LOCAL MAN FINDS IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Pat Crow Lands a Big Job With the Associated Engineering Corporation of Portland and Seattle—Says "There's Good In Everything."

"My motto is, 'there's good in everything,' " said Pat to a Gazette-Times reporter. It was this way. And say, the fellow who invented "it pays to advertise," was sure flirting with the Hall of Fame.

"As I was going to say," continued Pat, "on my return from the East it was necessary for me to make a trip to Portland about some insurance matters. I always stop at the Multnomah Hotel. Friday morning I came down, found a seat and started reading the morning paper. After a little while I noticed a group of persons, including the house detective—how did I know it was the house detective? Say! As this was no unusual occurance around hotels I gave it but passing notice. However, from the corner of my eye I noticed that now and then one of the group would inadvertantly nod in my direction. 'Maybe they think I'm P. A. Anderson,' said I to myself, and at the same time my eyes met this, 'Pat Crow, a prominent sheep owner of Heppner, Oregon is registered at the Multnomah.' My first impulse was to go and find out who was responsible for this deception and make his face resemble Ed Adkins' last summer when he attempted to learn to eat with a knife and fork. Not that I have any concientious scruples against being a 'prominent sheep owner' but I don't like deception in anything.

"While I was deciding where to begin execution, my motto came into my mind, so I decided to go out and throw a rock at a policeman and let it go at that. Just as I was going to take another chance on one of the revolving doors—and say, I would like to know who conceived the idea of a folding bed, an esculating stairway and a revolving door—through the door came with a quick step a friend whom I had not seen since the war, and who was at the head of one of the largest corporations on the coast. I had just read about his return from the Atlantic coast, where he had sewed up the largest order for ship spars ever taken. He had seen my 'ad' and knew that if anyone should give me a pet lamb I wouldn't know how to own it. A moment more we were on our way to the Spaulding building, where the offices of the Associated Engineering Corporation are located. Soon after, we were in his car on our way to the Peninsula, where their two manufacturing establishments are located. Aside from being the largest ship spar manufacturers in the world, they produce the 'Skookum Logging Block' and the 'Radio Pipeless Furnace,' the last word in scientific house and store heating. 'We are going after World Trade,' said my friend, 'and we want and must have good men.' Before I left him I had 'signed up' irrespective of the fact that Jack McCullough, Barney Doherty and myself have a gentlemen's agreement never to work any more. It's the opportunity of a lifetime, and I'll make good."

Mr. Crow will remain in Heppner for a couple of weeks, winding up local business affairs before reporting to Portland to take up his duties.

FRENCH ISSUE MEMORIAL CERTIFICATES

Engraved memorial certificates, significant of France's gratitude to America, will be presented the nearest relatives of all Oregon boys who died during the World War in the uniform of their country. Ceremonies thoughout the State will be under the auspices of Local Posts of the American Legion on February 22.

France selected the American Legion as the representative of this Country's fighters and the agency through which the delivery of the memorials should be made. The certificates are delivered to the war department and distributed to all parts of the Country through the recruiting offices.

Relatives of boys who made the great sacrifice have been requested to turn in their names to the nearest post of the American Legion, with their address or place they can be found on February 22. Local lists will be submitted in duplicate to State Headquarters. Every effort is being made to have the lists as correct and complete as possible that no one will be overlooked.

Memorial programs being prepared in honor of the young men are under Local Post direction, committees having been appointed to arrange the details.

The memorial certificates are the work of Franklin Booth, an American artist, and are commemorative of the service of the American doughboy, gob and leatherneck in the greatest of wars. Each is inscribed with the name of the dead fighter whose nearest of kin receives it.

FARMERS UNION TAKES ON NEW LIFE

Officers of Tri-State Terminal Company Met With Wheat Growers Last Saturday and Outlined Plan for Greater Expansion.

The Farmers Union in Morrow county took on new life last Saturday as a result of a rousing meeting led by state president A. R. Shumway. The Heppner local was re-organized with R. W. Turner, president; E. R. Huston, vice president and Matt T. Hughes, secretary.

The meeting was held in the I. O. O. F. hall with President Shumway as chairman and R. W. Turner, secretary.

The chief speaker of the occasion was E. W. Nelson, Seattle manager of the Tri-State Terminal Company. Mr. Nelson, who has had years of varied experience in the grain business and has been with the Tri-State Terminal since its organization, spoke at some length upon the problems of the farmers which the Tri-State has taken a leading part in solving. He explained how the company was in itself composed of farmers and how essential it was to the farmers that they stand solidly behind the company in the fight to gain better things for the farming industry.

The theme of Mr. Nelson's talk was financial throughout, and he showed clearly how the company must now enlarge its working capital if it is to maintain its place as the farmers' business organization. To that end, he urged the farmers to buy liberally of Tri-State stock when it is placed on the market.

Other speakers were Ben Manchester, president of the Tri-State Terminal Company, and N. B. Leavell, manager of the Portland branch of the grocery department. J. D. Brown, past president of the Farmers' Union was also present.

At the conclusion of Mr. Nelson's address, Mr. Shumway launched enthusiastically into the matter of re-organizing the Union in Morrow county and asked how many farmers present would join. Nearly every farmer present signified his willingness by arising from his seat.

The Heppner local was formed Saturday and it is likely that other locals over the county will organize soon. Farmers outside of the Heppner local may retain their membership here until a local is organized in their own communites.

Upper Rhea Creek Will Have New Modern Saw Mill

A. Henriksen, who recently bought the Hamilton ranch from Ralph Weeks on upper Rhea creek, announces that a new saw mill will be in operation there by early summer. The mill will be run by Mr. Hayden of Spray, who already operates two mills south of Hardman.

There is a vast amount of timber on Mr. Henriksen's mountain lands which will work up into fine lumber and the stockman also announces that the mill will aid in overcoming fuel shortages here in future years, for Mr. Hayden will enter extensively into the slab wood business.

MORE REALTY DEALS MADE

More Morrow county wheat land changed hands the past week. D. M. Ward purchased J. E. Craber's 640 acre ranch near Hardman at a price of $35 per acre. The ranch is known as the old Tash place. Mr. Ward purchased a large wheat ranch near Ione early in the Fall and he is of the firm belief that Morrow county lands offer the best opportunity in the world for investment.

B. F. Akers of Ione has purchased from Dan Barlow the latter's wheat ranch in the Eight Mile section. Mr. Barlow intends to devote all of his time and attention to his ranch on Rhea creek.

SIX MILES MARKET ROAD FOR RHEA CREEK

County Court Designates Market Road For 1920 and Lack of Finance Prohibits Other Permanent Road Work—Road and General Claims are Allowed.

The county court has designated a market road to be built from Jordan Siding up Rhea creek for a distance of six miles. This road will be a permanent one and it is estimated the cost will run near $5000 per mile. Owing to the limited finances of the county, it is possible for the court to designate but one market road each year, and for that reason it was necessary to deny the petition of W. C. Caldwell and others from Irrigon for the designation of a market road from Irrigon to Heppner.

A road committee from the county court recently viewed a route for a new highway between Boardman, Irrigon and Heppner. This route would be the shortest distance between the county seat and the two towns on the Columbia and would eliminate the expense of building two roads.

The court took up the road and general claims allowed them and ordered warrants drawn for their payment.

This Young Man Will Appear at the Star Theater, Feb. 20 and 21.

By arrangement with the Curtis Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, a three-reel vocational picture will be run on the screen at the Star theater, appearing there under the auspices of the Patron-Teachers Association. The first appearance is arranged for the afternoon of Feb. 20, and the second on the evening of Feb. 21st.

The Patron-Teachers' Association are well pleased in being able to present this great vocational picture, which is designed especially to help boys, and it is greatly desired that boys and their parents shall be on hand to see it. The Association is undertaking to assist in the work of our schools, and will do all it can to make conditions better. The schools are for the proper education of the boys and girls and everything possible should be done by patrons, as well as teachers to bring about the best results.

To illustrate graphically the possibilities of the Curtis Vocational Plan, a motion-picture film, "Thomas Jefferson Morgan P-J-G," has been prepared. The film depicts, with the interest peculiar to motion pictures, the youthful career of Thomas Jefferson Morgan, an imaginary character, whose experiences are drawn from real life.

How Thomas taught himself why he should stay in school, and how he learned to apply practically his schooling make a story that will do two things::

1—Provide inspiration and suggestion for all persons that are interested in education and boy welfare;

2—Interest exceedingly any group of intelligent spectators.

This picture has been received enthusiastically in conventions of the Mothers' Congress and Parent-Teachers' Associations, the American Bankers' Association, and other important gatherings. Keep the date in mind and be prepared to attend.

Elmer Slocum, the genial station agent at Lexington was in Heppner the fore part of the week.

City of Heppner Now Owns Water Plant

The city of Heppner now owns its water plant. The transfer was made this week when City Recorder Hughes turned over to H. V. Gates, president of the Heppner Light & Water Co., a check for $23,450. Some additional supplies, the invoices of which are not yet complete, will also be purchased from the company. It is estimated that these supplies will run up to two or three thousand dollars. The Heppner Light & Water Company will continue to operate the water plant for the city at cost, until such time as the city is ready to assume direct control, which will be early summer in all probability.

NO GUESS WORK ON INCOME TAX REPORT

Collector Milton A. Miller gives out the following information.

A word of warning to income taxpayers is contained in a statement given out today by Internal Revenue Collector Milton A. Miller who points out that returns must show all items of taxable income for 1919.

Guesswork, estimates, and other hit-or-miss tactics are barred when a person is making out his income tax return. Accuracy and completeness must be insisted upon. And remember, the return is a sworn statement; as such, it must be thorough and accurate.

Salaried persons and wage-earners must not confine their returns to figures showing a year's pay at so much a day or so much a week. The actual amount drawn should be ascertained and reported. Overtime, bonuses, shares in the profits of a business, value of quarters and board furnished by the employer, and a number of other items of similar nature which are compensations for services, are taxable as part of the year's earnings, and must be included.

Ione Puts in New Steel Pipe Line

The city of Ione is putting in new water mains at a cost of $8,000. This pipe replaces the old wooden pipe which had never given satisfaction. The work of laying the new pipe was under the supervision of E. E. Miller. "We can fight a fire now and not be afraid to turn on the high pressure," said Mr. Miller, who was a visitor in Heppner today.

COMMERCIAL CLUB IS BACKED WITH MONEY

Business Men of Heppner Are Liberal In Subscribing to Support of Civic Body—Much Work to Be Done.

The Heppner Commercial Club is getting on a better financial basis. As a result of a meeting held in December, when the club members were addressed by Fred Curry, former city manager of La Grande; the club decided to adopt a different course than has heretofore been pursued, and as a result the committee which was appointed to gather in the shekels, has turned in its report. This shows that the business men of Heppner have responded liberally to the call for support and nearly two hundred dollars a month will now be available to carry out the various projects which the club may see fit to undertake.

A noticeable feature of the drive for funds is the fact that a number of stockman who realize that the benefits of the club work will be shared by the country as well as the town, have come in for their share of support. The city of Heppner is also taking a hand in the move to bring better things to Heppner and Morrow county and have voted an appropriation of $25 a month to the club.

There are a number of big projects awaiting the club's attention and it is quite likely that our commercial body will become active during the year just ahead. With more business men making an investment of dollars into the club, it is to be hoped that they will follow up with a greater investment of time than heretofore given, and that all the meetings will find a full membership present to take up and solve the problems which stand in the way of our future development.

The list to date shows the following members who have subscribed an amount to be paid each month:

City of Heppner, $25; First National Bank, $20; Farmers & Stockgrowers Bank, $10; Gilliam & Bisbee, $5; Minor & Co, $5; Thomson Bros., $5; C. A. Minor, $5; Phill Cohn, $5; Peoples Hardware Co., $5; Tum-A-Lum Lumber Co., $5; Heppner Garage, $5; Heppner Farmers Elevator Co., $5; Chas. H. Latourell, $5; Brown & McMenamin, $5; E. M.
