BARNARD & EMRY

THE BANK AND THE YOUNG BUSINESS MAN

This bank prides itself on the fact that many a young business man has sought and received helpful advice here on monetary affairs.

Today's young business man is tomorrow's captain of industry. And many a big man today admits that his success is due in no small part to the friendship established between himself and a strong progressive bank.

We invite small accounts of young business men. In time these men will come to regard this as THEIR bank—the bank which helped them grow. Join them.

MRS. MARSHALL HARVEY COOLIDGE

She is a cousin by marriage of the Republican Vice President nominee. Mrs. Coolidge is active in Minneapolis politics and is president leader of the Republican Women's committee. She is also actively interested in the D. A. R. and Federated Women's Clubs.

MAJOR GILBERT IS NEW LEGION COMMANDER

National Delegates Are Elected at Astoria and Eugene Will Be Host to Service Men Next Year.

Major William S. Gilbert of Astoria, ex-chaplain with the 3rd Oregon and probably the most popular legionaire in Oregon, has been chosen to head the American Legion in Oregon during the coming year. G. L. Goodell of Portland was selected as vice commander. The state convention was held in Astoria last week, when representatives from all over the state were in attendance.

Delegates chosen from the second Oregon district to the national convention in Cleveland, Ohio in September are E. W. Erksine, Bend;

Harry L. Kuck, Pendleton; Frank C. McCullough, Baker; Perry L. Idleman, Pendleton; and Roy Curry, La Grande, delegates and Earl Blackaby, Ontario; W. O. Laughlin, Klamath Falls; Arthur Van Fleet, La Grande; and Floyd A. Fessler, Prineville; alternates.

Eugene was chosen as the convention city in 1921.

Debs Says His Place Is Prison.

Eugene V. Debs does not desire a release from the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., according to press reports which followed quickly upon the plea of Parely P. Christensen, third party candidate for president, that Cox and Harding join with him in seeking Debs' release. In a letter, Debs says, "Please say to the comrades in New York that while I appreciate all done in my behalf, I object emphatically to any further appeal being made for me only to President Wilson. I wish no special consideration and I wish to fare no better than my comrades."

TEDDY, JR., VISITS HARDING'S FRONT PORCH

MANY BOYS IN RUTH'S SHOES

At the beginning of the season a New York shoe firm announced that for every home run Babe made they would give him a pair of shoes. Babe might be hard on shoes but thirty-three pairs is more than he needs so he has given the boys of a New York orphanage his claim to the shoes. Yes, he has a heart for orphan boys as he was in an orphanage himself one time.

Minor Visits at Enterprise.

W. O. Minor, rancher, banker, and leading spinner of fish yarns in his native Heppner, spent a few hours in Enterprise Saturday. Mr. Minor is heavily interested in the Oregon Black Marble company and made a trip to the county to look at the property. He is thoroughly convinced that there is plenty of marble and the quality is genuine, but as to the development of the quarry he had nothing to offer. Mr. Minor is one of the pioneer stockmen of the Heppner country, having been engaged in raising sheep and cattle on a large scale for many years. He was the proprietor of the Mountain Valley stock farm where one of the finest herds of Shorthorns in the entire west was built up. There are few important shorthorn herds in the west today that do not contain some of the stock developed at the Mountain Valley farm at Heppner. Mr. Minor disposed of the Mountain Valley farm a few years ago expecting to retire from the Shorthorn game but soon found life a dull proposition without at least a few of his favorite animals to care for, consequently he stocked up another ranch and is again in business on a smaller scale than formerly. —Enterprise Record-Chief.

Codling Moth Spray Due Soon.

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, July 31.—Spray for the second generation of codling moths will be due in the Willamette valley generally, August 5 to 15, says A. L. Lovett, entomologist of the O. A. C. experiment station. In Douglas county, August 1 to 10 is the date named. "The brood will be scattered and undoubtedly some moths will be active prior to these dates," says Professor Lovett. "However, applications made will afford maximum protection from the main brood of worms."

MAKE HAY FIRST, FORTUNE LATER

Why let a little thing like a million dollars stand in the way of getting the hay in? David Nicol Cant, who came from Scotland and for twenty years has been working a farmhand, after a seven-year search has been located by his relatives who are holding his share of a million or more for him. But, owing to the fact that it's hay time, Dave says he'll have to wait until the end of the month anyway before leaving his employer at Boylston, Mass.

Oregon Forest Notes

At a conservative estimate Oregon's four hundred fifty billion feet of standing timber is worth $500,000,000 on the stump. Harvested and cut into lumber, its value is increased twenty-fold and becomes ten billion dollars.

Oregon's timber pays a large part of the State's taxes—in some counties the bulk of them. The logging and milling of her timber supports the largest payroll of any industry in the state.

Oregon's sawmills cut two and two thirds billion board feet of lumber in 1918. With proper protection, logging, and re-stocking, these forests will provide for the lumber industry each year twice this amount forever.

One Couple Celebrate Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Low of Lone celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in an appropriate manner in the I. O. O. F. Hall in that city on June 26. Photographs of these pioneer persons appeared in the Portland Sunday Oregonian of August 1. Before the altar, banked with flowers and evergreens, and attended by their only grandchildren, Miss Vera Howe and Nolan Page, the vows taken half a century ago in Newark, Ill., were renewed. An elaborate musical program was a feature of the occasion and Mrs. Laxton McMurray and Mrs. C. M. Howe, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Low were hostesses for the affair. Mr. Low is a civil war veteran and a member of the Grand Army of the Republic. He has been a master Mason for 52 years.

HOW GOVERNOR COX ARRIVED

He was elected Governor of Ohio in 1912 as a result of the Progressive split in the Republican party. When he came up for re-election in 1914 he was decisively defeated.

Profiting by the Wilsonian slogan, "He kept us out of war," Cox again won the governorship in 1916 by the slim plurality of 6,616.

In 1918 Cox was named Governor by a plurality of less than 12,000. His success was due mainly to the support given him on a local issue.

In 1914, when Cox lost the State by 29,270 votes, Harding, then a candidate for the U. S. Senate, carried Ohio by 102,873 votes.

—but fire must be kept out.

Our system of good roads is pulling Oregon out of the mud. Effective forest fire prevention will lift her forests, lakes, and mountains out of the smoke fog which conceals them and give the touring public a chance to enjoy matchless scenic grandeur of the state.

Oregon's forests will provide labor for a large army of sturdy woodsmen for an indefinite period if properly taken care of. They will furnish the raw material for the construction of houses, furniture, utensils of various sorts, musical instruments, and conveyances such as ships, cars, airplanes; and keep the wheels steadily turning in many wood-using industries, bringing prosperity not only to her own citizens but to her neighbors as well.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pearson of Lena spent Monday and Tuesday in Heppner this week.

Colonel Hammond Goes East.

Colonel Creed C. Hammond, has resigned his position as cashier of the Broadway bank in Portland in order to take up military duties in Washington, D. C. Colonel Hammond is commander of the 5th Oregon infantry and has been detailed to duty with the general staff of the war department in Washington for six months or longer.

Extension Hort Man Appointed.

Clayton L. Long, manager of a 100-acre fruit ranch at Mentor, O., has been appointed extension horticulturist for Oregon by the State Agricultural college. He is a native of Ohio, has lived much of the time on a fruit farm, and is a master of horticulture from the Ohio University. He will take charge of the work August 1.

Leo Hill returned on Sunday from a business trip to Portland.
