EXPERT WORKERS IN DEMAND

Great Need for Those Who Are Capable and Willing to Do Special Tasks.

"What we need in this country is expert workers," says a woman who makes smart hats for smart people and who says business would be very good if she could get people to work for her. "I hear it all along the line," she continued. "They say there is a great need of employment, but it can't be so, for people don't want to work.
I want expert finishers and I can't get them. An advertisement won't bring them. It won't bring anyone. They won't even come to see what you are willing to pay for them. Where are they? I don't know. Perhaps the girls prefer to ride up and down in elevators."

"There were some I knew who went during the war to work on gas masks, but they can't be doing that now, and I don't know where they are. They made good money, and perhaps they are still spending it. I want some models that I am having made in New York, but I have been waiting weeks and I can't get them. I suppose the others are having the same trouble that I am. I talked with a jeweler the other day and he told me he could use twenty expert workmen if he could get them. He can't do it. He has found one old man and that is the best he can do. What are we going to do? People don't want to do any careful, expert work. They want to do something that is quick and easy and make money doing it."—Brooklyn

FIND COST OF FEED IN OHIO

Hundred Pounds of Milk Produced at Rate of 68 Cents When Silage Is Furnished.

At the Ohio college it was found that 100 pounds of whole milk can be produced at the rate of 68 cents when silage is fed, and butter at a cost of 131 cents a pound. However, when an average feed is fed without silage, it costs $1.55 to produce 100 pounds of whole milk, and 22 cents to produce a pound of butter. The same can be said for beef production. Silage and a little cottonseed meal, or clover hay, say beans or cowpeas will make a balanced ration. Mobile silage should not be fed to stock at any time.

DAIRY NOTES

When ten days to two weeks of age, the calf should have a little grain.
The silo is one of the foundation stones of successful dairy farming.
Some people like butter that is quite soft and some prefer butter without salt. It is all a matter of taste.
Every farmer who observes closely must be impressed with the need of more dairy cows to economize in food production.

DAIRY

PREVENT MOTTLES IN BUTTER

Primarily Caused by an Uneven Distribution of Salt or by Insufficient Working.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) Mottled butter is frequently found on the market, and, even though it may be of very good flavor, it is strongly discriminated against by the purchaser. As this defect is one of workmanship, it can be overcome by the application of proper methods on the part of the buttermaker.

Mottles are caused primarily by an uneven distribution of salt in the butter. This may be produced by insufficient working of the butter or by churning, washing, and working it at a very low temperature, or by washing or working it at a temperature several degrees higher or lower than the churning temperature.
When the quantity of butter made in one churning is much less than usual it is necessary to work it a greater number of revolutions of the churn than usual in order to produce the same results in the butter.
Extremely low temperatures of churning, washing, and working should be avoided, because they pro-

Working the Butter. duce so firm a butter that it is only with great difficulty that the salt can be worked uniformly into it. High temperatures of churning, washing, and working must also be avoided to prevent an abnormal loss of fat in the buttermilk and also the making of a greasy, lanky butter.

Great variations in temperature during the manufacturing process should always be avoided. Under normal conditions the temperature of the wash water should be the same as or within two degrees of that of the buttermilk.

FLY REPELLENT IS USEFUL

Spraying Should Not Be Done Just Before Milking, as Milk Absorbs Odors Very Rapidly.

The following homemade fly re-pellents to ease old Brindle and Brindle time are recommended by Horace Jones, instructor in dairy husbandry at South Dakota State college: (1) 100 parts fish oil, 50 parts oil of tar, and 1 part crude carbonic acid. Apply with a sprayer. (2) One pound common laundry soap, 4 gallons water, 1 gallon crude petroleum, and 4 ounces powdered naphthalin. Dissolve the soap in the water and the naphthalin in the crude petroleum.
Care should be taken that the spraying is not done immediately before milking as milk absorbs odors very readily. If the cows are milked in the stable the milk should be removed immediately after milking to a cool place where no odor of the fly repellent exists.

GOATS' MILK FINDING FAVOR

Prejudice Against This Cheap and Nutritious Food Seems in Fair Way to Disappear.
Goats, it must be admitted, have never been taken seriously by public opinion in the United States, and the news that the owner of the largest herd in the American Northwest is preparing to establish an extensive dairy for the sale of goats' milk will probably seem to many rather humorous. As a matter of fact, however, it appears that a promising beginning is already made, and that the city of Seattle, conveniently near the great herd of goats on Cypress Island, in the Puget Sound archipelago, already consumes about a thousand quarts of goats' milk a day. Publicity will perhaps be necessary to overcome the American habit of regarding the goat humorously, and it may take time and patience to prove widely the statement of the owner of the herd that goats' milk is quite as good, if not actually better, than cows' milk. Five cents a day, says he, will pay the cost of keeping a goat whose average milk production is two or three quarts; and two quarts of milk for 5 cents would make a considerable difference in the food expense of a family. The goat dairy may be more important than it seems; and ten years from now such dairies may be commonplace.

The pig and cow pasture should be separate.
Give the young calf an early chance to nibble at grass.
Spray religiously all stalls and whitewash all parts of the stable.
Dairy cows, or all milk cows for that matter, require large quantities of water.
Take good care of the calves, for more of them are needed on many farms.
There isn't much job pays better for hard work.
The heifer bred too early always remains stunted in growth and her milk flow is shortened for all time.
Keep dirt out of the milk. Strain through cotton or filter cloth. Use only clean, sterile strainer cloths.
Romans' Fondness for Amber.
Amber was the first precious stone made use of for the purposes of personal adornments. Homer mentions "the gold necklace hung with bits of amber" which was offered by the Phoenician trader to the queen of Syria, and Nero, in one of his badly-composed verses to Poppaea's hair, described it as an "amber" shade.
The Romans valued amber highly, not alone for its beauty, but also for the medicinal qualities which they believed it to contain. In their opinion, an amulet of amber, worn round the neck, was an infallible cure for ague or chills; ground up with honey and rose oil, amber was a specific for deafness, and ground with honey a remedy for defective sight.

ADVISABLE TO SKIM CREAM

Saving Can Be Accomplished by Turn of Screw and Is Well Worth Effort Required.

In skimming a hundred pounds of 35 per cent cream 15 more pounds of skim milk is kept on the farm than when the same amount of 20 per cent cream is taken. This saving can be accomplished by a turn of the cream screw, and at present feed prices is well worth the effort required. More skim milk on the farms also means more calves raised to furnish meat and milk for all. Milk producers are paid for the butterfat in cream, not for the water and other constituents. This makes it advisable to skim a rich cream, so that as much valuable skim milk as possible may be saved for feeding purposes.
