Evolution, Not Revolution. Only Hope for Mexico

By SAMUEL GUY INMAN of the Interchurch World Movement

American mission boards are the only organizations which have developed a practical, comprehensive, inclusive program for solving the Mexican problem. The Mexican problem is not a question of a revolution being squelched, but an evolution to be guided. Mission boards are planning to help Mexico solve her land problems by establishing agricultural schools; her social problems by setting up social centers in every town of over 15,000 population; her educational problems by establishing a university in Mexico City and enlarging and multiplying high schools, normal and day schools. A brotherly hand must be lent to aid the Mexican people in eliminating their 70 per cent. of illiteracy.

HEROES OF '61 NOW OLDEST IN CONGRESS

They fought in uniforms of Blue and Gray when Lincoln was in the White House. Now they are in Congress, the two oldest members in the House. On the left, General Isaac R. Sherwood of Ohio, 85 years old, fought in 45 battles and 10 times cited for gallant conduct under fire; enlisted as a private in 1861, mustered out a brigadier general. An airplane went speeding across the state of Oregon one day last week when Major Albert D. Smith, army aviator flew from Camp Lewis, Washington to San Diego, California. ### Dormant Sprays Often Wasted.

Sprays are wasted when put on for control of scab, mildew, anthraxose, brown rot, codling moth and aphids before the winter buds begin to break, says H. P. Bars, plant pathologist of the O. A. C. experiment station. Such insect pests as San Jose scale, blister mite, red spider mite and leaf roller yield to the winter treatment, but even these are controlled as effectively in apple orchards by a strong lime-sulfur dilution put on as a delayed dormant spray for scab and mildew. The delayed spray, Professor Bars says, will put a crimp in more fungous and insect pests than any other single application and deserves most emphasis while generally getting least.

Foreign Butter Menaces Market.

Heavy shipments of Danish butter of good grade and lower prices are reaching America and farmers must produce more milk per cow and better cream to compete. The Dane gets about 8000 pounds of milk per cow, the American farmer half as much, says P. M. Brandt, head of dairying at O. A. C. Cutting out the low yielder by testing will lower production cost. Farmer and creameryman are jointly responsible for meeting foreign competition of low-priced, high-quality butter.

LEADS CORNHUSKERS FOR DIRECT TRADING

Here is the man who is leading one organization of Nebraska farmers in unity of action, aimed directly toward direct marketing and a fair return to the producer. It is C. H. Gustafson of Lincoln, Neb., president of the Nebraska Farmers' Union.

CONGRESSMAN TREATED WASHINGTON ELM

Ten years ago a young tree surgeon was employed at Washington to treat some of the historic trees on the Capitol grounds. And here he is today—Congressman Martin L. Davey, from Ohio—the only man of his profession in Congress. He is here examining the famous Washington elm—which he treated then—without thought of ever being, some day, a member of our national legislative body. "Twas under this tree George Washington used to eat his luncheon while watching the construction of the new Capitol.

FIND WATER IN MILK BY FREEZING

Dr. Julius Hortvet, Minnesota state chemist, has invented a machine which will force retail milk distributors in the city to watch their step. Watered milk can be tested in eight minutes with his machine. The process is simple. It is by freezing. The water in milk freezes first—showing accurately the percentage of water in each bottle of milk.

CLIMBS TO NEW AIR HEIGHTH IN PLANE

Again Major R. W. Schroeder's oxygen tanks failed him and his altitude goal of 40,000 feet was not realized, but it did not keep him from setting a new mark. He flew to a height of 36,920 feet in a climb at Dayton, O., last week, and was pulled from his machine in an unconscious condition from his thrilling experiences.

New Kind of Cows.

One of the questions on the examination paper given out at the country school was to name three different breeds of cattle to be found on farms in the surrounding section. Whereupon the Court Stenographer, who was not looking at the witness, demanded: "Answer that question." The witness replied, "I did answer it; I nodded my head." "Yes," was the retort, "I heard it rattle, but could not tell whether it

NO HAIR CUT FOR BASEBALL SAMPSON

Paul Leslie Mooney, star pitcher of "The House of David" baseball team, religious colony at Benton Harbor, Mich., could have a big league try-out if he would cut his hair. But Paul says no. It is against his belief. The Chicago Cubs would give Paul a chance—as the result of his great pitching, which carried his team to so many victories. All the men of the colony—some 300—wear their hair and beards in full-length growth.
