

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Mrs. Mary D. McHaley, who has been making her home in Portland the past several months, has arrived in Heppner to make a visit with Heppner friends and relatives.

W. E. Cummings, west Heppner farmer, spent Saturday in the city on business and while here enrolled every member of his family in the American Red Cross for another year.

A new advertisement in this issue is that of C. M. Bowers, local shoemaker. Mr. Bowers is now agent for the O'Donnell, famous shoe for men, and also carries a line of heavy work shoes.

City Engineer Hickey, who recently returned from a business trip to Kansas City, spent Monday evening here and left the following morning for Everett, Wash., on a visit to his home.

Mr. and Mrs. La Verne Van Marter are receiving the felicitations of their many friends upon the arrival of a son at the Heppner Sanatorium last Thursday morning. The young man weighed 5 1/2 pounds.

M. Belle Thompson of Portland was a guest at the home of her son Ralph on Willow creek, while spending a few days here the past week on business matters. She returned to her Portland home Sunday.

Mrs. Chas. H. Furlong this week purchased a new player piano from Patterson & Son, local representatives of Sherman-Clay. The deal was closed by Jack Mulligan, traveling salesman for the company in this territory.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moore were in the city on Monday from their farm home just above Lexington. Moors are building a fine new house on their ranch and while here, Mr. Moore spent some time looking for a carpenter.

W. B. Barratt and J. O. Hager, president and secretary respectively of the Oregon Woolgrowers Association, left on Sunday for Portland where they will spend the week, attending the woolgrowers convention and the Pacific International Livestock Exposition.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Monahan and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Farley went down to Portland last week to hear the address of de Valera, president of "the Irish Republic" who is making a tour of the principal cities of the United States speaking for the cause of Irish freedom.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Keithley, Mrs. Carrie Vaughn and Mrs. Jeff Jones left Tuesday for Oakland, California. Mr. Keithley will spend some time in the southland for the benefit of his health. Mrs. Jones will visit with her daughter, Mrs. Ellis O. Hendriksen, who lives in San Leandro, on the Oakland-San Jose highway.

R. H. Young has accepted a position with the King's Products Company of Portland and Salem and will call on the jobbing trade in the Northwest territory. The King Company puts out a high grade line of dehydrated fruits and vegetables and is one of the biggest concerns of its kind on the Pacific coast. Mr. Young formerly traveled for the National Biscuit Company, but had, until a few weeks ago, been engaged in farming since returning from the military service.

Henry Cohn made a business trip to Portland last week.

Dr. Bean is now located in the Odd Fellows building, upstairs.

Robert Allstott of Eight Mile was a business visitor on Saturday.

Mrs. Sadie Morey of Lexington was in the city on business Saturday.

Fine thoroughbred Mammoth Bronze turkeys for sale.—T. J. Matlock, 31.

Frank Akers, lone farmer, was a Heppner business visitor on Monday.

W. O. Hill, cashier of the Lexington State Bank, was called to Heppner last Saturday on some matters of business.

Spencer Crawford of The Gazette-Times made a brief business trip to Portland last Thursday, returning home Sunday evening.

Mike McCabe has purchased 320 acres of land lying between Girds creek and Shoo Fly from Robert Jenkins.—Possil Journal.

Jack Dundas and Barney Ward, well known local young men, spent a few days in Portland last week and attended the de Valera meeting.

Nett Webb, Walla Walla farmer, was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Webb in this city the last of the week while attending to business matters here.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Spencer left on Sunday for Portland to spend the week attending the Pacific International Livestock Exposition and Horse Show.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert P. Stone returned to Heppner Sunday after spending three weeks in Walla Walla. Mr. Stone says the road up Hog Hollow has not improved any.

COMING TO STAR SOON

HETTIE JANE DUNAWAY

Hettie Jane Dunaway, noted interpreter of plays, will appear here soon on the Lyceum Course with one of the most delightful entertainment features of the year. She will present "Just Plain Judy," an adaptation from "Daddy Long Legs" and other stories. Miss Dunaway possesses a keen understanding of human nature in all its phases and is endowed with unusual interpretative powers. The characters of the play respond to her beck and call—they LIVE. You laugh with them, cry with them, frown or smile with them as goes the story—behind it all but faintly seeing the talented artist, Miss Dunaway.

Alfalfa is November Crop in Morrow County.

Blizzards may sweep across the Great Lakes and the Middle West may be in the grip of Old Man Winter, but Morrow county farmers go about business with the rays of Old Sol shining down upon them. The past week Stevens Brothers, extensive farmers and sheepmen on McKinney creek put up their last crop of alfalfa hay for the year. So far as we know, this is the latest crop of alfalfa ever harvested in this immediate section. If there were ever any harvested at a later time we would be glad to hear of it. The winter crop on the Stevens ranch is said to be good both in quantity and quality.

Thought Heppner Was Heaven.

A woman, wife of a well known insurance man, who lives down in Southern Oregon, was asked by her solicitous pastor and his good wife, where her husband, Mr. Insurance man was at the present time.

"Why, he is up in Heppner," replied the wife of the man who sells life policies.

"Up in where?" inquired the pastor and his wife, almost in the same breath.

"Up in Heppner, in Eastern Oregon."

"Oh!" replied the pastor in a revered tone of voice. "I understand you to say 'up in heaven.'"
