SALVATION ARMY TO SERVE ALL OREGON

Business Men of Every County Join With Corps Officers to Extend Helping Hand.

A service born of service by men and women whose lives are dedicated to that service, a service not for gain, for it pays its workers poorly, is to be placed at the disposal of even the smallest community in Oregon through the expansion of the Salvation Army Home Service Program for 1929.

Since its splendid service among the American troops abroad brought to the attention of the home folks the kind of work the army has been doing quietly in the slums of the larger cities, demands from all quarters have flooded in upon the army until it has been forced to double and treble its efforts.

It has been compelled to expand beyond city lines and extend its service to the remotest districts of the state. And in these out of the way places the army is solving one of the greatest economic problems, handling at their source and preventing many of the ills that result from poverty and wrong teaching.

In every county of Oregon one and sometimes two advisory boards have been formed of business men and citizens of those counties. These men are constantly in touch with their communities and judge when and how best the Salvation Army can be utilized to serve the citizens of that community. A word to headquarters brings the Salvation Army worker to take care of the man or woman, boy or girl whose misfortunes have overwhelmed them.

In the rescue and maternity home in Portland the unfortunate girl mothers of Oregon find a refuge and sanctuary.

In the boys and girls home to be established at Yamhill the life of the neglected child is shaped and the boy or girl prepared to go out into the world and win his or her own way.

In the industrial home in Portland many derelicts are made over into self supporting men and women who are no longer a charge upon their county but an asset to their community.

In the relief branches of the work done by the army many cases of poverty and sickness are handled annually. When the call for help comes there is no investigation of the worthiness of the subject. Help is given and investigation made afterwards.

O. A. C. BIRDS SET NEW PAGE IN EGG LAYING

Five Barred Rocks Lay 940 Eggs in Eight Months—"Oregons" First in June.

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, July 28.—A new long distance egg laying record has been established by an O. A. C. pen of five barred Plymouth rocks, in the egg laying contest at the Western Washington Experiment station.

"For the full period a pen of O. A. C. Barred Plymouth rocks led all other entries with 940 eggs, the second pen being white leghorns owned by D. Tanager of Kent, Wash., with 812 eggs," reads a report issued by the department of poultry husbandry at the college.

"The O. A. C. pen, which has been first for several months, has averaged 188 eggs a hen for the eight months. This record, it is believed, has never been equaled anywhere at any egg laying contest for a like period. The best hen in the pen has laid 208 eggs. The contest continues four months longer. The "Oregons" which won first place in June are now sixth for the full period of eight months, and going strong."

The pen of college "Oregons" which led the contest for the month of June made a record for the five hens in the pen of 128 eggs. The Oregons are also good long distance layers. This pen is expected to advance steadily in the contest as the months go by. The Oregons were introduced by Prof. James Dryden, head of the department of poultry husbandry.

R. T. Brown, formerly a wheat farmer of this county, arrived Saturday from his home at Boyds, Wash., and expects to remain here through harvest. While Mr. Brown is actively engaged in the stock business up north, he says Morrow county looks mighty good to him. He was associated with W. E. Cummings in the farming business until a couple of years ago and got in on the big 1916 crop.

Albert Bowker is making preparations to install an auto accessory supply shop in the quarters heretofore occupied by the Star theater. Mr. Bowker is local dealer for the Mack truck.

Jon. Batty and son of Eight Mile were in the city on business last Saturday.

"Yours for Real Tobacco" says the Good Judge

Men are getting away from the big chew idea. They find more satisfaction in a little of the Real Tobacco Chew than they ever got from a big chew of the ordinary kind.

Costs you less, too—the full, rich tobacco taste lasts so much longer.

Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.
