HE SOLD THE KING A THRIFT STAMP

Richard Siprelle, 11 years old, who is a student in the Crocker Intermediate School in San Francisco, won national attention recently when he sold King Albert of Belgium a 25 cent Thrift Stamp. The King had just seated himself in his automobile after an official reception in San Francisco when "Richard, the Lion-Hearted," braving the United States Secret Service men, leaped aboard the King's machine and thrust Thrift Stamp and card into Albert's hands.

"Thank you," said the King, and then the King's car lurched forward leaving the kid behind.

"I didn't want the two-bits," said Richard. "I wanted the King to know what a Thrift Stamp is."
