

STANLEY JEWETT IS NEW STATE BIOLOGIST

Stanley S. Jewett, assistant in the United States biological survey in charge of predatory animals, Monday was elected state biologist to succeed William L. Finley, at a meeting of the state fish and game commission. His appointment is to take effect at once.

The commission accepted the resignation of Carl D. Shoemaker as state game warden, naming A. E. Bergduff as his successor. Shoemaker, it was announced, is to become executive secretary of the commission.

Jewett recently moved his federal office from Pendleton to Portland. Shoemaker has been game warden for three years. He was the center of the fight between the sportsmen and commercial fishermen and also in the trouble over the recent removal of Finley as state biologist.

Will Separate Duties

The division of offices is another step taken toward the ultimate segregation of commercial fish and game interests of Oregon. The duties of Shoemaker will be to conduct the office of the fish commission, to patrol the commercial fishing streams and to issue commercial fishing permits in the name of R. E. Clanton, master fish warden.

Clanton, as master fish warden, will have complete charge of all commercial and game fish propagation. Ultimately another man will be appointed to have charge of game fish propagation, leaving Clanton exclusively to the commercial fish. Propagation segregation has been postponed until a man can be found who will work under Clanton for a season until he becomes thoroughly familiar with trout propagation work. Until such a man is found, Clanton will remain in charge of all the fisheries.

Will Have Two Offices

Bergduff, who has been closely identified with sportsmen's activities for many years, having been president of both the Multnomah Angler's club and the Salmon club, will have charge of the offices of the game commission and the police work of all game and game fish.

Offices of the fish and game commission will be separated, those of the game interests being retained in their present quarters in the Oregon building and those of the commercial fish commission being removed to the Gaseo building.

Stanley Jewett declined to make any statement as to who should succeed him in his present position with the United States biological survey.

The joint commission elected F. M. Brown permanent secretary of the fish and game commission.

"THE CONFESSION" PLAY FOR MASSES

"The Confession" a play for the masses, a story by Hal Reid, who is the successful author of over a hundred and thirty stage plays, featuring Henry Walthall who first attained fame as the "Little Colonel" in "The Clansman," Griffith's immortal photoplay, into which Reid's play has been turned. "The Confession" made a wonderful record as a stage play and a hundred and ninety thousand dollars has been expended by the National Film Corporation in the making of the picture.

The cast is extraordinary including, besides Mr. Walthall, such well known artists as Francis McDonald, William Clifford, Margaret McWade, Margaret Landis, Barney Furey in a rattling comedy role, Henry Stanley, Johnny Revelle, Sally Cohen, Irene Aldwin, Fred Wilson, William Elfte, Capt. Harry Rubey and a genuine half-breed Canadian Indian Ram Sing.

Most Beautiful Screen Love Story.

"The World's most beautiful love story" is said to describe Hal Reid's play, "The Confession," which has been made into a marvelous Motion Picture by the National Film Corporation, featuring Henry Walthall.

It was directed by Bertram Bruckner, and cost One Hundred and Ninety-Five Thousand Dollars to make.

The story of the picture is one calculated to hold its auditors spell-bound from beginning to end, encompassing as it does the gamut of every human emotion, the love of sweetheart for sweetheart, brother for brother, and last, but not least, the love of a mother for her son.

"The Confession" as a stage play had a wonderful career and in the new form is much better, from the fact that it is not limited to the few stage scenes possible in a Theater. The picture opens at the Star for Sunday.

Bad Idea at Times to Change Husbands

That it isn't a good idea to change husbands without genuine consideration, which cannot be a thing of a moment, is the advice of the picture "Don't Change Your Husband," produced by Cecil DeMille for Arctcraft and which is scheduled to be shown at the Star theater on Monday.

Jeanie Macpherson is the author and she has woven a tale of really beautiful character, and into the warp and woof has introduced a thread of Oriental mysticism that is distinctly bizarre and at the same time effective.

Gloria Swanson is the leading feminine figure and her work is said to be exquisite, while she is certainly one of the most beautiful women on the screen today. Elliott Dexter and Lewis Cody play the leading male roles and do so with real artistry.

For a picture out of the ordinary in every respect, "Don't Change Your Husband" can be strongly recommended.

County Issues Warning.

It has been called to the attention of the county court that there has been poisonous dumping of rubbish on the county roads. This must cease at once, or all offenders will receive the full penalty for the offense, which is a fine of $100.

The court will see that the law regarding the dumping of rubbish on the county roads and highways is enforced to the letter in the future.

FAMOUS CHURCH OF LONDON

Bayard Taylor Considered St. Paul's Cathedral One of the World's Architectural Marvels.

"St. Paul's is on a scale of grandeur exceeding everything I have yet seen," writes Bayard Taylor of his first trip abroad in 1844. "The dome seems to stand in the sky, as you look at it; the distance from which you view it, combined with the atmosphere of London, gives it a dim, shadowy appearance, that startles one with its immensity. The roof from which the dome springs is itself as high as the spires of most other churches; blackened for 300 years with the coal smoke of London it stands like a relic of the giant architecture of the early world.

"The interior is what one would expect to behold, after viewing the outside. A maze of grand arches on every side encompasses the dome, at which you gaze up as at the sky. . . . I was never more impressed at the grandeur of human invention than when ascending the dome. I could with difficulty conceive the means by which such a mighty edifice had been lifted into the air. The dome is like the summit of a mountain, so wide is the prospect and so great the pile upon which you stand."

Edible Fish Found at Great Depths.

While there are many varieties and great quantities of curious fish in the abyssal depths (some have been trawled up from depths of three miles and more), none of these are edible. The limit to which fish fit for food are found is 1,000 feet. Even so, the discovery that valuable food fishes live in far deeper water opens up amazing possibilities, and will have a most important bearing on the future food supply of the world.

The North sea, which has for ages supplied most of the fish markets of western Europe, is so shallow that, except in a very few places, a building as high as St. Paul's cathedral, placed on the bottom, would stick out above the surface. It has generally been considered useless to fish in greater depths.
