McClure Says Grower Should Not Sell Clip

Wool growers neither sell their wool at present prices nor consign it, Dr. S. W. McClure, just back from a conference of wool growers and federal reserve board heads at Washington, D. C., today said. Dr. McClure, formerly was secretary of the National Woolgrowers association at Salt Lake City and is now manager of the Cunningham Sheep & Land Co. plant. He arrived home on No. 17 this afternoon.

"Present offerings for wool are below the cost of production," Dr. McClure said. "Growers cannot afford to sell at those prices. They should place their wool in the warehouses, take the receipts to the bank and get an advance on their receipts. The federal reserve board has made arrangements to accept wool paper and rediscount it."

The trouble with the wool situation has been the inability of banks to finance growers, according to Dr. McClure. The conference resulted in measures being agreed upon whereby growers may hold their wool a reasonable time and obtain a fair price for it.—Pendleton E. O.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON NEWS SPECIALS

University of Oregon, Eugene.—Dean John Straub, for 42 years a member of the faculty of the University has resigned his position as dean of the college of liberal arts and will in the future turn his whole attention to his work as dean of men and professor of Greek.

Professor Colin V. Dymont of the extension division of the department of journalism has been appointed to the place vacated by the venerable dean. Professor Dymont was a newspaperman before becoming a professor in the school of journalism. From the Oregon school he went to the head of the journalism department at the University of Washington, served with the Red Cross overseas and became executive secretary of the extension division of the University at Portland upon his return.

Dean Dymont is greatly loved by the students, is known as a man deeply interested in student affairs and particularly athletics.

By unanimous resolution the board of regents of the University, in a recent meeting named the new building of the School of Medicine in Portland "MacKenzie Hall" in honor of the late Dr. Kenneth A. J. MacKenzie who was for many years dean of the medical school.

At the same meeting Dr. Richard B. Dillehunt of Portland was chosen to fill the deanship made vacant by Dr. MacKenzie's death.

OREGON BARRED ROCKS LEAD IN EGG CONTEST

O. A. C. Pen of Five Laid 831 Seven Months in Western Washington Big Contest.

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, June 30.—Oregon's O. A. C. barred rocks still lead in the sharp egg-laying contest of the Western Washington experiment station with a record of 831 eggs for the pen of five. This is 64 eggs ahead of their nearest competitors, Tancred's white leghorns.

The college birds were first for the month of May with 127 eggs. Another pen of college stock, "Oregons" stands near the top for the term to date, and was only one egg below the rocks for May. The "Oregons" have proved to be great long distance birds in national and world contests, and their backers look to see them jump to the front in the remaining five months.

The record of the 95 pens for the whole term is 61 per cent and for May, 66 per cent. Fifty five birds laid as many as 25 eggs each for May.

One hen has laid 78 eggs in 78 days without a skip. She then "blew up," as baseball writers say. Literally, she laid a great big double-yolk egg on the 18th day—then went on a vacation or celebration or something for five days.

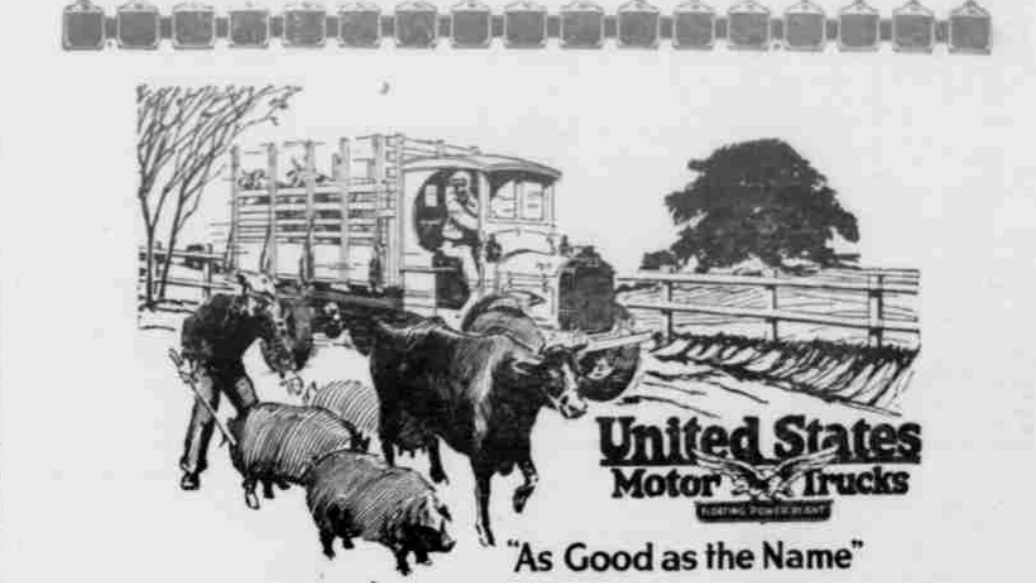

The cost of feed for one hen of all American breeds for one month was 40 cents, for the pen of five, $2. The value of the eggs at the market rate was 40 cents a dozen—$2.40 for the leading O. A. C. pen output.

U. S. Marines to Relieve Housing Shortage.

Quantico, Va., June 26.—The slogan "Build Your Own Home" has superseded the old "Let's Go" of the A. E. F., with the versatile students of the Marine Corps Institute here who are doing their bit to the housing shortage of the nation.

A model two-story cottage with its living, dining and bedrooms, kitchenette and bath is being erected by the U. S. Marines here under the supervision of Lieut. Stanley Kies, a product of the prairie country.

For purpose of instruction half of the model cottage will be left in framing to show the building details. Plumbing and wiring will be indicated throughout. The interior will show two forms of stairs construction. The cottage will be weather-boarded and the roof shingled.

Driving and Wasting? Or Hauling and Saving?

In olden times farmers and stock growers drove their stock to market on foot. The loss in shrinkage was from 5% to 8%, sometimes more.

Today the up-to-date stock grower hauls his live stock to market in a 1 1/2 ton United States Farm Truck.

Modern farmers "beat the market" by getting to town earlier, with stock in better condition. When the market rises and you want to get your stock to town over night, load them onto a United States Farm Truck. You can haul them 50 miles, almost before you know it. We can prove this.

Make us do it. Write for Illustrated Book. A postal will bring it. Of course we will demonstrate if you wish.

We build trucks from 1 1/2 to 6 ton capacities. The Postoffice and Navy Departments use them. They are "Good enough for Uncle Sam." Are they good enough for you?

Here is the 1 1/2 ton United States Farm Truck with United States type Farm Body. The body can be changed to suit all farm hauling needs. Write for Illustrated Book telling about this truck.

Unequaled
Advertising
Service

ACTING upon the theory that "he who serves best profits most," The Gazette-Times has equipped its advertising department with everything necessary to make real service possible. This includes not only the best mechanical equipment obtainable, and typographical workmanship of the highest class, but an advertising art service as well. We receive each month several hundred advertising illustrations, covering every line of business. These are placed at the disposal of our advertisers without charge.

They are just one example of our desire and ability to serve.

Taken together, these things make The Gazette-Times advertising service unsurpassed by that of any paper in the Northwest.
