THE STATE UNIVERSITY MAKES RAPID GROWTH

University of Oregon, Eugene, Nov. 4.—Late reports of registration in several large universities of the country, as reported from the University of California on the basis of returns received from the various institutions indicate generally heavy increases since the last normal year, 1916-17. Figures obtained from the records in the office of the registrar of the University of Oregon show that this University, on the basis of early registration this year, has increased at a greater rate than any half a dozen of the large institutions of the country.

The enrollment in the University of Oregon in the 1916-17 term was 1036 for the academic departments on the campus at Eugene. The enrollment in the first month of the 1919-20 year is 1,542. This gain of 506 represents a percentage of growth of 48.8.

In the corresponding period the gain reported from the University of California was 39.4 per cent; University of Washington, 46.5; University of Minnesota, 38.3; University of Michigan, 35 per cent; University of Illinois, 36.2 per cent; University of Wisconsin, 39.8 per cent.

Oregon's showing would be relatively, even better were it possible to obtain the figures for the opening week of 1916, which was much smaller than the total for the year, the figure used as the base on which to compute the increase.

The total number of students expected on the campus of the University during the present year, according to President Campbell's estimate, is 1999. All these figures are exclusive of the school of music and the summer school. These totals added bring the grand total expected for the year to 2,900, as against 1,470 for 1916-17, a gain of almost 100 per cent.

The total number in all departments of the University on the campus at Eugene in 1901-02 was 258. By 1909 the number had grown to 619, since which time the growth has been 150 per cent. The University's growth has been steady. In no single year has there ever been a loss of enrollment. The faculty membership has grown from 52 to 87 since 1919, approximately 70 per cent.

Enrollment in all institutions of higher learning is exceptionally heavy this year. The University of California, now probably the second largest in point of enrollment in the United States reports 3,927: Washington, 4,710; Minnesota, 6,476; Michigan, 7,500; Illinois, 7,102; Wisconsin, 6,832.

Hot Baked Potatoes.
 One hundred sacks of Weston mountain potatoes, owned by Elmer Ferguson, were baked to a nice brown recently by a fire which Mr. Ferguson thought was extinguished. Mr. Ferguson stored 142 sacks of the tubers in a dirt cellar and a fire built to keep the cellar at the right temperature. The next morning Mr. Ferguson discovered the baked potatoes, with only 41 sacks left in the raw state. The owner says that the potatoes were baked evenly and as well as in a modern oven.—Pendleton East Oregonian.
