THE CHARM OF THE THIRD PLUNGE WAS DEATH

Once every ten years, for thirty years now, a human being has "shot" Niagara Falls in a barrel—and the "charm" of the third time was death. Charles G. Stephens, barber, of Bristol, Eng., lost his life Sunday, July 11, 1920, when the specially-constructed oak barrel shattered on the rocks below after making the great plunge. Mrs. Anne E. Taylor, who still survives, shot the Falls successfully in 1901. Robert Leach ten years later was successful in a steel barrel. Both live at Niagara Falls. Leach told Stephens his barrel was not strong enough. The Britisher leaves a wife and 11 children—most of the children are grown.

DAINTY FROCKS DEFY SPORT TOGGERY COX NOMINATION SWINGS ONE VOTE

In some of the northern states women insist the dainty organdie and transparent hat is no longer supreme in summer wear, but such verdicts are caused by the backward season there this year. This organdie of delicate tint—hat to match in flimsy georgette and lace—is being worn in this picture by Elaine Hammerstein, the actress.

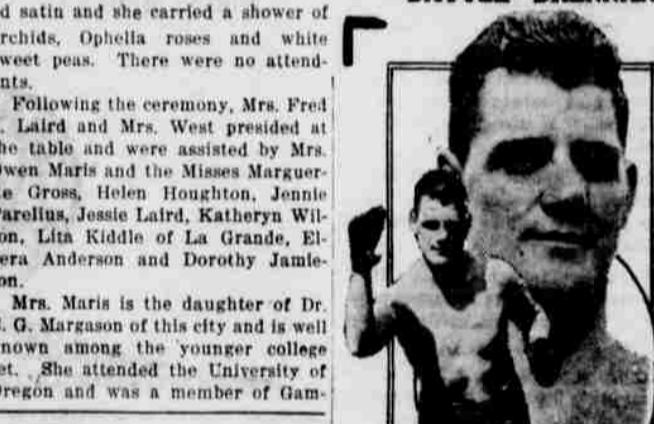

The nomination of James M. Cox of Ohio for president by the Democrats swung at least one known vote from the Republican ranks. It is the vote of Thomas S. Blair, Jr., of Chicago, wealthy Republican. He is the father-in-law of Cox and he says "There is no better man in the country for the job."

LEADS SUFF. FORCE IN TENNESSEE

This little lady, Miss Sue S. White of Nashville, is commanding suffrage forces which is trying to get that commonwealth's Legislature to ratify the federal suffrage amendment, the 36th state and the necessary two-thirds to make the act constitutional. Governor Roberts of Tennessee was asked by the Democratic convention to call a special session.

DEMPSEY SIGNS TO BATTLE BRENNAN

Bill Brennan of Chicago, heavyweight of considerable ability, gets the first crack at Dempsey's crown. The fact that the Frenchman, Carpenter, was signed up by Cochrane, London promoter, preventing him from fighting any place but there—this year—caused Dempsey's manager to turn to the Yank fighters. Brennan and Dempsey will meet Labor Day—the highest bidder to get the bout.

CAMPUS WORK IS NOW BEING PUSHED

accommodate the influx of students next school year. Many self-supporting students are receiving a boost financially through construction work. Between 30 and 40 of them are now employed and 100 or 200 more can be used by L. N. Traver of Salem in charge of construction work, provided the men are fitted for their duties.

Work in Full Swing. Concrete is being poured for the central unit of the home economics building to cost approximately $150,000. Work on a $61,000 swimming pool unit for the men's gymnasium is under way. A third story is being added to Apperson hall, better known by former students as mechanical hall.

Extensions to the heating plant are being made under the direction of M. C. Phillips, associate professor of mechanical engineering, and superintendent of heating. A $100,000 women's dormitory will be erected as soon as the plans are ready.

Hard to Get Materials. The college foundry under A. E. Ridenour is doing rush work this summer in connection with the campus improvement.

Mr. Traver is having trouble in obtaining certain materials for construction work. Nails, wire, and galvanized iron are hard to obtain although no difficulty is experienced in getting lumber.

The reconstruction of Apperson hall will give more space for students in physics and several branches of engineering. Last school year the young people were packed into this building in almost sardine fashion. Eventually a new physics building will be constructed and Apperson hall will then be devoted entirely to electrical and civil engineering.—O. A. C. News.

THEY PUT COX AND HARDING ACROSS

These were the men behind the guns—Cox and Harding. It was their political maneuvering at Democratic and Republican conventions which helped bring the nominations to the two Ohio newspaper publishers. Upper is Harry M. Daugherty of Columbus, for Harding, and lower, Ed H. Moore of Youngstown, manager for Cox. Both are expected to get places on the two national committees.
