O. A. C MAN TELLS HOW TO ADVERTISE

Oregon Agricultural College, Mar. 17.—That newspaper advertising for the sale of farm commodities is coming into use rapidly because it is an infomedy for the wasteful and unsatisfactory methods of the distributing system, is the opinion of C. J. McIntosh, agricultural press editor of the college.

"The most economical use of farm products is by the grower and when he has a surplus the most economical users are his neighbors," said Mr. McIntosh. "The most economical way of marketing to his neighbors is to market as nearly direct as possible."

"Sometimes growers supply their neighbors with their own surplus products through long, devious, and expensive channels. The potato growers of Coos Bay have often sold their potatoes to their neighbors through San Francisco commission houses. There are legitimate charges for freight, storage and commissions which are borne by both producer and consumer. The producer gets less than the terminal price by the cost of haul and storage, while the consumer pays the terminal price plus storage and haul. The newspaper is an ideal vehicle for cutting across lots from grower to table."

Mr. McIntosh condemns the use of the term "For Sale" in farm advertisements and believes that the item of sale should be printed in bold face type in the first line. Leading desirable qualities of the product should be given.

"Advertisements to be successful must be based on reputable goods," says Mr. McIntosh. "They must be clearly and simply written and they should be well displayed. The quantity, quality, and place where inquiry should be sent and the prices should be given. Some additional information designed to create a desire for the product is likely to be worth a great deal more than it costs to publish it."

Farmers and newspaper men in general in Oregon have taken an interest in the movement toward this type of advertising. It is expected that a college bulletin will be published soon on the subject of advertising for the farmer.

It costs $9.20 per ton to raise alfalfa on the project at Boardman. This is the cost arrived at recently at the O. A. C. Extension School held at Boardman when Professor Gunn worked out, with the help of those present. The $9.20 cost was arrived at on a five ton per acre basis and ten acres of land was taken as a basis of calculation. Here are the results:

That Trade-At-Home Idea
Applies to Printing Just as It Applies to Every Other Commodity
ASIDE from the fact that The Gazette-Times is purely a local institution, having a heavy investment in a modern printing plant, paying taxes here, and supporting every institution in Heppner, there are other good reasons why The Gazette-Times should receive the printing orders now going to outside printers.
Quality The Gazette-Times Quality Printing is equal in every respect to that furnished by outside printers.
Price The Gazette-Times Quality Printing costs no more than that procured outside of Heppner, and in many instances it costs less.
Service Being "on the job" all the time The Gazette-Times is in a position to give a printing service that cannot possibly be equaled by the outside houses.
