmer who is making an attractive home in the lower Strawberry section. Although he was handicapped last fall with sickness in his family, and was therefore unable to put in his crop until late, the grain is coming out good and will make a fair yield. Mr. Sibley is not giving his entire attention to grain growing, however, for he has one of the best gardens we have seen on the hill lands of Morrow county. Mr. Sibley is fortunate in having five valuable assets on his ranch: Mrs. Sibley, three little Sibleys and an abundance of good water. Hence the excellent garden stuff. Mr. Sibley does his harvesting with a combine and expects to get under way this week.

Two new farmers in this same section are C. Mink and his son-in-law, R. Clinger. Messrs. Mink and Clinger formerly farmed in Umatilla county, where they met with success and they are introducing the same good methods into their farming in this county. Mr. Clinger bought the Albert Kerber ranch, known as the old Newlon place and Mr. Mink bought the Anderson brothers' ranch. Mr. Mink has in 160 acres of wheat on his own land and an additional 160 adjoining, which he has rented. These men are valuable additions to the farming fraternity of Morrow county and in the few months they have been here are already showing that their methods are proper for the successful growing of crops.

E. C. Miller has two threshing outfits on his fields this week. In one field his two sons are operating a two-man Deering combine and the wheat is making a yield of around 15 bushels. On a field of heavier grain, the Earl Warner outfit is heading and threshing and this field is making an average of better than 20 bushels per acre. Mr. Miller is very well pleased with the returns he is getting, since the grain is yielding heavier than he had anticipated earlier in the season.

Carl Marquardt and his son have in a section and a half of fine grain. What they have combined so far has been making a yield of 20 bushels, while he estimates some of it will go over that figure and some will fall short. Mr. Marquardt believes that his entire crop will average twenty bushels from present indications. J. D. Bauman, who farms about six miles below Heppner, is threshing from the header and his crop of blue-stem is turning out well. A bumper crop was killed in the making here, by a little hot weather and on the hill tops the grain was burned but at that Mr. Bauman has several hundred acres on which the grain is making a twenty bushel average.

Robert D. Watkins Died Following Operation at Hot Lake

Robert D. Watkins died at Hot Lake, Oregon, Sunday, July 6, following an operation for internal trouble. Mr. Watkins had been in poor health for a number of years and his condition had been critical for the past several months. He went to Hot Lake a few weeks ago in hopes that treatments there would benefit his condition and finally, when he learned that an operation would be the only remedy for his condition, he went on the table for a major operation. His weakened condition brought about through years of suffering would not allow him to survive surgical treatment. He was 56 years of age and a native of Iowa, being born in that state September 21, 1863.

His two sons, Dale and Francis and their mother, Mrs. Blanche Watkins, were at his bedside when the final summons came.

When Mr. Watkins was a small boy he came west with his parents and settled near Philomath, Benton county, and his aged mother still resides there. For the past quarter of a century he had lived in Morrow county, where he made a wide acquaintanceship and leaves a large number of friends who will regret his untimely death. A brother, Lish Watkins, lives in this city. The body was shipped to Philomath for burial and the funeral was held at that place.

Roy Campbell, Social Ridge farmer, began harvesting this week. He is using a two-man combine and looks forward to a fair yield.

W. L. Houston, who recently suffered severe loss by fire when his saw mill burned, was in the city from Parkers Mill today.
