

Gilliam & Bisbee

Hardware and Implements

We have it, will get it, or it is not made

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

FORDS FOR SALE

From $200.00 Up

The last shipment of new Fords has been sold.

We took in on exchange a number of second-hand Fords.

Chas. H. Latourell
Authorized Agent

Transfer and General Hauling

We do a transfer and general hauling business of all kinds.

Let us figure with you on that next job. We will GUARANTEE SATISFACTION.

BARNARD & EMRY

Good, Clean Meat

at the cheapest price possible, quick delivery and courteous service.

Fish on Thursday and Friday

Peoples Cash Market
Cool - Sanitary - Convenient

OVIATT & HAPPOLD, Props.

No "holes" in it

Red Crown's uniform chain of boiling points gives easy starting, quick and smooth acceleration, high power, long mileage. Mixtures have "holes" in the power chain. Look for the Red Crown sign before you fill.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY (California)

Geo. W. Milholland, Special Agent, Standard Oil Company
Heppner, Oregon.

STATE NEWS - - - SPECIAL FEATURE SECTION

Under this heading each week will be found up-to-the-minute news of the world in picture and text, showing the doings of the great, the near great and those who are striving to become great.—Items of general news interest gathered from over the state at large.—Women's activities and fashions.—Humor from the leading humorous papers.

STATE NEWS

Fatal Auto Accident.

Dr. Hoisington, Pendleton physician, and owner of the Hoisington ranch out in Columbia District, and John F. Robinson, proprietor of the Domestic Laundry in Pendleton, were almost instantly killed Wednesday evening, and Frank Sallins, former county clerk, was badly injured when the automobile which the latter was driving was struck by an incoming Walla Walla train at the grade crossing at Saxe station, four miles east of Pendleton.

H. E. Bartholomew is having an addition built to his house and is having numerous other improvements made.—Stanfield Standard.

Merrill E. Doble, who owns and operates a well producing orchard at Irrigon, was here last week in attendance at the Dairy Show. He reports that there will be shipped from that part of the project this year about 300 boxes of apples.

Figure On Steam Shovel.

Before another season opens for road building Grant County may own a steam shovel, such as has been working on the John Day Highway this past summer. County Judge Hagney says he favors the purchase of one by the county. It will cost about $10,000. If the county had a shovel the road below John Day and the John Day-Canyon road could have been built by the county and these two jobs would have paid for more than half the cost of the shovel. The county owns three good auto trucks and if a steam shovel is added it will make equipment that will be able to do a great amount of work that is now done by contract.—Canyon City Eagle.

Eldridge Brings in Deer Head.

The head of the 350-pound buck killed by Levi Eldridge, Pilot Rock mayor, a few days ago, was brought to Pendleton today to be mounted. The animal has 19 points in all, but is classed by sportsmen as a ten point deer, their contention being that the points are counted as of one side. The head is a beauty and attracted a great deal of attention this morning

CONGRESSMAN'S SON WINS APPOINTMENT

Lehr Fess, son of Congressman Fess of Ohio, is the new parliamentarian to the House of Representatives, succeeding Clarence Cannon, resigned. Fess has studied for many years to prepare for the place. He is 28 years old.

FACTORY GIRL WINS BEAUTY CONTEST

FACTORY GIRL—$10,000.

SHOP GIRL—$1000.

Harrison Fisher, George Cohan and D. W. Griffith judged the beauty contest conducted by The Illustrated News of New York and with their verdict went $10,000 as first prize to Alice Louise Secker, factory worker, 23 years old. A manicurist, Hazel Yopp, 21, won second, $250, and Mary O'Brien, 21, sales girl, was third, $1000.

as it lay in the rear seat of Mr. Eldridge's car. The horns were nearly five feet from tip to tip.—Pendleton E. O.

Moves in Early.

Winter records were broken here this week when ice formed and snow fell the third week in October. It was 2 below zero in Bear Valley and six inches of snow fell. The excessive cold was about six weeks ahead of time. Tuesday the weather moderated in Canyon and turned into a warm rain. The zero weather brought all of the weather prophets out of their holes and some said it meant a north pole winter while others said that it was the beginning and end of winter and that spring would arrive in a few days. In the meantime all of the prophets shivered as they chattered.—Canyon City Eagle.

SMILE AWHILE

Her Place.

"Lillian," said mother severely, "there were two pieces of cake in the pantry this morning, and now there is only one. How does this happen?" "I don't know," said Lillian, regretfully. "It must have been so dark I didn't see the other piece."—Detroit Free Press.

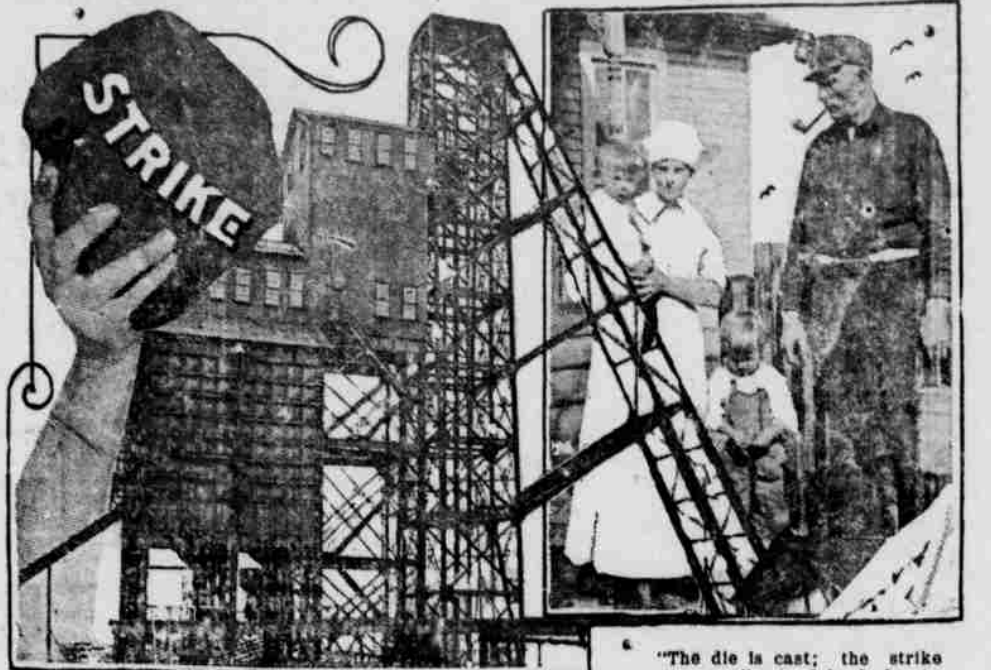

Johnny's Mistake.

Johnny went to answer the door bell and replied to the woman's inquiries that his mother was out. "Thank you, I will leave my card," she said, taking out her purse. As she did so a square tissue paper that was with the card fluttered out and landed on the steps. "Hey, miss," shouted Johnny after the departing caller, "you dropped a cigarette paper."—Pittsburg Post.

Makes 'Em Smaller.

A physician was called to treat a case of delirium tremens. "Can you cure the delirium tremens, doctor?" he was asked. "No," answered the physician, "but I can make the snakes look smaller."—Journal of American Medical Association.

Coal Miners Firm in Stand on Right of Strike

Nobody Around.

Yeast—Do you note any change in the old town since it went dry? Crimsoneak—Sure thing. The lamp posts look more lonesome.—Yonkers Statesman.

So Foolish.

"John," she said to her husband, "tell me about this Irish matter. It seems awfully foolish to me." "What's foolish about it?" "Why, I overheard a man on the car say the trouble was over an ulcer—fancy quarreling about an old ulcer in all this hot weather."—Boston Transcript.

Ordering a Dinner.

A stylishly dressed woman entered a restaurant. The waiter handed her a bill of fare written in French, and said: "Please mark off the dishes you wish to order."

Could a woman dressed in the height of fashion confess that she was unable to read French? Taking the pencil she made a few dashes and the order read: "Dinner, $1.00; June 20; Vegetables; Please pay at the desk; No tips."

The waiter brought her a dinner of steak and potatoes.—Pittsburg Chronicle.

Elusive Lizzie.

Uncle Eben—I just had a letter from an automobile fellow saying as how he wants to sell me an enclosed diver.

Uncle Ezra—Are ye goin' to buy it?

Uncle Eben—I dunno. I got the letter all right, but there warn't no diver enclosed.—Judge.

KIDNAPED EXPERIENCE NOT NEW TO JENKINS

William O. Jenkins, American consular agent at Puebla, Mex., who after being robbed of $30,000, was kidnapped from his place of business in Puebla and is being held by bandits for a $150,000 ransom. He was kidnapped once before, his ranch foreman killed, stock stolen and he himself held for $25,000 ransom.

The Greatest Mother Turns to Tasks of Peace.

THE THREE CROSSES

The iron cross is black as death and hard as human hate; The wooden cross is white and still and whispers us, "Too Late," But the Red Cross sings of life and love and hearts regenerate.

The iron cross is a boastful cross and marks the war-mad slave; The wooden cross is a dumb, dead cross and marks a shallow grave, But the Red Cross reaches out its arms to solace and to save.

The iron cross is a Kaiser's cross and narrow is its clan; The wooden cross is a soldier's cross and mourns its partisan, But the Red Cross is the Cross of One who served his fellowman. —Edmond Vance Cooke.

Invest a dollar in Red Cross and cut happiness coupons the rest of the year.

The Red Cross service flag, indicating membership in the great organization of mercy, will appear again in November in every window in the Northwest. In every farmhouse, in every city home, in the cabins of homesteaders, in the huts of fishermen in far Alaska, will appear this symbol of affiliation with the one great organization that knows no politics, no distinction of creed, no high, no

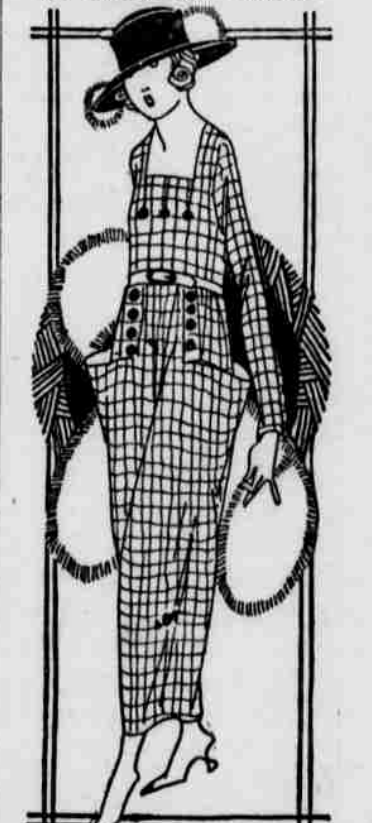

"The die is cast; the strike must go on," says John L. Lewis, president, and Secretary Green of the United Mine Workers of America. Despite government efforts, including a direct appeal from President Wilson from his sick bed, miner leaders say the hour is past when even a compromise can be considered. They say coal operators have not acted in good faith. The bone of contention is a big wage increase, the war time agreement having been fulfilled, claim the miners. Here are typical scenes in the coal field. The great structural steel head-frame, bins and trestles where thousands of men work hundreds of feet below. A miner and his family, typical of the workers.

low—but unites the hearts of all for service to fellow-men. The window service flag this year has one more stripe than last year, indicating three years of membership in the Red Cross.

You May Bet on It.

When you see a young man sitting in the parlor with that restless four-year-old boy that ever frightened himself in a mirror clambering over his knees, jerking his neck out of place, ruffling his shirt-front, pulling his hair, kicking his shoes, feeling in all his pockets for coppers, while the unrelenting victim smiles all the time like the cover of a comic paper, you may safely say that the howling boy has a sister who is in a room not 20 feet away, and that the young man doesn't go there just for the fun of playing with her brother.

DUYETYNES OF BROWN IN GENERAL WEARS

The general wear frock of the ever popular Brown in the new duyetynes is proving one of the most sought after costumes of the season. With buttoned yoke and pocket supports virtually ending the trimming one is permitted to admire the beauty of its simplicity. A buckle of smoked pearl and sleeve buttons, four on a side, to match add the final touches.

FARBES WELCOMES ITS "FERDIE" FOCH

Here is pictured the "day of days" for Farbes, France. It is the "homecoming" of the great allied military leader, General Foch. In the small town in southern France they waited many days for this great event, townspeople pride that such a great man should have been brought up amongst them. General Foch is standing on the steps of his home—his birthplace.

