FARM BUREAU NEWS

FARM BUREAU INAUGURATES SQUIRREL POISONING CAMPAIGN—SPECIAL- LY PREPARED POISON 16 CTS. QUART

At the last meeting of the Morrow County Farm Bureau Executive Committee, they arrived at the decision to go after the ground squirrels immediately. After considerable discussion it was decided to make this a voluntary campaign so far as possible. If farmers should cooperate as well in a squirrel campaign as they have in the rabbit campaign there will be no necessity to ask for the enforcement of the Rodent Law.

The poison for the campaign is on hand and enough will be mixed from time to time to keep the farmers supplied. The funds for providing and mixing this poison are furnished by the membership funds of the Farm Bureau, and anyone is entitled to membership. The poison used is prepared according to a formula furnished by the United States Biological Survey after many years of experiment. It will be furnished to Farm Bureau members at 16 cents per quart, and is mixed as readily as it is possible to put it together. This formula has given universal satisfaction and we most heartily recommend it for a trial. To men who are not members of the Farm Bureau we would advise you to become such but in as much as the members are furnishing the funds for the preparation of this poison the non-members will be charged 20 cents per quart. This money then returns to the Farm Bureau for further use.

Now is the time to kill the squirrels, one now will mean the saving of several later on. The poison will be placed in the hands of your local Rodent Committees, and it may also be secured from the County Agent's office, or will be expressed to you upon written request.

We hope that you will mail us a statement at once of the probable amount that you will require as it is impossible for us to mix at one time as much as would be required for the entire county. Because of lack of funds, we will however, endeavor to keep a supply on hand to meet requirements.

This poison will not harden or deteriorate from year to year. This is an advantage over any other formula with which we are familiar. Use this poison as you would any other squirrel poison. The best way being to place it in the hole, but place it where the squirrels will get it. In poisoning pastureland or range land adjacent to fields, try scattering it broadcast, as this has proven generally satisfactory.

Be sure that you are not one of the farmers who allows his squirrels to go unpoisoned and fatten on other peoples grass or his neighbor's grain. Let every man do his part, let the squirrels suffer, and let the poison do the work.

Here's for dead squirrels.

send an expert for a preliminary examination of frost damage to fruit and nut trees in Oregon, has informed the senator that instructions have been issued for F. D. Fisher, plant pathologist at Wenatchee, Wash., to conduct investigations at Salem, McMinnville, Eugene and Hood River. One of the department's chief experts, C. A. Reed, will go to Oregon later to follow up the same work.

County Agents Recognize Part Played By Press.

"Recognizing the large part played by the community newspaper in developing community life and assisting in the promotion of programs of community betterment about which the farm bureaus are organized, and being cognizant of the difficult position in which these papers are placed by the scarcity of news print paper and other high production cost factors.

Be it resolved: That the county agricultural agents of Oregon in conference assembled this 9th day of January, 1920, declare it our policy to lend fullest support to the community newspapers in farm bureau and county agent counties."

The above resolution was passed unanimously on motion of George Kable, county agent for Benton.

YESTERDAY, TODAY AND FOREVER.

I remember, I remember,
In eighteen ninety-six,
How Young Bill Bryan shot across
The skies of politics.
A callow youth he was, but still
I'll say for William J.
He had the G. O. P. scared stiff
Until election day.

I remember, I remember,
That four years after that
The hope that swelled in William's breast
Again was busted flat.
They thought they had him licked for keeps,
But the eternal throb
Of yearning in his massive chest
Was still right on the job.

I remember, I remember,
Along in nineteen eight,
How William stood again outside
The presidential gate;
And how, when turned away once more,
Smart guys like me and you
Observed with fine finality,
"At last Doc. Bryan's thru."

I remember, I remember,
A newsboy's recent cry,
"Bill Bryan's going to run again.
He kept the country dry."
And I could not help but think,
With wild, unholly joy,
That he is farther from the job
Than when he was a boy!

Oregonian.

SALVATION ARMY ADVISORY BOARDS ORGANIZED

Portland, Ore., Feb. 10.—Formation of local advisory boards of the Salvation Army, composed of representative citizens and civic leaders has been accomplished in several Oregon counties and will continue until practically every community in the state will be in a position to command the Army's services and institutional facilities either in Oregon or any other state.

The success with which the plan, embraced in the Army's 1920 "Home Service Program" has been received everywhere indicates general concurrence in the belief that it offers a solution of the problem of effecting expeditious and efficient social service in many sections of the state where the population is somewhat scattered and there are few or no Salvation Army corps. In one county having more than a hundred cases of influenza it was learned no nurses were available while another was discovered to be totally lacking in charitable organizations.

Through the advisory boards the Army hopes to establish much closer relations with the outlying sections in order to concentrate its relief forces wherever they may be most needed. Each board will study and report on the situation in its county, the reports to be confidential and used only in determining the action of the Salvation Army. Thus the Army men can act with full knowledge of each local situation. If warranted, it is expected experienced Army officers will be sent to certain communities or new corps established as the situation warrants.

E. W. Spencer, who took Jas. Fitzdown to Portland for surgical treatment, arrived home last Thursday evening and has been confined to his bed, suffering from a severe attack of stomach trouble. His condition is greatly improved at this time.

All indications point to an advance in the price of coal with a probable freight advance soon.

Coal shipments are now being received much more promptly and now is the logical time to lay in a supply of coal, because there is a reasonable amount on hand and because the price is less now than it will be probably in a few months.

$1000 To Be Offered In Jersey Contests at This Year's Show.

Speakers of national repute will tell the farmers of the Inland Empire of the advantages to be secured in joining the Wheat Growers' association now being organized in the Northwest according to a telegram received by the organization committee of the Wheat Growers' association.

Included in the list are Dr. J. R. Howard of Ames, Iowa, president of the American farm bureau federation; Congressman Thomas P. Caraway, of Arkansas; D. R. Cooper of New York, president of the New York Dairyman's league (which has 44,000 members) and special representatives of the national board of farm organization. Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon has also promised to speak if Congress adjourns sufficiently early. H. W. Wood of Calgary, president of the United Farmers of Alberta, the largest and most successful wheat growers' marketing association in the world, has also promised to speak. Aaron Sapiro of San Francisco, counsel for numerous farmers' organizations, will speak in the Northwest at wheat growers' association meetings.

$1000 To Be Offered In Jersey Contests at This Year's Show.

Oregon is on the Jersey map. The American Jersey Cattle club, recognizing the importance of the Pacific International Livestock show, and the quality of western Jerseys, has appropriated $1000 for awards in the Jersey classes at this year's show. This is four times the amount allowed last year.

The Oregon Jersey Cattle club is a live bunch. They get what they go after. At their meeting during Farmers' week the subject of a larger appropriation was brought up and now they have it. This places the Pacific International Jersey show in the same class with the national, and the Southern Jersey show.

The last issue of the Jersey Bulletin features Oregon. It reproduces the picture of the O. J. C. C. meeting held at Corvallis and features an article about the meeting. It also has a panoramic view of the Oregon Agricultural college and various other Oregon items.

Expert to Inquire Into Frost Damage.

Washington, Feb. 7.—The department of agriculture, which recently advised Senator McNary it would ing objections to such final account are hereby required to file the same in said court on or before the time set for the settlement thereof.

Dated at Heppner, Oregon, this 12th day of February, 1920.
JOSEPH MOYERS, Administrator.

Dignifying the Industry

THIS is a day of modern farm equipment; a day of better farming methods, and a day of better living conditions on the farm.

As the farmer brings up-to-date business methods into his farming operations, he turns to printed stationery, which in itself bespeaks progression.

And Gazette-Times Quality Printing is the choice of the more particular farmers. Many of our progressive ranchmen are using Gazette-Times printed letterheads and envelopes, bill heads and sale bills.

Put your business on that high plane by using our stationery.
